IN THE MILE END ROAD.

BY AMY LEVY.

Amy Levy, a Jewish girl of melancholy and unappreciated genius, who finally, like poor Chatterton, committed suicide in London, was the author of many verses as charming and piquant as this. Her ideas are simple, many of them gloomy, yet all of them appealing to thoughts and moods of our own.

How like her! But 'tis she herself,
Comes up the crowded street,
How little did I think, the morn,
My only love to meet!

Whose else that motion and that mien?
Whose else that airy tread?
For one strange moment I forgot
My only love was dead.

MINERS DIVIDED ON PEACE OFFER.

Convention at Wilkesbarre Debates Arbitration Plan, Which Probably Will Be Adopted Today.

STEAM MEN BALK ACTION.

Engineers and Firemen Want Assurance of Work—Mitchell Urges Acceptance of Terms in Three Speeches.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—While the American public, which anxiously hoped the deliberations of the mineworkers' convention that opened in this city today would send forth, before nightfall, a message that the five months' warfare was at an end, is doomed to disappointment, there is ground for belief that the glad tidings is only delayed and that tomorrow's sun will set on undisturbed peace, established in the anthracite regions of Pennsylvania. Not a temporary truce, but an armistice that shall last for an age, and mark the beginning of a new era of mutual confidence and cooperation between miner and operator.

It must be stated, however, that at present the situation appears chaotic. The leaders, though, are sanguine that peace will come. The leaders, except Mr. Mitchell, were hardly heard at all in the convention today, the engineers being allowed to give full expression to their feelings. But tomorrow, it is predicted, the leaders will be heard, and one of them, a high district officer, said today there would not be more than fifteen votes recorded against the plan which the president of the United States has proposed to them and which all the highest officials of the mineworkers in this region have recommended.

Engineers Cause of Delay.

The wave of enthusiasm that swept over the convention when President Mitchell finished his address seemed to bode speedy and unopposed action on the recommendation contained therein—the indorsement of the arbitration proposition. Hardly had the sound of his voice died away before it became evident that such ending of the deliberations would not be accomplished without a hard fight on the point of dispute—what the status of the engineers and firemen will be with the operators after resumption of work. Several delegates insisted that the convention should be given a guarantee that all miners would be given their old positions. Mitchell told them that could not be done.

President Mitchell and the district presidents believe that a favorable culmination of the matter will be brought about, but there is no guarantee tonight that these officials can hold the convention sufficiently well to insure such ending.

Suspicious of the Operators.

In every step President Mitchell has taken he has had the support and confidence of the anthracite miners in unlimited measure. Hence it was a surprise to many in the theater this afternoon when he was unable to bend the convention to his will, as portrayed not only in his opening address but in the extensive remarks he subsequently made in response to a request from a delegate upon the attitude of the companies on the point in dispute. This, it developed, was not due to any lessening of confidence in their leader, but to the distrust of the operators, for which the miners justify themselves by saying that it is born of bitter experience.

The opposition comes from districts 1 and 9. In No. 7 not 1 per cent of the engineers and firemen are affected, as the majority of the collieries shut down absolutely when the strike was declared, and so there are few nonunion men to be displaced when the miners come back.

The combined voting strength of districts 1 and 9 is five times that of district 7, which is taking no hand in the controversy. The conservative element, however, has hardly had a hearing, and, besides, much rests upon the manner in which the resolutions committee will treat the matter in the report which they are expected to turn in tomorrow morning and upon which they will have the advice and cooperation of President Mitchell and Secretary Wilson.

Expect to Resume Work on Thursday.

As it will have to be thrashed out on the floor of the house, the convention may not be able to conclude its business with the morning's session. It is the general belief that in the summing up conservatism will win and that Thursday at the latest will see the miners back to work.

All roads led to Wilkesbarre today. An army invaded the city, but the invaders did not come armed. They came to sign a peace protocol, and were received with open arms. The presence of so many strangers within the town's gates meant much to the people of the ten anthracite coal counties of the state and the consumers of hard coal the country over.

The last act was about to be enacted in the long struggle between the coal operators and their 147,000 employés.

The miners did not come here with heavy hearts. On the contrary, they were in buoyant spirits, free from care, and ready to cheer for John Mitchell at the slightest provocation. What the fruit of the victory will be is not known as yet, but the miners look upon the action of the operators in consenting to arbitration as a great victory in itself.

Town Is Gayly Decorated.

The city was gayly decorated in honor of today's convention. The flag was flung to the breezes from the courthouse tower. Many mercantile houses, as if to express their joy over the early return of prosperity, decorated their stores with flags and bunting. There was a holiday air all through the city, and many persons from the surrounding towns came to Wilkesbarre to watch developments.

The delegates began to arrive on the early morning trains. Most of them were young men, with a sprinkling of middle aged men. Here and there was a veteran who had attended miners' conventions long ago and who was just as enthusiastic as when he attended his first convention.

The delegates were clean cut, well dressed, and intelligent in appearance. They might have been taken for a body of men fresh from the walks of business life attending a convention of some civic organization. From appearances there was nothing to indicate that they were miners.

At 9:30 the credential committee reported that all the delegates had reported. The credentials committee, which was composed of three district secretaries—John Dempsey, John F. Gallagher, and George W. Hartlein—

RUSHES TRACK IN SKOKIE.

NORTHWESTERN OUTWITS RESIDENTS OF LAKE FOREST.

Bitterly Opposed "Mayfair Cutoff" Is Laid Near Some of the Suburb's Finest Homes—Special Meeting of the Council Decides to Annex Land and Then Legislate Against the Company—Plan to Regulate Speed—Residents Are Indignant.

Lake Forest residents who have been fighting the "Mayfair cutoff" through the Skokie valley were outgeneraled yesterday morning, when gangs of men, loads of rails, and thirty teams of horses were rushed into Lake Forest by the Chicago and Northwestern railroad. Before noon the new track was laid along the disputed right of way.

Last night a hurriedly called meeting of the Lake Forest city council was held. It had been the plan to order the track removed, but investigation caused a change of plan. Instead the councilmen and property owners planned for a future struggle. This they did by agreeing to annex the 200 acres that lie west and south of the spur just put in and which are to be crossed by it.

Once this land has been annexed it will give Lake Forest control of about a mile of territory on both sides of the road. Then it is the intention of the city council to pass ordinances limiting the speed of the trains to such a low schedule that the spur will prove useless to the company, and so will be abandoned. Another scheme has been decided on by the property owners, but they refuse to make it public.

Invasion Is a Surprise.

The building of the road took the residents whose costly residences face on the right of way, completely by surprise. It was thought that the public sentiment roused by repeated massmeetings and the evident strength of the legal opposition brought forth by the property owners would prove sufficient to stop the road, but it did not.

By the move one of the best residence sections of the town is crossed by the railway, the quiet and country beauty of the Onwentsia club is impaired, and the wild aspect of the Skokie valley destroyed. The spur will pass within a hundred yards of the finest residences west of the Milwaukee division tracks, and crosses Deerpath avenue, the most prominent residence street of the district.

The move of the road was well planned. On last Saturday its agents closed negotiations with John Anderson, owner, for forty-three acres of land along the right of way sought by the company. Until last week he had been numbered by those fighting the spur as against the road, and his desertion was not expected. His property lies across the road from that of James Cary Evans, and without his consent the spur could not have been laid.

Small Army Builds Track.

When he sold out the company prepared for its coup. Shortly after Mr. Evans, Mr. G. A. McKinlock, and Mr. J. V. Farwell Jr., and other men whose property is near the line had left for Chicago two trainloads of men and equipment were rushed in to build the spur. In all, there were over 200 men, thirty teams of horses, wagons, scrapers, carloads of cinders, ties, rails, and even material for culverts.

Ten surveyors quickly laid out the right of way. The scrapers and laborers began making the roadbeds. Near the residence of Mr. Evans it was necessary to put in a culvert and that was hurriedly set and on it went the rails. All day long the men were at work and by nightfall they had covered all the disputed right of way and had made preparations to continue across the prairie to the west.

"The men started their work shortly before noon," said Mrs. G. A. McKinlock, one of the few who saw the work begun, "and they worked fast. There seemed to be an army and they had all the tools necessary. They went at it systematically, and we could not stop them. Protests were made, but they did no good, and by night the men accomplished all the work they claimed was laid out for them. Tonight they are camped about the tracks as if they intend to hold them against a host."

RUSSIA SEEKS NEW HOLD.

CZAR MOVES FOR CLOSER RELATIONS WITH AFGHANISTAN.

British Government, in Replying to Request from St. Petersburg, Declares It Is Impossible to Consider Any Changes Without Further Information and That Explanation Is Not Yet Forthcoming—Europe Considers Peace Threatened.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, Oct. 21, 3 a. m.—An important announcement appears in the Times to the effect that the British government recently received a communication from the Russian government proposing that relations of a non-political character should be established between Russia and Afghanistan in regard to frontier matters.

England Delays Decision.

The British government replied that it would be impossible to consider any change in the existing arrangements without a more precise explanation.

Russia has not yet answered this intimation, which mentions the understanding by which Afghanistan is outside the sphere of Russian influence.

Explanation That Is Desired.

The precise explanation required is in regard to the method Russia desires to adopt for the exchange of communication between the frontier officials, the limitations to be placed on them, and the means for insuring that these limitations will be observed.

The foregoing information will be officially made public today in an answer in parliament by Viscount Cranborne, under secretary of the foreign office, in reply to a question to be asked by W. H. King.

Important to Europe.

This latest instance of Russia's initiative will be considered by Europe as a matter of the first magnitude. That such a proposal would emanate some day from the St. Petersburg foreign office has long been foreseen, but the actual existing conditions along the Afghanistan frontier, which are believed to be now unusually quiet, make the choice of this time for the momentous step most significant.

Russia Will Not Rest on Refusal.

Whatever developments follow (and it is certain that Russia will not rest upon the bare rejection of her proposal) doubtless will fulfill the deliberate policy which the czar's government, having in view the position in which the British empire finds itself, has now decided to launch before the world.

It is to be noted, however that negotiations might have been continued in secret by the respective foreign offices but for the English cabinet's decision to make the situation public.

EIGHT PERSONS RESCUED FROM BURNING BUILDING.

Carried Out by the Firemen After Other Avenues of Escape Had Been Cut Off by Flames Early This Morning.

Eight persons were rescued early this morning from a burning building at 1506 West Lake street. They occupied a three story frame structure, which quickly filled with smoke, the stairway being cut off by flames.

When the firemen arrived the tenants were at the windows calling for help, and ladders were run up to them promptly. Clayton Martin and wife and two children on the second floor, and Thomas Murphy and wife and two children on the third floor were carried down by the firemen.

The first floor was used for a grocery store by Charles Schotts, who, it is said, also owned the building. The loss from the fire was about $700.

BIG FRAUD IN INSURANCE.

LIFE COMPANIES SAID TO BE LOSERS OF LARGE SUMS.

Agents and Examining Physicians Declared to Be Placing Policies on the Lives of Dying Men and Then Dividing the Proceeds—Risks in All Parts of Louisiana Believed to Have Been Arranged to Swindle—Attorneys for Underwriters Investigate.

New Orleans, La., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—Life insurance frauds of a most sensational character have been discovered in Louisiana, and the officials and detectives of half a dozen large eastern companies are investigating them.

Attorney MacBride of St. Louis, general solicitor for the American Adjustment company of New York, reached the city tonight, the advance guard of a corps of secret workers.

Total of Loss Is Large.

So far six cases are said to have been unearthed. Twenty-two fraudulent policies have been tracked down. The companies paying the risks have lost between $75,000 and $100,000. The full extent of the business is not yet known. One state agency has been closed, and the agent has departed for scenes unknown.

The plan has been for an agent to work in with the company's physician and insure some man on the verge of death. The agent and the doctor pay the premiums and the principal is made payable to interested friends. In a few months the policyholder dies, the proper death certificate is sent to the company, and the policy paid.

Each Policy for Small Sum.

As a rule these policies have been small, so as not to excite suspicion on the part of the company. Few of them call for more than $5,000 or $10,000. The small policy always is paid by the large companies upon presentation of the proper death certificates without question. The agent and the examining physician in these cases get the money.

The fraud has been worked more successfully in the parishes and smaller towns than in the large cities.

AIRSHIP AND A TRAIN COME NEAR COLLIDING IN ENGLAND.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, Oct. 20.—"Stop your train," yelled Stanley Spencer as his airship was rushing head on toward an approaching express train near Preston today.

"Stop your airship," yelled the engineer.

Mr. Spencer proved that his airship is dirigible by dodging the express train, ramming a tree, and ending his twenty-six mile voyage in its branches. He was uninjured.

Spencer, who recently made a successful trip over London, rose today from Blackpool, but, finding the northwest breeze too strong to make headway against it, he proceeded in a southeasterly direction and landed in the open country.

There was a good breeze when he ascended. When he was 1,000 feet high he made several evolutions against the wind and finally sailed off in the same direction the wind was blowing.

When he was descending he found he was over a railroad, with his trailing rope dangling among the telegraph lines along the line. His dialogue with the engineer followed.

Summit, S. D., Oct. 20.—The Bank of Summit was blown up by robbers tonight and the vault looted. The loss is estimated at from $10,000 to $20,000.

STATE SURPRISES TEMPLE DEFENSE; INDICTS GORMLEY

PUTS WILLIAMS IN PLOT.

Says Latter Got $20,000 to Pay "in Full," and Scheme to Pocket That Was Secondary.

Dr. David G. Rush, former secretary and treasurer and now a director of the Masonic Temple Fraternity association, came to the aid of the state yesterday in the prosecution of Capt. Edward Williams and Luke Wheeler on the charge of conspiring to defraud the county of taxes amounting to $26,770.17.

His appearance on the witness stand was a complete surprise to the defense. His testimony was almost equivalent to a confession that he was to a certain degree involved in the conspiracy.

After his appearance on the stand Dr. Rush went before the grand jury, and as a result of the evidence he presented an indictment was returned against James H. Gormley of Bullard & Gormley, president of the Masonic Temple Fraternity association, making him a codefendant with Williams, Wheeler, Hoy, and Healy on the charge of conspiracy. A capias will be served on Mr. Gormley by the sheriff this morning requiring him to give bonds for his appearance in court.

Same Testimony to Two Juries.

Dr. Rush's testimony before the grand jury and the trial jury in Judge Chetlain's court was almost identical. It established for the first time since the trial began a direct connection between Williams and the plot to evade payment of the temple taxes. It furnished a genuine sensation by revealing Capt. Williams in the capacity of a financier who stood ready to settle the temple taxes with a check for $20,000, and who had arranged to balance the county treasurer's books for the remaining $6,770.17 through the connivance of some employé in the treasurer's office.

It appears that Mr. Gormley and Dr. Rush were involved only to the extent of saving the $6,770.17, but that the secondary conspiracy, of which they had no knowledge, was between Williams, Wheeler, et al. to pocket the $20,000, leaving Cook County without any of the money.

Activity of the Prosecution.

Since last Saturday night, when State's Attorney Deneen had an interview with Dr. Rush which led to surprising developments in the tax scandal, there has been exceptional activity on the part of the prosecution. That activity was manifested in part yesterday when the state impounded the books of the Masonic Temple Fraternity association and subpoenaed its cashier, Edward G. Mallon, to reappear in court as a witness.

It also was necessary for the state to obtain permission from the Audit company of New York for one of its expert accountants to testify as to an examination he made of the books last May, after the date on which Capt. Williams declared he paid the taxes. This accountant, W. E. Cooper, went on the witness stand after Cashier Mallon had admitted to the jury that he made erasures of figures on the books of the association under the instructions of Capt. Williams.

Believe Proof Is Clear.

Taken together, the testimony of Dr. Rush, Cashier Mallon, and Accountant Cooper is held by the prosecution to prove that April 18, 1902, Capt. Williams informed Dr. Rush, in the presence of Mr. Gormley, that he could get a receipt in full for the taxes on the building by paying $20,000; that a check for that amount was signed by Dr. Rush and Mr. Gormley with the understanding that Capt. Williams could arrange for "fixing" the remainder on the books of the county treasurer; that Luke Wheeler was the man who did the "fixing," and that it became necessary later to "fix" the ledgers of the association in order to show there was enough money on hand to pay the taxes.

Becker Accuses Wheeler.

During the morning session of court John W. Becker, chief clerk of the county treasurer, declared that the writing on the receipt indicating that the temple taxes had been paid was to the best of his knowledge and belief that of Wheeler.

His opinion, he said, was based on a comparison of the writing on the receipt with a specimen of penmanship of Wheeler submitted by him at the time he sought employment in the county treasurer's office. This specimen of Wheeler's writing was introduced by the state and probably will be the subject of expert opinion when the defense has its inning this afternoon.

Dr. Rush Startles the Defense.

Dr. Rush's entry in court was a veritable shock to the defense. Premonitions that a surprise was in store were caused by nearly half an hour's delay in opening the session. The delay was due to the fact that Cashier Mallon was closeted in the state's attorney's office with Mr. Barnes, undergoing a rigid examination as to the association's books. Accountant Cooper also had a session with Mr. Barnes, and aided him in reaching an understanding of certain entries which he found while auditing the books.

Attorney Forrest entered a vigorous protest against Dr. Rush's going on the witness stand without any notice having been given to the defense that he was to be called. Attorney Hartnett, representing Wheeler, also protested, but Judge Chetlain overruled the objections. Mr. Barnes explained that the state did not know it was going to call Dr. Rush until a few hours before court convened. Then the examination began.

Examination of Dr. Rush.

"Did you have a talk with Mr. Williams and Mr. Gormley on April 18, this year, on matters connected with the association?" asked Mr. Barnes, after a few preliminary questions.

"I did," replied Dr. Rush.

"You may state your conversation as far as it related to taxes."

"Well, Mr. Williams did most of the talking respecting the taxes," the witness said.

"What did he say?"

"He desired a check for $20,000 to pay the taxes with; to get the currency for the taxes on the Masonic temple."

"Did he state the amount that was to be paid?"

"O, I understood that to be the full amount to discharge the taxes."

"State what he said and what you said," urged Mr. Barnes.

"Well, I said that we didn't want to get into any more entanglements about the taxes. Two years before there was a misunderstanding, and with that I kind of hesitated about signing the check."

"What did he say in reply to that, doctor?"

Receipt in Full by Paying $20,000.

"He said that for $20,000 he could get a receipt in full for the taxes."

"In what way did he say he was going to do this?" Mr. Barnes asked.

"What did you say in reply to him?"

"Well, I said: 'If it is a fact we are living in Rome I suppose we will have to do as the Romans do,' and I signed the check."

"Who signed the check with you?"

"Mr. James H. Gormley, president of the association," replied Dr. Rush, while a silence fell upon the courtroom.

Dr. Rush explained that the check was made payable to Cashier Mallon, and that if the money was drawn on the check he himself never saw the cash.

Pronounces Receipt Bogus.

His testimony then turned to the tax receipt presented to him by Capt. Williams, which he pronounced bogus. His suspicion as to the receipt, he said, was aroused immediately upon seeing it.

"What was said after you had signed the check?" asked Mr. Barnes.

"Well, Capt. Williams brought in the bogus receipt the same day and presented it to me. I said, 'I don't like the appearance of that recept.'"

"Look at this receipt," said Mr. Barnes, handing Dr. Rush the bogus receipt. "Do you recognize that paper?"

"That is the receipt he brought me. He said, 'What is the trouble with it?' I said, 'The general appearance I don't like, and the name of the clerk who issued the receipt is not on it.' He said that they used to do that, but 'don't do that any more.'"

"What did you say in reply to that?"

"I think I had my tax book in the drawer, and I looked at it; I said, 'They do it on my receipts.' I had them there."

Fixing County Treasurer's Books.

Mr. Barnes then drew out from Dr. Rush the explanation given by Capt. Williams as to the manner in which the books of the county treasurer would be made to show the full payment of the Masonic temple taxes.

"Did you make any statement to him in reference to balancing the county treasurer's books?"

"There was some talk in which I said that I could not see how that could possibly be done. He said 'other people can do it; it can be done by crediting personal property taxes to real estate.'"

By a series of questions Mr. Barnes got a clearer explanation of the method suggested by Dr. Rush. In brief, it provided for a transfer of personal property taxes amounting to $6,770.17, which had been paid by various taxpayers, to the real estate account, crediting that amount to the Masonic temple, and allowing the personal property taxes to remain on the books as delinquent.

Discrepancy in Temple Accounts.

Then Mr. Barnes started another line of inquiry, which brought out the fact that a discrepancy in the accounts of the Temple association had been discovered last May, after the date on which Capt. Williams says he paid the taxes. The books were first audited in January, and then in May.

"Did you have a talk with A. B. Dunning, manager of the Audit company of New York, in May?" asked Mr. Barnes.

"I did," was the answer.

"Did you report any part of that conversation to Capt. Williams?"

"I reported that Dunning wanted to know how we could pay $26,770 with $20,000, and I told him I supposed they took the difference in money out of the drawer and paid it that way, or made it up from the safe."

Dr. Rush's direct examination ended with this question. To the surprise of nearly everybody in court the defense refused to cross examine the witness. Both Attorneys Forrest and Hartnett offered motions to exclude Dr. Rush's testimony from the consideration of the jury. Mr. Forrest declared that the state had willfully withheld Dr. Rush's testimony from the defense for a period of four weeks.

Supplementary Questions Asked.

Rather than rest under the imputation that he had acted in bad faith State's Attorney Deneen asked Dr. Rush a few more questions and made it clear that the prosecution had been just as much surprised by its acquisition of new evidence as the defense was startled over its presentation.

"Doctor, when you talked with me in the latter part of August did you say anything about the fact that the Audit company of New York had looked into the books of the Temple association?"

"I did not," replied Dr. Rush.

"Did you at that time mention anything about a conversation that you had had with Capt. Williams and James H. Gormley with reference to the payment of $20,000 to the county treasurer instead of $26,000?"

"No, sir."

"You talked to me last Saturday evening, about 7 o'clock. Was that the first time you gave me any information about the Audit company of New York or told me of the conversation with Capt. Williams?"

"It was the first time."

"Isn't it a fact that your first knowledge that you would be a witness came to you this afternoon at about 2 o'clock?"

"Yes, sir; I was informed today that I would be subpœnaed."

"On Saturday the talk was entirely confidential, was it not?" asked Mr. Deneen.

"Entirely confidential," repeated Dr. Rush, "and I had expected to escape this ordeal."

Mallon on the Stand.

There was a half hidden connection between the testimony of the expert accountant, W. E. Cooper, and that of Cashier Mallon by which the state expects to convince the jury that the books of the Temple association were "doctored" in order to show that $6,670.17 in cash was added to the check for $20,000 for payment of the taxes. Mallon admitted on the stand that he had made erasures and changes of two amounts in accordance with Capt. Williams' instructions. The total of these two amounts was $6,534.31. This amount was credited on the books as receipts for rent from the Temple restaurant, of which Capt. Williams was at the time manager.

"Have you the cash book here that you used in the month of April and since the first of April?" asked Mr. Barnes of Cashier Mallon.

"Yes, sir."

"Look at the last entry on page 280, 'Masonic temple restaurant,' on the debtor side of the cash column, and do you notice the figures opposite it—$4,689.89?"

"I do," replied Mallon.

"Do you notice that the figures have been changed?"

"Yes, sir."

Mr. Barnes then had the witness turn to another page of the cash book, and again directed his attention to the account of the restaurant.

"Mine," was the pointed answer.

"Do you observe there has been an erasure and ink figures made over the erasure?"

"I do."

"When the original entry was drawn off into the ledger from the cash book it was not drawn off as it there appears, was it?"

"My recollection is——" said the witness, hesitating.

Admits "Doctoring" Cash Book.

"Answer the question," Mr. Barnes insisted. "Did you change the figures in the cash book after you had entered them in the ledger?"

"I did once, I believe."

"Anybody instruct you to do it?"

"Mr. Williams, I believe, was the one who instructed me to do it," was the reply.

Cashier Mallon could not remember when Capt. Williams instructed him to change the figures. He said the figures represented money, apparently received from the restaurant for rent, but he didn't remember whether he received the sums in cash or checks.

"Will you say you received that amount of money—$4,689.89—on April 5, 1902?" Mr. Barnes asked.

"My recollection is that I wouldn't have put it down there unless I received the money or its equivalent."

There was much more questioning about the entries, the manner of their making, their time of making, and their relation to the actual condition of the cash on hand. Mallon explained that entries of cash were often made from memoranda days after the receipt of the money and without reference to the day it was received.

"Do you remember that the books were examined by an audit company in the month of May?" asked Mr. Barnes.

"Yes, sir."

"Were these figures as you have them written now in there at that time?"

"That I cannot swear to—whether it was before or after," replied Mallon.

Cooper Called to Testify.

Mr. Mallon then left the witness stand and Mr. Barnes called for Mr. Cooper. Attorneys Forrest and Hartnett were on their feet at once, protesting that they had not been served with notice that a man named Cooper would be called upon to testify.

"We did not know ourselves that Mr. Cooper would be called until this afternoon," replied Mr. Barnes.

Mr. Cooper first testified that he had examined the books of the Masonic Temple Fraternity association after the middle of May. He was then asked to turn to the same pages of the cash book that had been submitted to Cashier Mallon, and his attention was directed to the figures representing rent received from the temple restaurant.

"Were those figures—$4,689.89—in that condition when you examined the books?" asked Mr. Barnes.

"No, sir."

"Look at entry April 30, on page 286, Masonic temple restaurant. What are the figures there as the amount received from the restaurant that day?"

"One thousand eight hundred and forty-four dollars and forty-two cents."

"Were those figures in that condition when you examined the books?"

"That I don't know."

Figures in the Book Changed.

"Did you notice whether they had been changed or not?"

"Yes; they had been changed."

"Do you remember what the figures were of the first entry?"

"Yes, sir," said Mr. Cooper with confidence. "One amount was $6,670.17."

"Was your attention called to the item that appears on page 284, in which cash is credited with the item, 'Reserve for taxes, $26,770.17'?"

"I noticed that item."

"Were you able to find whether there was enough money on hand to pay that item at that time?"

"I found a receipt for it."

"Well, were you able, in your examination of the cash books, to find whether there was enough cash on hand to pay that?"

"What amount did you find on the check register?"

"I found a check drawn for $20,000," replied Mr. Cooper, and the state left him to the defense for cross examination. Mr. Hartnett was satisfied to ask a few questions, revealing the fact that Mr. Cooper had not talked with anybody about the case until after the noon hour.

Testimony to Grand Jury.

When Cashier Mallon was released from the witness stand he was immediately summoned to appear before the grand jury and required to go over his testimony. He scarcely had left the grand jury room when Dr. Rush, having concluded his testimony, entered the grand jury room and retold his story. It was the same, with the exception that one portion of his story relating to Luke Wheeler. Dr. Rush is said to have stated that he was approached by Wheeler on one occasion with an offer to arrange for a reduction of the taxes.

Further indictments may grow out of the investigation. There is a statute making it a criminal offense to alter the books of a corporation in the state of Illinois, and under this law all of the officers of the Masonic Temple Fraternity association may be proceeded against.

State's Attorney Deneen and his assistant, Mr. Barnes, were in a hopeful state of mind after the adjournment of court. They tried in vain to suppress their satisfaction over the turn the case had taken. It has been the admittedly weak spot from the beginning that direct evidence against Williams was lacking.

"We are not depending on circumstantial evidence any longer," said Mr. Barnes. "Dr. Rush's testimony is as direct as one could wish. I never saw a case fit together any closer than it has this afternoon."

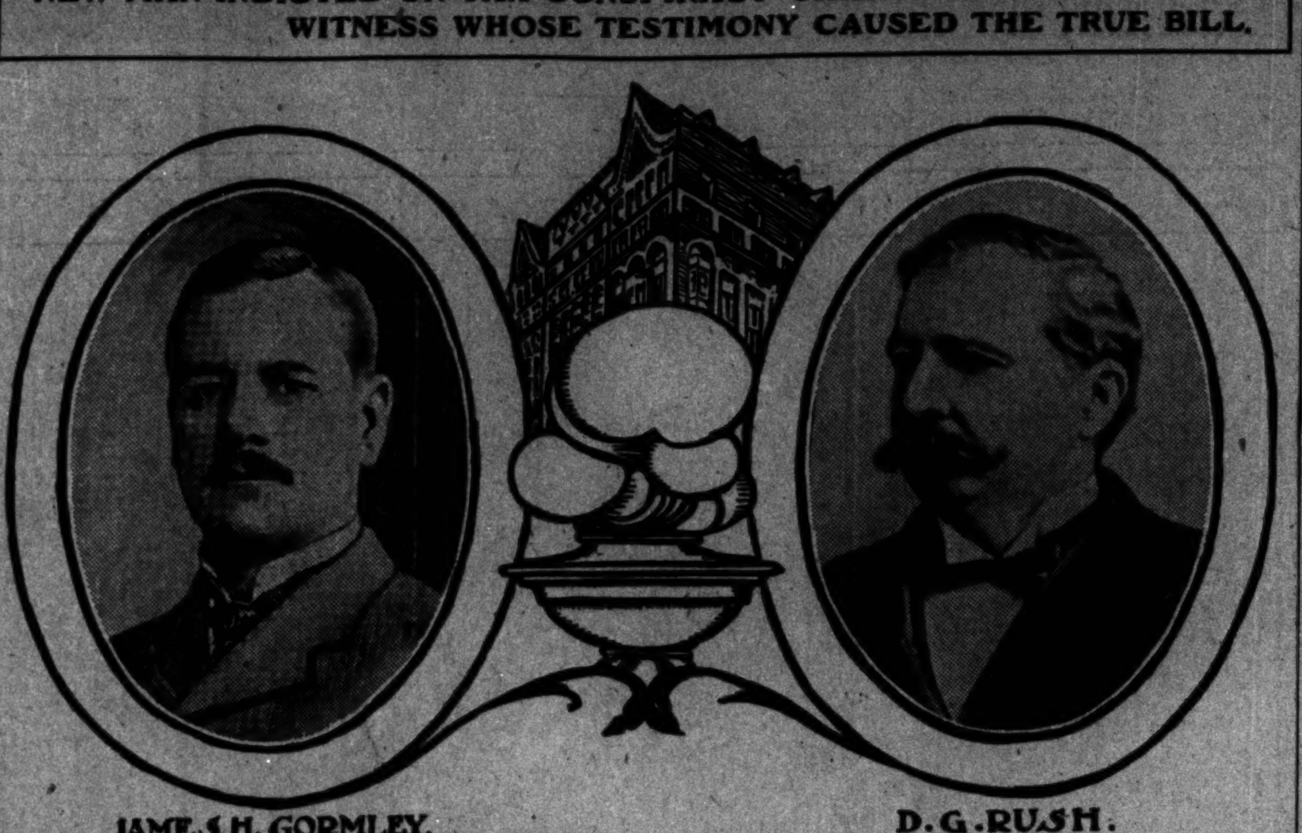

Way New Evidence Was Found.

The manner in which the prosecution discovered its new evidence was as follows, according to Mr. Barnes: At the time Cashier Mallon first appeared before the grand jury which returned the indictments charging conspiracy, he stated that the books of the association had been examined by the Chicago Audit company. When the state's detectives began an investigation they found no record of such an examination in the possession of the Chicago company and were at a loss to learn the name of the right company.

Finally it was discovered that the Audit company of New York had made an examination of the association's books at the request of Dr. Rush in May, an examination coming after the one referred to by Cashier Mallon. This discovery came last Saturday, and resulted in Dr. Rush being asked to visit the state's attorney's office that evening. He had talked once before with Mr. Deneen about the case, but had given no information concerning the work of the audit company.

Dr. Rush made no effort to conceal his knowledge of the state of affairs in the office of the Temple association when he learned that Mr. Deneen was in possession of additional facts. He gave the prosecution every fact at his command that night, and the next day was devoted to communication by telegraph with the headquarters of the audit company in New York and securing consent for its expert to reveal inside information. The consent was not gained until shortly before noon yesterday.

NEW MAN INDICTED ON TAX CONSPIRACY CHARGE AND WITNESS WHOSE TESTIMONY CAUSED THE TRUE BILL.

Judge Horton Orders Writs Issued for Citizens Who Seek to Ignore Grand Jury Service.

When only twenty-seven men appeared before Judge Horton yesterday to serve on the grand jury the court decided it was time to take some action that would bring more responses when service is begun for the next jury. He issued attachments for the following ten veniremen:

Edwin E. Thompson, Walter S. Baring,
James T. Gardner, Fred M. Farwell,
Harry R. Holdsworth, Charles W. Hinkley,
Elmer H. Garrett, Walter T. Field,
Frank M. Bender, Harry R. Eagle.

"This is an important service and must not be evaded," said Judge Horton. "I want to know why these men failed to report in this court after properly receiving notice to be here."

Edward B. Gallup, the real estate dealer, will be the foreman of the new jury. Among those who will serve with him are the following:

Albert W. Hutchins, 4576 Oakenwald avenue.
Carl V. Kimball, 6131 Monroe avenue.
Clifford W. Bryant, 4598 Oakenwald avenue.
Simon Hamberg, 3644 Prairie avenue.
John R. Cooke, 3159 South Park avenue.

After administering the oath to the jury, Judge Horton instructed it to investigate thoroughly the charge that a schedule of prices exists by which prisoners awaiting trial in the county jail may evade punishment.

The jury took up the inquiry yesterday afternoon by investigating the case of William Hickey, who is alleged to have secured a dismissal of the indictment against him by the failure of witnesses to appear. Inspector Lavin and several of his detectives were present to give the jury the results of the inquiry they had instituted, particularly as to the charges against Detectives Tedford and Davis. This case was hurried through on the request of the state's attorney, who desires to take up the investigation into the Masonic temple tax fraud charges.

FILES ANSWER TO TEMPLE SUIT.

County Treasurer Raymond Denies That the Money for 1901 Ever Was Paid.

A denial that all or any of the taxes of the Masonic temple property for 1901 were paid in the office of the county collector, or to him or any person acting for him, was entered by Samuel B. Raymond, county treasurer, yesterday, in an answer to the petition of the Masonic Fraternity Temple association for an injunction restraining the sale of the temple property for delinquent taxes. The answer was filed in court by County Attorney Edwin W. Sims.

The plea for an injunction was based by the temple association on allegations that April 18 the taxes of $26,770.17 were paid in the county treasurer's office by Capt. Williams, manager of the Masonic temple, and that an instrument purporting to be a receipt for this tax was delivered to Mr. Williams.

The answer further declares that if any person holds a receipt for those taxes, such receipt "is a forgery and a fraud upon the rights of the defendant and of the several beneficiaries of the taxes."

Reverting to the claim by the petitioner that an entry had been made upon the records of the county collector, showing that the tax had been paid, the answer denies that any entry had been made in due form, but says that some unknown person did make "a pretended entry of payment without date."

The answer denies that this fraudulent entry became a part of the records of Cook county, and declares that the tax against the temple property for 1901 is still unpaid and due.

READY TO AUDIT COUNTY BOOKS.

Stuart & Young to Commence Work Tomorrow Morning in Treasurer Raymond's Office.

Stuart & Young, the firm of accountants engaged by the county board, will commence work on the county treasurer's books tomorrow morning. At a meeting yesterday afternoon of the special committee appointed by the county board to investigate the treasurer's office the details of the contract were agreed upon by the committee and Arthur Young, representing the firm. No material changes have been made in the contract since its first draft was made by Commissioner Flanagan two weeks ago.

Man Accused of Murder Executed by Citizens of Forrest City, Ark., in Spite of Promise of Immediate Trial.

Forrest City, Ark., Oct. 20.—Charles Young, the negro charged with assaulting and afterwards murdering Mrs. Ed Lewis, white, was burned at the stake tonight by a mob of infuriated citizens of this county. The mob now is seeking another negro implicated, and he is promised the same fate.

Sheriff Williams used every effort to save the prisoner's life, and telephoned Judge Hutton of this district, who promised to come tomorrow and give immediate trial for the negro.

Mob Leaders Break Pledge.

The leaders of the mob had given the sheriff positive pledges that they would await the trial and take no violent measures. At 8:30 o'clock tonight a mob marched to the county jail, and after having been refused the keys by Deputy Sheriff Murphy until Sheriff Williams could be acquainted with their demands, the mob, not waiting for Sheriff Williams' arrival, forcibly took the cell keys from Murphy, and, breaking into the jail door with sledge hammers, took the prisoner from his cell.

Begs in Vain for Life.

The mob took the negro to a point half a mile east of town, bound him, piled wood around him, and set fire to it. The negro begged piteously for his life. In a short time he expired.

After Young had been put to death the mob started in quest of another negro, alleged to have been implicated in the killing of Mrs. Lewis. At midnight he had not been found.

Lynching in Mississippi.

New Orleans, La., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—A negro was lynched near Estabutchie, Miss., on Saturday for an attempt at assault upon the wife of a planter. He was first beaten and then shot.

SHOOTS ON TELEPHONE TIP

WARNED TO WATCH HIS WIFE, HUSBAND GETS BUSY.

Daniel F. Angel Follows the Woman and Says He Found Her with P. R. Nourse, Whom He Wounded Twice During a Struggle Following the Discovery — Real Estate Man Scratches Match on Woodwork of Hallawy and Becomes Target.

Telephone messages from an unknown informant caused Daniel F. Angel, a linotype machinist, to follow his wife last evening and attempt the death of a man in whose company, it is said, she was found. P. R. Nourse, 536 East Fiftieth street, was the victim of Angel's wrath and was shot twice, the bullets inflicting dangerous wounds.

Angel is 35 years old and resides at 4137 Evans avenue. His wife is ten years younger and pretty. The husband is said to have been extremely jealous, and that fact being known has led to many practical jokes upon him.

Angel declares he was summoned to the telephone in his home last night and notified by a feminine voice that his wife had an engagement two hours later with an admirer. Telling his wife that he was called away on business, he hurried to a nearby store, where he purchased a revolver, then returned by a rear entrance to his house, where he secreted himself in a basement. A few minutes later his wife went away and was followed by Angel.

Loses Trace of His Wife.

In a crowd about the corner of Fiftieth street and Evans avenue Angel lost sight of his wife, and for two hours searched vainly for her. Finally, in front of the Vestibule saloon, 536 Fiftieth street, he saw her walking, apparently with a man. He shouted at her and she turned, and, seeing her husband, fled through a passageway between the saloon and a residence and disappeared.

As Angel started in pursuit he collided with Nourse, who was standing near the entrance of the passageway.

"That's my wife you've got!" he shouted, and, as Nourse started to expostulate, he was struck by the enraged man.

Nourse Shot Twice.

A struggle followed in which Angel was being worsted when he drew the revolver from his pocket and fired four shots. Two were effective, and Nourse, staggering, grasped his assailant, and with a final effort threw him to the ground, falling on top of him. The revolver fell beneath the men, and both fought for its possession, while a crowd which had seen the affray stood about afraid to interfere or to seize the weapon.

Angel had again grasped the weapon when O. J. Doane, 534 East Fiftieth street, ran forward and seized his arm, wresting the revolver from him. Policemen were summoned, and Nourse was taken to his house, while his assailant was sent to the Fiftieth street station.

The wounds of Nourse were dressed by Dr. Lockechia, who pronounced them dangerous. The man denied having been with Mrs. Angel, and declares he had never seen the woman. He is secretary and treasurer of a real estate investment company at 78 La Salle street. Angel says Nourse has been an acquaintance of his wife's for several months.

Shot for Striking a Match.

Shot for striking a match is the explanation given by S. J. Stenson, a real estate dealer at 73 Clark street, for a bullet wound in his thigh. Mrs. M. J. Hodgson is accused of the shooting, which took place in her residence at 2921 Indiana avenue. Stenson lives at 4609 Champlain avenue.

According to the police report sent to Chief O'Neill by Lieut. Moore of the Cottage Grove avenue station, Mrs. Hodgson shot Stenson after he had struck a match on the door in the hallway of her home to light his way to the street.

Mrs. Hodgson was confined to her bed yesterday and would not talk in regard to the affair. She said her physician, Dr. Raymond L. Leonard, 312 La Salle avenue, was acquainted with the facts.

Doctor's Story of Shooting.

Dr. Leonard said that Stenson had called at the third flat of the building to collect a bill.

"After he had rung the bell," the doctor continued, "Mrs. Hodgson appeared at the doorway of her apartment and told him no one was at home. Mrs. Hodgson lives on the first floor of the building. As the man started out he struck a match on the woodwork. Mrs. Hodgson told Stenson that he should not mar the belongings of other persons, and words followed.

"The man used improper language and attempted to attack Mrs. Hodgson. She went into the house and returned with a revolver, ordering Stenson from the place. The revolver was discharged in some way, the bullet grazing the man's thigh."

RETURNS CAP WITH THANKS.

Mrs. Mary Kelly Receives a Grateful Note from Bareheaded Man Whom She Befriended.

The cap which Mrs. Mary Kelly loaned to a bareheaded man on Sunday, who, it developed, was fleeing from the police, was returned to her by mail yesterday. Accompanying the neatly wrapped package was the following grateful note:

Dear Madam: I appreciate your kindness and also thank the boys. I hope I may be able to return the favor some day. Inclosed you will find the cap. Yours truly, HARRY WARREN.

The letter was mailed at South Chicago, according to postmarks. Mrs. Kelly has a confectionery store at 709 Kedzie avenue. She was surprised Sunday evening when a man entered the store bareheaded and showed her several wounds which he said had been inflicted by some holdup men who attacked him. The man requested a hat, and Mrs. Kelly went to a rear room in the place and secured a cap belonging to her husband. A few minutes after his departure Policemen Connors and Mulvaney of the Lawndale station entered the store and asked Mrs. Kelly if she had seen a man bareheaded and suffering from wounds. Mrs. Kelly at once told of the man to whom she had loaned a cap.

IRELAND ASKS WORLD FOR AID.

NO RESORT TO FORCE.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Boston, Mass., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—Appeal to the conscience of the world is the weapon with which Irish patriots will seek to end British rule in Ireland and bring freedom to their country.

This was the course of action urged by leaders of the United Irish league from Ireland to the United States, Canada, and corners of the world, before 600 members of the American branches at the first annual meeting of the American league today.

A demand for an armed blow at English power and the use of force, gunpowder, and bullets was cheered to the echo, but the folly of such a course, under present conditions, was pointed out by those who have studied the question wisely and long.

In Faneuil hall, where England's administration of the struggling American colonies was denounced more than a century ago, with the pictured likenesses of Washington, of Warren, of Lafayette, and of Kossuth looking down upon them, these Irishmen of the home isle, of the United States, and of Canada threw down the gage to England with yells and jeers. The Balfour ministry was stormed with hisses. It was "Balfour and company" which the government of the crown was dubbed. The system of Irish land tenure and the mention of alien landlords who dominate the islands were jeered and threatened.

Enlisted Men 240,000 Strong.

From Ireland John E. Redmond, John Dillon, and Michael Davitt brought the word that 140,000 men are enlisted in the cause of the Irish league in Ireland, England, Scotland, and Wales. For the United States W. Bourke Cockran, New York, John F. Finerty of Chicago, and others gave the promise that 100,000 more "fighting men" on this side of the water are ready to do and dare for the cause which has been fought for more than seven centuries.

The plea of all the leaders was for agitation—instruction of the world as to the sufferings, confiscations, and plunderings that have been laid on the people of the Emerald island for more than 700 years. Public sentiment, it was urged, is the one lever which can correct Ireland's troubles.

Roars of Cheers for Roosevelt.

The coal strike in the anthracite fields, with the final submission of the operators to arbitration, was made the basis of argument after argument as to the power of public opinion when that force is stirred to action.

Again and again the name of President Roosevelt and his interference in the war between owners and miners was greeted with roars of cheers and the waving of hats and handkerchiefs. In fact, the president was made a figure of the convention, his courteous declination of the invitation to attend the meeting, on the ground of pressing public business being read during the evening.

Finerty Opens Convention.

John Finerty of Chicago called the convention to order. Six hundred delegates were present, representing twenty-one states, the District of Columbia, and Canada. In his opening address Mr. Finerty said in part:

"The Anglo-Normans at the close of the twelfth century introduced their foul feudal system into Ireland. Before they came the Irish lands were the property of all the people, and were held in trust by monarch, prince, and chief. But the invaders did not respect the Breton laws, which governed ancient Ireland, and were in the main models of wisdom and justice. On the contrary, they overrode them from the first, and after vanquishing fathers and brothers in the field or by traitor methods, they married the daughters by force and laid claim to the lands which was the common property of all the Irish people and not of a favored and privileged few.

"Ireland did not tamely submit to this new and violent condition of affairs, but as history tells has fought long and persistently for liberty. The Anglo-Norman feudal system was paramount in Ireland until Parnell, supported by the Land league, of which the United Irish league is the lineal successor, made a breach in its brazen shield. Catholics and Protestants alike were persecuted, and the outrages forced them to emigrate to the American colonies, where they took their part in the war for independence.

"Since Jan. 1, 1801, Ireland has been, to all intents and purposes, an English province. The union act wiped out, as far as parchment and seal could do it, her distinctive nationality, but the hearts and hands of the bulk of the Irish people have been and are inflamed and raised against the provincial condition. They have not accepted the brand of social and political inferiority.

England Rule Self-Condemned.

"English rule stands self-condemned by the official reports of its own servants, which show that Ireland has today a smaller population than she had in 1801, and that within the last sixty years, 1,250,000 of her people starved to death; more than 2,000,000 were evicted from their holdings, and 4,000,000 at least sought refuge from British tyranny in this and other free countries.

"A government, whether native or foreign, that could and can find no remedy for this wholesale destruction of an ancient and highly endowed people has no right to exist. It has sinned against the beneficence of God and the inherent rights of mankind.

Appeal to Arms Justified.

"Under more favorable conditions the Irish people would be entirely justified in resorting to arms to end this huge iniquity. Right and justice are on their side and present opportunity alone is wanting. With a powerful ally to furnish her with the nucleus of an army and with munitions of war, Ireland, by putting every able bodied man in the field, could win her independence, but without such an ally nothing short of a miracle could render her victorious.

"The men upon Irish ground are the men to decide the policy of their country. So long as they keep the green flag flying and make no compromise of their right to be free and independent their American kinsmen are and will be their allies and auxiliaries. Ireland must fight England with such weapons as she has ready. She must not submit to be extinguished while waiting an opportunity to strike. She is threatened with one great and pressing danger—extinction by emigration.

"The meeting today," said President Finerty, "was to express the sentiments of the American Irish on the Irish question and to welcome Ireland's chief and his fellow delegates. A year has not yet elapsed since the United Irish League of America was temporarily organized. In spite of senseless opposition in some quarters and unmanly apathy in others, it has increased and multiplied throughout the American continent and has furnished the true men in Ireland with a respectable amount of the sinews of war to carry on in a manly manner the noble struggle for land and liberty."

Bourke Cockran's Address.

Following Mr. Finerty's address, Acting Mayor Doyle welcomed the convention to the city.

Mr. Bourke Cockran was made temporary chairman, and he set the convention wild by the eloquence of his recital of Ireland's wrongs.

"An appeal to arms would be justified," said Mr. Cockran, "but an appeal to arms by the Irish people at this moment would be an exercise of folly rather than of wisdom, and of extravagance rather than patriotism.

"There is a force which, I think, the history of the world shows to be stronger even than arms. That is the conscience of the world when that conscience is fully informed. That there is harmonious opinion on this point as to the weapon of attack amongst the people of Ireland and the tens of thousands who now claim America as their home was attested tonight by John Dillon, M. P., and Michael Davitt, whose drawn faces still tell the story of suffering in English jails. 'There are two ways in which you can help us,' asserted the former. 'Spread the information as to Ireland's conditions and her history, and thus stir the mighty influence of public opinion. Then aid us in raising the funds to carry on this war—for war it is, even though we have no arms and are prevented from securing them. Aid us with revenue to fight the landlords, who have banded together and raised $500,000 with which to make war on the United Irish league. The greatest obstacle to Irish liberty today is that the wells of information are poisoned by English deceit and lies. Encourage your people to study Ireland's history and the struggle of her people for centuries, and then you will show the people of England that they must despair of keeping what they value the most on earth—the good will of this free nation of the United States. Strike that way and you strike effectively.'"

Example in the Coal Strike.

It was Bourke Cockran's reference to the coal strike and its approaching settlement which brought the convention to its feet. For the moment Ireland's woes were forgotten, and the green flag was put aside, while three hearty cheers were given for John Mitchell and his miners. Mr. Cockran had traced how the operators had offered insult to the chief executive of the United States by an "insolent" refusal to arbitrate.

"Then," he continued, "the opinion of the country was quick to conclude that the side which refused arbitration confessed itself in the wrong; that it was an enemy to civilized progress; that the only difference between civilization and barbarism in the last analysis was that civilized men arbitrate their disputes and savages settled them with clubs. Men who had refused the proposed arbitration immediately volunteered it, and today we are on the verge of the resumption of that industry upon which all our comfort and even much of the certainty of our health depend.

"If the judgment, the public opinion of this country, being enlightened, could enforce itself almost in an instant, the judgment and conscience of the world would enforce itself when the truth of the Irish question is made clear by the sober presentation of the facts."

Sums Up Ireland's Wrongs.

With strokes of oratory Mr. Cockran traced the downfall of Ireland to present conditions. He told of the confiscation of the lands of the Irish clans by English kings and of how the alien landlord system had found its root and groowth. He recounted the measures of repression which, enacted by the crown government to check Ireland's growing prosperity of years ago, had killed Irish shipping, the linen and woolen industry, and the raising of cattle, with which the English markets were supplied scores of years ago.

"Now, what is the Irish question?" he demanded. "It is this: The Irish people are the only people in the world who enjoy neither the possession of the soil on which, nor the government under which, they live. There is no other people in the world that does not control one or the other. They have demanded the control of both. They have demanded it for seven centuries. They are demanding it now more vehemently, more vigorously, more earnestly than ever."

Only Want Chance to Work.

Mr. Cockran showed how, with his manufacturing industries taken away, the man of Ireland must depend upon the yield of the land alone. In this way, he said, the peasant has become the powder between the millstones of government misrule and landlordism.

"We ask," he continued, "only the opportunity to work. We ask that the laborer shall be allowed to till the soil, to work with his hands in manufacturing, and that he shall enjoy the full fruits of all that is created by his toil.

"The industrial problem is the demand which in this age is irresistible. I firmly believe that if I were asked to define concretely the results of Christianity I should say it was the substitution of free labor for the condition of compulsory labor. Never has labor been dignified as it is dignified now. Labor first became free; now it has become respectable—aye, more, it has been recognized as the force throughout the world.

"If I were asked to name the most auspicious event in the history of the world, I should say it was that memorable hour when, in the president's room in Washington, a laborer was received on equal terms with a ruler."

John Dillon's Address.

John Dillon devoted himself at the evening session to describing conditions in Ireland. He told of John O'Donnell, of his frequent arrests by the police for holding public meetings which had culminated in his suspension by the house of commons. His descriptions of how Irish peasants with bare fists and blackthorns have fought with British police and soldiery were the signals for stormy demonstrations. References to Kruger and to De Wet were cheered by the audience which filled Faneuil hall to its limits. But mention of Balfour, of Secretary Wyndham, or other governmental officials met with groans and hisses.

"If we in Ireland were allowed to exercise those rights which are held to be inalienable to every freeman," said he, "we would not need to be here to beg your assistance. If we had the right of free speech or of public meetings we could fight our battle successfully and ask no outside aid. But we are not only an unarmed people but robbed, plundered, persecuted, we feel that we are entitled to look for assistance from American freedom."

Growth of Irish League.

Michael Davitt gave his time chiefly to tracing the growth of the Irish league. He urged that the United States give more attention to the millions of people upon the European continent and check their sympathies and commercial relations with England.

"There are 230,000,000 people on the continent," said he. "Think of them rather than lavish all your attention upon the 40,000,000 in England. Then you will give England a blow which will aid Ireland in its fight for liberty and independence."

Resolutions Are Adopted.

That the people of Ireland must decide the means to be used, however, was attested in the resolutions passed tonight, which, after arraigning English misrule, continued:

"We assert the undoubted right of the Irish people to destroy the tyranny that afflicts them by the use of any honorable weapon or methods that in their judgment seem to give the greatest promise of success; but that while so believing, we give complete adhesion to the principle that our organizations in America are entitled to be but auxiliaries and advisers, and that the Irish people, on their own soil and through their own chosen leaders, are best fitted to decide the means by which the battle for Irish freedom shall be fought.

"That the United Irish league is the only menace to English supremacy in Ireland is attested by the frequent arrest of the Irish parliamentary representatives and league officials, the suppression of their newspapers, the denial of their right of peaceable assembly, the abolition for them of trial by jury, and the proclaiming of the infamous coercion act in more than half the island, although the records of the courts demonstrate that Ireland is practically a crimeless country."

Personnel of the Convention.

The delegates in this convention, including a number of women who represent branches auxiliary to the league, represent 455 American branches of the organization. Clergymen and priests from all parts of the country are here in numbers. Among those who aided in the work of committees are United States Senator Smith of New Jersey, Thomas J. Gargan of Boston, D. D.; John C. Guerin of Chicago, Gen. James R. O'Beirne of New York, John P. Sullivan and Charles O'Connell of New Orleans, and others. Messages of greeting have poured in from all sections of the United States, from Canada, and even from Australia, promising aid and effort.

Tomorrow further discussion of the ways and means in which the most effective blows may be struck for Irish liberty will be continued, and in the evening the convention will adjourn.

From here John E. Redmond, who will speak tomorrow, and the other envoys from Ireland leave for New York and Philadelphia, where they will address meetings, Mr. Davitt and Mr. Dillon probably making a trip as far west as Chicago.

IRISH QUESTION UNDER DEBATE.

England's Policy Is Bitterly Assailed in the House of Commons.

STORY OF PACKED JURIES.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, Oct. 20.—The Irish nationalists succeeded in engrossing a large part of the attention of the house of commons today and this evening, and the scenes frequently bordered on the disorderly. The nationalists bombarded the Irish secretary, Mr. Wyndham, with all kinds of queries, interruptions, and contradictions of his statements anent the imprisonment of Irish members.

Mr. Wyndham's replies, though given in a conciliatory tone, evoked storms of derisive cries, mingled with hisses, and the speaker was kept busy suppressing demonstrations which threatened to develop into disorderliness.

William O'Brien moved the adjournment of the house in order to discuss questions arising from the case of former Police Sergeant Sullivan, now in America, who is alleged to have obtained the conviction of innocent persons through perjury. The debate on this motion was postponed to the evening session.

Liberals Support the Irish.

The liberal leader, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, cordially joined the Irish in supporting their demand that the government fix a day to discus the status of Ireland, but he declined to make the liberal opposition responsible for the demand, which he said was made by the constitutional representatives of Ireland and in regard to a purely Irish question.

Premier Balfour retorted that Sir Henry's doctrine seemed wholly separatist. He would not admit that the government of Ireland was a purely Irish question, and until the ambiguous attitude of the liberal leader was cleared up he declined to say if the government would grant a day for the discussion of the state of Ireland.

Galleries Crowded in Evening.

The galleries of the house of commons were crowded at the evening session in anticipation of a sensational debate on William O'Brien's motion.

In outlining the Sullivan matter Mr. O'Brien declared that Patrick Nolan, one of the government's witnesses, swore at one trial that a letter purporting to have been written by Mr. MacHale, president of the United Revolutionary league, arranging for a murderous outrage, was in Sullivan's handwriting. Afterward he avowed that he had been employed to shield Sullivan from justice by discrediting the evidence of other witnesses, and that Sullivan was guilty of forgeries.

Charges a Packed Jury.

Describing the Sligo trial as an eye witness, Mr. O'Brien declared that a more dishonest or revolting trial had never been held. He said the Irish members feared that Dublin castle was trying to hush the Sullivan matter up, but that it was a case of greater gravity than that of Sergt. Sheridan because the plot Sullivan had organized against the Irish league was of the same character as the Pigott forgeries against Parnell.

Mr. O'Brien charged that the government had packed the jury to acquit Sullivan and had then spent an enormous sum to shelter him from justice. "The greater the scoundrel in the Irish constabulary," said the speaker, "the surer he is of being shielded and promoted."

Open Charge of Cowardice.

The attorney general for Ireland, J. Atkinson, replying to Mr. O'Brien, charged that the facts of the case had been strangely misrepresented, and he taunted Mr. O'Brien with being too cowardly to bring this case openly in the law courts.

At this statement there were shouts of "Withdraw!" from the Irish benches.

Mr. O'Brien demanded to know whether the remark of Mr. Atkinson was disorderly. The speaker of the house, Mr. Gully, replied that he did not take the remark as calling Mr. O'Brien a coward, but as applying to the course he had taken.

The attorney general then withdrew his expression and proceeded with the contention that he did not have the power to try a man a second time for a crime of which he had been acquitted. He scored Mr. O'Brien for bringing infamous charges against the crown without proof.

Mr. Wyndham declared that Mr. O'Brien's charge had been completely disposed of, and ridiculed the idea that the matter was one of urgent public importance.

O'Connor Filled with Despair.

T. P. O'Connor said the present debate filled him with more despair than any he had heard in the house, and reiterated the charge that the government had packed the Sullivan jury with Protestants and unionists.

Mr. O'Brien's motion for an adjournment of the house was rejected by 215 votes to 117.

Mr. Wyndham then explained that it was impossible to pass the Irish land purchase bill this session, and said he hoped in the course of the next session to introduce a new bill for voluntary arrangements between the parties concerned. He moved the withdrawal of the land purchase bill, which was agreed to, and the house then adjourned.

FIRE DESTROYS VALUABLE WRITINGS ON THE BIBLE.

Manuscripts Representing Fourteen Years' Work by the Rev. George Chainey of This City Consumed.

Fire, which destroyed the residence of the School of Interpretation at Williams Bay, Wis., also destroyed valuable manuscripts of the Rev. George Chainey of this city. These manuscripts were of Mr. Chainey's forthcoming work, "The Unsealed Bible," and represented fourteen years of labor.

Mr. Chainey recently removed his headquarters from the Fine Arts building to Williams Bay, where he is having a $10,000 building erected for his publishing offices and School of Interpretation. While awaiting the completion of the new building he and his associates were occupying a temporary structure, which was the one burned.

At the risk of her life Mrs. Jessie Gettleson, one of the residents, entered the burning building and saved $1,000 in currency which had been sent out to pay the laborers. Mr. Chainey's library, valued at $3,000, was saved.

The loss, aside from the manuscripts, was over $3,000 and there was no insurance.

IRISH DAY IN COMMONS.

[Copyright: 1902: By the New York Tribune.]
[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, Oct. 21, 3 a. m.—While premature reports of the sale or lease of Portuguese east Africa have been denied at Lisbon and elsewhere, there has been a general agreement among people of the diplomatic set that the future of that territory will be determined by a secret treaty between Great Britain and Germany. The inferences drawn from the journeys of the king of Portugal and the German emperor have been elastic, and it is not probable that the negotiations for the acquisition or control of the Portuguese territory are now in progress. The terms of the partition, however, have been agreed upon in advance, and these carry the presumption that the purchase or lease will be effected as soon as the government at Lisbon is prepared to set a reasonable price and face the popular agitation which will inevitably follow the alienation of national territory.

Anxious for Somali News.

Military men hold the foreign office responsible for the disaster to Col. Swayne's force in Somaliland. For economy's sake the department accepted raw levies of Somalis as trained, disciplined soldiers, while Col. Swayne's urgent counsel to establish a permanent military post at Curao was treated with contempt. Lord Cranborne's statement in the house of commons has created an uneasy feeling, and further news is eagerly awaited. There is no question that Col. Swayne's force is now in a most perilous position, as the mullah will receive large accessions to his fighting strength from tribes which previously had remained passive.

Irish Day in Parliament.

The autumn session of parliament, though held for English purposes, seems to have the Irish grievance as its dominant character. Before the education bill could be considered in the house of commons yesterday the nationalists angrily questioned Chief Secretary Wyndham about the imprisonment of Irish members of parliament. The chief secretary was coldly official and urbane, but his enemies were determined to find offense in every word he uttered, and they attacked him with a hot fire of supplementary questions. The Irish members are adepts at this kind of parliamentary warfare, and yesterday they had the support of John Morley and Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman. The result of these obstructionist tactics was that only sixteen of the fifty questions that appeared on the paper could be answered.

De Wet in an Ambush.

De Wet, while never entrapped in military operations, fell into an ambuscade when he undertook to write a book. An Australian and an Englishman made a shrewd contract with him before he left south Africa, and they control the copyrights for all languages. They are now in London with the manuscript of the book, which has been completed in Dutch, but not yet translated into English. They have put up the book in the market and are asking high prices for English and American copyrights. The book will contain about 125,000 words and be a detailed account of De Wet's tactics, marches, battles, retreats, and escapes during the campaign in south Africa. The Century company has bought the American book rights for Kruger's memoirs.

Wedding at Westminster.

Westminster abbey was opened today for the marriage of Canon Hensley Henson and Miss Isabella Dennistown, daughter of J. W. Dennistown. It was a brilliant social function, with choir and transepts filled with members of parliament, ecclesiastics, and smart people. There were two bishops at the altar and the full abbey choir was present. The bride's dress of ivory satin was trimmed with antique brussels lace and the train was carried by two little maidens. Six bridemaids wore cream oriental satin and silver wreaths covered with tulle veils. Prof. Kerr was groomsman. There was a crowded reception in Old Queen street after the ceremony.

TO DIVIDE CHURCH AND STATE.

PARIS, Oct. 20.—In the chamber of deputies today Ernest Roche [nationalist] introduced a bill providing for the separation of church and state, the abolition of the budget of public worship, and the suppression of the French embassy at the vatican.

Deputy Roche demanded that the chamber declare urgency for the measure, but Premier Combes refused to accept the motion, saying the bill was only intended to embarrass the government.

The chamber rejected the urgency motion by 285 to 179 votes, but ordered an early discussion of the counter proposition referring all bills dealing with the separation of church and state to a special commission, which, M. Lasies [nationalist] said, meant "a funeral for the bills."

ROME, Oct. 20.—Much interest is taken at the vatican in the arrival of Archbishop Chapelle, who is regarded as the leader of the faction of the American Catholics opposed to Archbishop Ireland.

It is understood that Archbishop Chapelle will present to the vatican and propaganda the views of the clergy antagonistic to Archbishop Ireland's attitude in regard to the Philippines.

Karl Unger, Formerly with the Mahdi in the Soudan, Aiding the Enemies of England in East Africa — Mad Mullah Believed to Have Between 30,000 and 40,000 Men — British Troops to Be Rushed from Calcutta and Aden at Once.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, Oct. 20.—The official dispatches relating to the British operations in Somaliland refer to a man named Karl Unger as cooperating with the Mad Mullah. Unger is an ex-officer of the Austrian army, who took service with the Mahdi in the Soudan. Subsequently, in 1897, he came to Europe, where he styled himself as the special envoy and viceroy of Somaliland. He aimed to establish an independent kingdom in that country, and to organize trade with Europe. He was able to equip an armed expedition, which sailed from Fiume, but he could not land. The French consul at Jibutil confiscated the arms of the expedition, and the members dispersed. Unger subsequently was with Osman Digna, the lieutenant of the Mahdi.

Mullah Has Large Army.

It is believed that the Mad Mullah now has between 30,000 and 40,000 men. Col. Swaine's reinforcements do not number more than 4,000.

Mr. Alfred Pease, M. P., and other travelers who have been in Somaliland say that it is now necessary to conquer the whole country, as the Mullah is certain to be reinforced by all the petty sultans. The natives will make even the ports on the coast untenable unless the country is effectively occupied.

British Reverse in Africa.

In the house of commons this afternoon when questioned on the subject of the British reverse in Somaliland, the foreign under secretary, Lord Cranborne, had little to add to the facts already known. He said Gen. Manning arrived at Aden yesterday and that the government placed at his disposal a battalion of Indian troops to aid the protectorate's forces. If these troops were not sufficient others would be forthcoming.

Lord Cranborne said that Col. Swain's retreat would probably necessitate much more prolonged operations and a larger force than anticipated.

TELLS OF AMERICA'S FUTURE.

German Sociologist Explains Race Superiority of United States and Points Out Danger.

BERLIN, Oct. 20.—Prof. Alfred Vierkandt, the sociologist, in an article published in the Zeitschrift fur Social Wissenschaft, upon conditions of race superiority gives a great deal of attention to the United States, where, he says, independence of character and personal initiative are illustrated by colossal enterprises. He finds one reason for the freedom from class and race prejudice which exists in the United States in the fact that the highest careers are possible to the individual low in the social scale if ability is shown. Whether American race superiority can assert itself internationally depends, according to Prof. Vierkandt, upon reconciling a high standard of living with numerous progeny. The professor says there is apparently a tendency which discourages large families because of the standard of comfort required.

UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO PURCHASES 50,000 BUGS.

A collection of 50,000 insects has just been purchased by the department of zoology of the University of Chicago. This great number of what most people would designate as "bugs" was collected from all parts of the world by the late John Akhurst, a noted entomologist of Brooklyn, N. Y.

The collection is unusually valuable on account of its completeness and represents a large amount of careful work extending over many years. The insects are to form the nucleus of a museum which is being established and will be added to as rapidly as is possible.

W. L. Tower of the department of zoology has gone to Brooklyn to superintend the work of packing the specimens for shipment to Chicago.

COEDS WATCHING PARADE. THE DENTAL SCHOOL.

THE MEN STUDENTS

Students from the dental and medical departments of the Northwestern university went from Chicago to Evanston yesterday and marched through the suburban streets in celebration of Dr. James' installation as president of the university. In the evening they paraded with torches and burned purple fire.

TWO CITIES HONOR JAMES

STUDENTS FROM CHICAGO JOIN THOSE IN EVANSTON.

Three Thousand Young Men Parade the Suburban Streets and with Bands and College Yells Contribute to the Enthusiasm of Installation Week—Pass in Review Before the New President—School of Law Is Formally Dedicated.

Both Chicago and Evanston were included in yesterday's ceremonies attending the installation of President James of Northwestern university. In Evanston the celebration lasted from morning until night. In Chicago the new law school building was dedicated in the evening, Oliver Wendell Holmes, recently appointed associate justice of the United States Supreme court, delivering the address.

It was "University day" in the suburb, and it was marked by purple flags and purple fire, parades of almost 3,000 students, addresses by prominent educators, and receptions at the clubs and in the university halls.

The parades formed the spectacular part of the program. At 10 a. m. 2,500 students from the professional schools in Chicago arrived in Evanston. They were met at the Northwestern depot by 500 men students from the College of Liberal Arts and other departments. The entire body, led by Mayor Patton of Evanston, marched to University hall, where President and Mrs. James, members of the faculty, and delegates reviewed the parade.

Band Music Answers Cheers.

Leading each department was a band and the department banner. All of the marchers carried purple flags, and on either side of the line of march the buildings were draped in the university color, and many of them displayed pictures of President James. Class and department cheers were continuous during the parade.

The coeds watched the spectacle from the curbstones. Hundreds of them, bedecked in purple ribbons, many in cap and gown, thronged the line of march and cheered the men, although they were not permitted to march.

President James reviewed the parade from the south entrance to University hall. The students passed the president with heads uncovered, and Dr. James nodded in recognition to each of them.

The parade filed into the First Methodist church, where a student meeting was held. Congressman G. E. Foss presided, and addresses were made by President Cyrus Northrop of the University of Minnesota, President Charles Franklin Thwing of Western Reserve university, President James W. Bashford of Ohio Wesleyan university, Prof. James B. Murphy for the faculties, and Frank F. Mies and Matthew Mills for the students.

Address by Dr. Northrop.

"You medical and law students may not be able to quote largely from the gospel," said Dr. Northrop, "but you can be Christian men and women by applying the precepts of religion in the practice of your professions. You doctors can be sympathetic to the families while you are prescribing for the patients. You can administer love with the medicine. A lawyer can always hold as his guiding principle a regard for truth, and a career based upon these two things cannot fail.

"The next fifty years will be the most tremendous religion, politics, national affairs have ever known. You will have to participate in these affairs, and the characters of the students of today will be felt in solving the problems of the future.

"The rising generations do not know as much about the bible as your fathers and mothers knew. As a rule, you have not read it so carefully and cannot quote from it so extensively. With material progress comes an abandonment of close application to the testaments, but if you cultivate love and truth you can be just as good Christians as your fathers."

President Thwing asked for a unity of purpose between the faculty and the student body, and declared that college men should be able to do hard things. Dr. Bashford recalled the episode of Prof. Charles W. Pearson's defection from the university in pleading for the loyalty of graduates to their alma mater. An overflow meeting was held at Fisk hall.

Regrets from President Remsen.

All of the delegates, over 200, have arrived, except President Ira Remsen of Johns Hopkins university. A telegram announced that he was ill and would not be able to attend.

During the afternoon the university guild held a reception for the delegates in Lunt library, and last evening the Evanston and Evanston Country clubhouses were opened for receptions to President and Mrs. James and as many of the delegates as did not attend the opening of the university building in Chicago. At the same time the students burned red fire, marched in torchlight processions, and filled the air with university and class yells. Later the campus was illuminated and college spirit was voiced there in songs.

Dedicate New Building.

Before the dedicatory exercises of the law school in the old Tremont hotel building Justice Holmes was given a banquet at the University club by the law faculty of the university. After the exercises there was a reception for the distinguished guest, and an inspection by alumni and others of the appointments of the new school.

The dedication took place in Booth hall, a general lecture room named for Henry Booth, first professor of law and dean of Northwestern university. After an invocation by Dr. C. M. Stuart of Garret biblical institute, Judge Oliver H. Horton, representing the trustees of the university, presented to Dean Whigmore of the law school the keys of the rooms, which were accepted amid the applause of the alumni and students.

Welcome for Justice Holmes.

Judge Horton then presented Justice Holmes, and as the son of the great poet and philosopher arose the audience sprang to its feet in welcoming applause that was prolonged for several minutes. Justice Holmes smiled his acknowledgment of the tribute and spoke in part as follows:

"Nature has but one judgment on wrong conduct—if you can call that a judgment which seemingly has no reference to conduct as such—the judgment of death. That is the judgment or the consequence which follows uneconomical expenditure if carried far enough. If you waste too much food you starve, too much fuel you freeze, too much nerve tissue you collapse. And so it might seem that the law of life is the law of the herd; that man should produce food and raiment to the end of time. Yet who does not rebel at that conclusion!

"Accepting the premises, I nevertheless almost am prepared to say that every joy that gives to life its inspiration consists in an excursion toward death, although wisely stopping short of its goal. Art, philosophy, charity, the search for the north pole, the delirium of every great moment in man's experience all alike mean uneconomic expenditure—mean waste—mean a step toward death.

"The justification of art is not that it offers prizes to those who succeed in the economic struggle, to those who in an economic sense have produced the most, and that thus by indirection it increases the supply of wine and oil. The justification is in art itself, whatever its economic effect. It gratifies an appetite which in some noble spirits is stronger than the appetite for food. They hold their own against hunger and thirst; they scorn to be classed as mere indirect supports of our bodily needs, which they defy, and our friends, the economists, would do well to take account of them."

Speaks for Law School.

Referring specially to the department of law in the university, Justice Holmes said:

"It was affirmed, I believe, by a man not without deserved honor in his day and generation, the late Chief Justice Cooley, that the law was and ought to be commonplace. No doubt the remark has its truth. It is better that the law should be commonplace than that it should be eccentric. No doubt, too, in any aspect it would seem commonplace to a mind that understood everything.

"It seems to me that for men as they are the law may keep its everyday character and yet be an object of understanding wonder and a field for the lighting of genius. It is here and in places like it that such wonder is kindled, and that from it may fly the spark that shall set free in some genius his explosive message."

Installation Takes Place Today.

President James will be formally installed today. The ceremonies will be held in the First Methodist church, Evanston, and will begin at 2:30 p. m. The Rev. Stephen M. Merrill, bishop of the Methodist Episcopal church, will make the opening prayer. Judge Horton will deliver the address on behalf of the corporation, and install the president. Dr. James will respond. Dr. Daniel Bonbright will speak for the faculties; the Rev. Frank M. Bristol, pastor of the Metropoltan Methodist church, Washington, D. C., for the alumni; Eddy S. Brandt for the students.

Addresses by Le Baron Russel Briggs, dean of Harvard college; Bradford P. Raymond, president of Wesleyan university; James B. Angell, president of the University of Michigan; Benjamin Ide Wheeler, president of the University of California; and William R. Harper, president of the University of Chicago, will follow. Then President James will deliver his inaugural address. The benediction will be pronounced by Bishop Earl Cranston of the Methodist church.

DUCKED ON A STEAM SHOVEL.

Colored Laborer Almost Drowned in Lake at Foot of Twenty-sixth Street.

After being caught in a steam shovel Robert Simpson, colored, 2805 Armour avenue, was lowered into the lake and narrowly escaped drowning last evening. He was rescued by Joseph Carey, who was working with him at the time on a mud scow at the foot of Twenty-sixth street. Simpson was standing on the shovel, repairing a chain. Through a misunderstanding of signals the shovel was lowered, Simpson being caught by a chain and unable to extricate himself.

STUDENTS IN CLASS WAR.

THREE NORTHWESTERN PROFESSORS CAUGHT IN VORTEX.

Medical and Dental Classmen Revive Old Strife at Evanston and Profs. Webster, Hall, and Prophero Are Shoved About in the Struggle—Battle Renewed at Wells Street Station and Lasts Till Police Charge the Crowd—No Arrests Made.

Long existing rivalry between the medical and dental students of the Northwestern university broke out anew yesterday afternoon and a struggle was started in which 1,000 men participated. Dignified professors were jostled about, women were thrown aside, and scores of blows exchanged which left abrasions and black eyes behind them.

At least three prominent representatives of the opposing schools were knocked about in an undignified manner. They did not succeed in escaping and were found gazing ruefully at each other when the police responded. They were:

Prophero, Prof. George, of the dental faculty.

Starts on Football Field.

The struggle began early in the afternoon after the parade on the streets of Evanston, in which 250 "medics," 600 dental students, and 100 students of the school of pharmacy joined. When the representatives of the three schools entered Sheppard field to witness the football game some of the students, coeds, it is said, raised the cry:

"Charge the medics!"

The struggle which followed was good natured. At the end of the first half the fight was renewed. The field was cleared and charge after charge was made by the dents to secure possession of the skull, the medics' class emblem. Men were knocked down, but still the medics held to the emblem. At last, finding themselves overborne by numbers, they took refuge in a fraternity house.

Struggle in Railway Station.

At 4:30 the "dents" and pharmacists started for Chicago, and eight minutes later the medics followed. Upon their arrival at the Wells street depot they found the "dents" waiting to renew the struggle. Clothing was torn, linen rumpled, and the combatants presented much the aspect of two football elevens in a close struggle.

Slowly the medics fought their way up the stairs to Wells street. They were getting the worst of the struggle when a squad of police, who had been called by the Northwestern station agent, appeared. As the patrolmen charged into the crowd of surging students the latter scattered in every direction. No arrests were made.

TEN MEN FALL INTO RIVER.

Thrasher, Engine, and Crew Break Bridge and Two in Buggy Also Narrowly Escape.

Baraboo, Wis., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—As a thrasher and engine with eight men were crossing the Wisconsin river over the iron bridge at Sauk City this morning, a span 170 feet long gave way and the entire outfit, including the men, went out of sight in twenty feet of water, falling forty feet. How any of them escaped alive is a wonder. Editor C. F. Ninnian of Sauk City Press and Henry Meyer, president of the village, were following the thrasher in a buggy and they, too, went into the water with the wreck. They were the only ones injured. Mr. Ninnian sustained a broken shoulder and Mr. Meyer a fracture of the arm. All the horses were drowned. The bridge was built four years ago.

BOLD ROBBERS TAKE $900.

M. N. MOORE OF APPLETON HELD UP IN EARLY MORNING.

Seen Drawing the Money in a Broker's Office and Followed for Hours—Finally in Fifth Avenue, South of Madison Street, Pushed Into an Alley and Roll Taken—Indiana Banker Is Recovering from Beating Given by Thugs.

M. N. Moore of Appleton, Wis., was held up and robbed of $900 in Fifth avenue, near Madison street, shortly after 10 o'clock last evening. Although a number of people were passing at the time, two men forced Mr. Moore into the alley south of Madison street and while one of them held two revolvers at his head the other ripped open his vest pocket with a knife, and, seizing the roll of bills, ran down the alley and disappeared.

Seen Drawing the Money.

Moore, who has been stopping at the Morrison hotel, noticed a well dressed man apparently watching him in the hotel a few minutes after he drew his money from a broker's office in the afternoon. At 6 o'clock Mr. Moore boarded an Elston avenue car to go to the home of E. J. Sheridan at 1561 Elston avenue, where he took dinner. In the same car was the well dressed man, and when Mr. Moore got off the man followed him.

Shortly after 9 o'clock Mr. Moore started down town, alighting from the car at Fifth avenue. As he reached the mouth of the alley south of Madison street a man who was following shoved him into the alley. Mr. Moore looked up in surprise to see a pair of revolvers pointed at his face by a second robber. In a minute they had cut open Moore's vest, secured the money, and fled.

Intruder Glad to Be Arrested.

Michael Martin entered the residence of Fred Halsey, 6007 La Salle street, early yesterday morning. Half an hour later he was glad to be arrested. Mr. Halsey discovered Martin after the latter had tied all the clothing he could find into a bundle, and, jumping out of a window after the intruder, pursued him down the street.

Halsey's shouts awakened A. A. Bach of 6005 La Salle street, who fired five shots at the fleeing man. This aroused Clarence Weeks, who also lives at 6005. Mr. Weeks is a member of the First infantry, and he joined in the chase with his rifle. The two men found Halsey struggling with the fugitive in the backyard. Martin was overpowered, and then the men took turns guarding the prisoner while the others dressed. Then he was marched to the police station.

Recovering from Attack of Thugs.

E. T. Clark, the Mishawaka (Ind.) banker who was robbed of money, jewelry, and valuable papers early Saturday morning, was reported better at the Saratoga hotel last night. His wife has come to Chicago to care for him and he may be taken home today.

Clark was badly beaten by the thugs who attacked him in the shadow of the Metropolitan "L," and for a time Dr. Tallman said his life was in danger. He was in Chicago on business last week and intended starting for Wisconsin Saturday morning to close a real estate deal. On that account he is said to have had a large sum in non-negotiable commercial paper in his pockets. This the robbers secured, with a valuable watch and $15 in money.

The police arrested the woman who is said to have been in the party that accompanied Clark Friday night, and believe they have all who helped in the holdup. The woman, Aggie Irving, is said to be well known to the police.

Burglars Raid Oak Park Flats.

The apartments of J. A. Sutherland in the "Kenilworth," Pleasant street and Kenilworth avenue, Oak Park, were ransacked yesterday by burglars and several hundred dollars' worth of gold and silver dishes taken.

LONDON BANKERS AFRAID TO LOAN.

British Seem Unwilling to Advance Funds for Use by Americans.

MONEY EASY; STOCKS DULL.

Gates Only Active Figure in Wall Street—Chicago May Call Back Huge Sum.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

New York, Oct. 20.—[Special.]—While it may not so appear on the surface, London's banking attitude toward the United States money and securities market situation is not as reassuring as it might be. There is absence of the extreme willingness to lend money which characterized British lenders three months ago. Not much is heard of it, but the undercurrent indicates a greater degree of scrutiny of finance bills than could be desired. The names of some of the foremost borrowers in this country do not meet with the ready acceptance they did a short time ago.

This information is presented merely for the consideration of those who prefer to be guided by what may be correctly stated as an actual rather than as a presumed situation. The stock market is a nervous indicator of superficial as well as deep conditions, and that which it represents cannot always be told at the moment.

Foreign bills are being renewed, it is said, at a rate of 5¼ to 5½ per cent for ninety days. This seems to be the minimum rate. It probably will have a significant meaning to those who deal in international credits. Foreign exchange firmed up today, with an ease in New York interest rates. There is a ready market at good prices for all bills that are offered, and the slighter ease in money here appears to have operated to advance the price of exchange, just as stiff rates a few days ago were accompanied by an advance.

Banks Advise Conservatism.

Such an irregular movement indicates abnormal conditions and banking interests here, while asserting the demands for money will be met until the return of funds from the west, still advise their friends to be conservative. For this reason certain houses are doing nothing in the stock market.

Finance bills issued by New York banking houses are now estimated to be maturing at the rate of $1,500,000 to $2,000,000 per day. These maturities necessarily call either for renewals or for payment. With London selling stocks and cotton, provision, and grain bills slow payments are in small volume.

British speculators took advantage of the rise in New York securities in the last three or four days to unload heavily. Today London was credited with selling 25,000 shares and taking on practically nothing. These stocks probably would average at least par, so that it means a neat credit balance in favor of the Englishmen.

Money Rules at 6 Per Cent.

Money ruled here today at 6 per cent. There was a reasonably free volume, but outside of the large operations of Mr. Gates and his following, market movements have not been extraordinary. The Gates people were in receipts of a large quantity of funds from the Louisville and Nashville deal, and were able to go into the market at a time when other operators had to hold off. Today only moderate activity was ascribed to this source.

Estimates vary as to the amount of money which Chicago banks will have loaned in Wall street. One interest puts the loans at a high figure, and this suggests how much after all Wall street's present calmness is indebted to out of town banks. Should the west make larger demands these loans would be called and Wall street would again find itself in an openly disturbed and unhappy state.

Additional reports from Iowa confirm the announcement made in these dispatches two weeks ago that there was a great deal of soft corn which would require cattle feeding and rather extensive borrowing by farmers. It is quite certain that Chicago banks will sooner or later perceptibly feel this demand.

More Bonds Are Offered.

The efforts of the bond houses to furnish government bonds to the treasury department have been fully as successful as anticipated. Instead of $15,000,000 only there has been added since last Friday $622,500 to the syndicate's offering. This amount is about what the syndicate people thought was left floating and obtainable by these several houses. But in addition to this total others are offering bonds on the terms proposed by the secretary of the treasury. Altogether the deal has been quite a successful one, and its beneficial effect has been not alone national in character.

Whatever plans the Gould interests may have in mind with reference to the formation of a security holding company will not be consummated until after the legal position of the Northern Securities company shall have been determined. If the Northern Securities proposition be not legal a southern securities company would fare no better before the law, since anti-merger statutes exist in the southern as well as the northern states. Friends of the Gould people say the opinion of the latter at this time is that it would be unwise to build up a corporation only to find its subsequent disintegration legally necessary.

That the Goulds have considered solidifying their properties through a holding company is not a secret, but no date for its bringing out has been determined upon. The question of its organization depends upon the consideration named above.

Think McGann Acted Wisely.

The decision of Controller McGann of Chicago to postpone the sale of $4,000,000 municipal bonds until Dec. 15 is considered here a wise step. Possibly it would have been better to have postponed it thirty days longer. By that time there is no doubt that the money market will have adjusted itself to conditions for the first half of the coming year.

It was reported that a new banking house will be built at 62 and 64 Cedar street for Harvey, Fisk & Sons.

Merely as a matter of gossip it was reported that the Northwestern and St. Paul roads will now seek to recover some of the traffic between St. Paul and Chicago which has been switched to the Burlington. An official of the St. Paul is reported as saying that 55 per cent of this traffic now goes over the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy.

Some western operators who have been trying to follow John W. Gates came in a little late today with orders in the stocks in which Mr. Gates is supposed to be taking profits.

A 10 per cent installment on the Western Maryland deal has been called. H.

AGED WOMAN BADLY INJURED: BLAMES CONDUCTOR OF CAR.

Says She Was Thrown Into the Street After a Transfer Slip Had Been Rejected—Both Her Legs Are Hurt.

Suffering from injuries which she said she received by being pushed from a street car, Mrs. Anna Lidarman, an aged woman living at 101 Newberry avenue, was found by the police at Van Buren and Franklin streets yesterday. Both her legs had been injured, and she was unable to walk.

She told the police she boarded a Blue Island avenue car, 741, and offered the conductor a transfer, which she said he refused to take, declaring it was void. Mrs. Lidarman said she refused to leave the car, and that the conductor seized her under the arms and pushed her into the street.

The attending physician said the injuries sustained by the woman were not serious and she was taken home. No arrests were made.

MINERS DIVIDED ON PEACE OFFER.

Convention Debates Arbitration Plan Which Probably Will Be Adopted.

STEAM MEN BALK ACTION.

All the delegates wore a badge which bore the inscription, "U. M. W. A., delegate to convention, Wilkesbarre, Oct. 20, 1902." The badges seemed to grow more plentiful as the morning wore on, and it was noticed that many were wearing them who were not delegates. There was a great jam at Hotel Hart, President Mitchell's headquarters. The corridors of the hotel and the stairway leading to Mr. Mitchell's room were packed with delegates and visitors to the convention.

Levee in Mitchell's Office.

President Mitchell held a levee in his office. All the prominent workers in the union called to pay their respects. The national president was in the best of humor and had a handshake and pleasant word for all who called.

Owing to pressure of business, President Mitchell did not appear at the morning session of the convention, the national organization being represented by Secretary Wilson and Mrs. East of Indianapolis, the official convention stenographer. There was little for her to do, only the recording of a few motions.

The partial report of the credentials committee took up the first hour, the balance of the time until adjournment at 12 o'clock being taken up with songs by different delegates, all on topics connected with anthracite mining, the struggle for better conditions, the perils of the pit, the power of unionism, or praise of Mitchell.

All were received with vociferous applause.

Business of Afternoon Session.

When the session was resumed at 2 o'clock in the afternoon there were a few cases of disputed credentials, but they were without traction.

The final reports of the three district secretaries, comprising the credentials committee, was called for and they showed a total of 662 delegates present, authorized to cast 887 votes. The proceedings for awhile moved rapidly. Without any speechmaking Mr. Mitchell was elected permanent chairman and National Secretary Treasurer W. B. Wilson was selected as the permanent secretary.

Just as the cheering for the election of the two officials was ended President Mitchell at 2:30 o'clock walked on the stage. The instant the delegates saw him they rose and cheered their leader for several minutes. When the enthusiasm had subsided an outburst of another character was precipitated by the newspaper correspondents.

A motion was made to go into executive session, but before a vote could be taken a petition was presented signed by all the correspondents requesting that they be permitted to remain in order to make an accurate report of the proceedings. The correspondents won, but no sooner had the convention resumed regular business than a delegate rose and objected to the presence of the reporters, if the strikers who are not delegates and who were standing in great numbers in the street could not be admitted.

A debate followed, and suddenly a rush was heard in the upper gallery. Some one had burst open the door from the outside and the theater was soon filled with almost as many union men who were not delegates as there were delegates. Confusion reigned for a time, and President Mitchell, after he had restored quiet, came to the rescue and suggested that the public be permitted to remain until the convention reached such business as would warrant the strikers in closing the doors.

Address of John Mitchell.

This was adopted, and the strike leader began reading his carefully prepared opening address, which follows:

"In opening this convention for the transaction of business, I take pleasure in extending warm greeting and welcome to the accredited representatives of the 150,000 men and boys whose heroic struggle for living wages and American conditions of employment has won the admiration of the whole civilized world. Language is inadequate to express the sense of pride I feel in you and those you represent. Your noble defense of the principles of unionism endears you to every man and every woman in our land who works for a livelihood. When the history of the struggles of toilers shall be written its pages will record no event more important, no principle more ably defended, no battle more bravely fought than the contest which, I earnestly hope, is now about to be happily ended.

"It is not my purpose to review the progress of the strike or even to enumerate the important events which have now passed into history. Imprinted indelibly upon the hearts of our people are the memories of the sufferings and hardships which have been and are being endured. For five long months the eyes of the nation have been centered upon your actions, and it is a pleasure to say that the great heart of the American people throbbed in sympathy with you.

"It is, of course, a source of deep regret that the millions of underpaid workmen of our great cities should be the most acute sufferers by reason of this contest between ourselves and our employers. But, strange as it may appear, hundreds upon hundreds of those who suffered most from lack of fuel sent words of commendation and encouragement to us, and in many instances declared that they would endure any privation in order that the miners and their families might secure a sufficient wage to enable them to enjoy a little happiness and sunshine instead of the gloom and sadness which have been their lot for many years.

"The debt of gratitude we owe our fellow workers in this and other lands, the debt of gratitude we owe a generous public and a friendly press who have supported and sustained us during this memorable strike can never be adequately repaid.

"For our opponents we entertain no feeling of malice. While they have maligned our characters, impugned our motives, and sought the victory by methods which we should scorn to use, yet on this day, when we have secured an avenue of redress, on this day, when the realization of our hopes and ambitions seems near, when the prospect of a brighter and happier future seems assured, we should hold out to them the hand of friendship and ask them to join us in providing for such business relations as shall for all time establish peace and tranquility in the coal fields.

"The day is past when great organizations of capital can maintain the false position that their employés shall be denied the right to organize into compact bodies and speak through the organization of which they are members. We recognize the right of capital to consolidate, to federate, and to speak and act through its organization, but in according these rights and privileges to capital we demand and shall assert the same privileges for those who toil.

"Between the combination of capital on the one hand and the organization of labor on the other there should be and need be no irreconcilable conflict; each is a factor in the economic development of our civilization, and the application in business judgment and plain common sense by each would enable them to work in harmony. While the interests of labor and capital are not by any means identical, they are, nevertheless, reciprocal; each is dependent upon the other, and under our form of government one cannot prosper without the other.

"Abraham Lincoln truly said that 'capital is the fruit of labor and could not exist if labor had not first existed; labor, therefore, deserves the first consideration.' That this fundamental principle will be recognized by the tribunal selected by the president of the United States I have no reason to doubt.

Views on Peace Offer.

"The grave question which you have been called upon to consider today demands and must receive your most careful thought. Personally I should have preferred an adjustment of the difficulties existing in the anthracite field by conference with the anthracite mineowners and without the intervention of agencies not directly involved, but I recognize the fact that relations between ourselves and the operators have become so strained as to render direct negotiation at this time impossible.

"If the consequences of this strike affected only the interests of the operators and mineworkers there would be less reason for the intervention of a third party, but the fact that a coal famine was upon the people of eastern and seaboard states and threatened to become a national calamity justifies the action of the chief executive of our nation in his earnest effort to bring about an early resumption of mining.

Points Out Miners' Gain.

"The proposition submitted for your consideration may have objectionable features, and in its detail may not meet with the unanimous approval of our people, but it is immeasurably better as now presented than when originally offered by the representatives of the coal corporations. I am firm in my conviction that the prompt acceptance of this proposal will secure to the anthracite mineworkers and those dependent upon them a greater measure of justice than they could attain by continuing the conflict. I believe that the prompt acceptance of this proposition will secure to the mineworkers a greater degree of justice than they have enjoyed in the past.

"The people of our country await with anxious expectancy the result of your action today; the eyes of the nation are centered upon you, and friends and foes alike demand the submission of issues involved in this strike to the tribunal nominated by the president of the United States.

Urges Arbitration Plan.

"That there are discordant elements in this convention, that there are dissatisfied ones at home, I am fully aware, but, gentlemen, with all the earnestness of which I am possessed, I urge that you give your approval to the action of your executive officers, who have recommended acceptance of the proposition that the strike be declared off and all men are then to return to work in the positions and working places occupied by them prior to the inauguration of the strike and that all questions at issue be submitted for adjustment to the tribunal selected by the president of the United States."

The address was followed with the closest attention by the delegates. Those who expected him to tell all he knew of the situation with reference to the arbitration committee and the question of having all the men obtain their former positions were disappointed, as he reserved this for his later remarks when the question was actually brought before the delegates.

At various stages of the reading of the address Mr. Mitchell was applauded, but when he urged the delegates to adopt the recommendations of the executive boards to call off the strike, "and all men are then to work in the positions they occupied before the strike was inaugurated," tremendous applause greeted the remark.

Moves Adoption of Plan.

The moment he finished a Wilkesbarre delegate was on his feet and moved that the recommendations contained in President Mitchell's address be adopted. If this had been acted upon at once, the strike would have been off and the convention's work done, but those in opposition would not have it that way. They wanted to and did debate the matter until the adjournment after 5 o'clock.

A Panther Creek engineer was the first to take the floor in opposition to accepting the plan until he and his colleagues had some assurance that they would be reinstated in their old positions. The companies have said, he continued, that they will not dismiss the men now employed by them and place strikers in their positions.

A number of other delegates spoke along the same lines and then more confusion resulted over the presence of persons who were not delegates. One delegate took the ground that many of those in the hall were strangers. "We do not know whether Baer, Olyphant, or John Markle is in the hall ready to vote on the proposition to come before the men," and moved the convention to adjourn.

After some speechmaking, President Mitchell again straightened out matters by requesting all those who did not have credentials to leave the hall. Half of those present retired.

Steam Men Lead Debate.

The question then reverted to the motion to adopt the recommendation of the officers to call off the strike and refer all questions at issue to President Roosevelt's commission. The debate was resumed, the steam men leading, but before the discussion had proceeded many minutes a delegate demanded that the credentials of all those in the building be examined, to see that no one was in the place not entitled to admittance. This was done.

President Mitchell requested the correspondents not to mention the name of any delegate in his report, on the ground that it might injure him in obtaining work.

A dozen speeches were made for and against the question of some specific action for assurance that the men would get back their places if they returned to work. It was argued by one delegate that the calling out of the engineers, firemen, and pumpmen was a mistake, but, as good union men, they obeyed. He wanted the union to stand by those men now, and not turn its back on them. Another delegate from the southern district declared the organization should not send the men back to work until all of them were assured work.

"If we are going to die," he declared, "let us all die together."

Mitchell Speaks Again.

At this point a delegate arose and asked President Mitchell to express his views on the subject. He immediately responded, and made one of the most important addresses he has been called on to make during the last five months. He spoke slowly and clearly, and every word was listened to with great interest, because it was looked upon by the delegates as the real speech of the day. The strike leader spoke as follows:

"Gentlemen of the Convention: I desire to inform you that the president of your organization has done all he can to learn the attitude of the companies towards the men who are now on strike. As you know, the companies refuse direct negotiations with us. Through intermediaries we have received assurances that the companies are going to meet the issues fairly; that they are not disposed to blacklist the men; that they do not propose to be vindictive; that, as far as possible, men are to be returned to their old places. It may take some time before that can be brought about, and it may be that some few men will not be restored to their former positions at all. When you vote on this proposition you must do it with as full knowledge of the situation as I can give you.

Will Fight for All Alike.

"Now let me emphasize this point: That the poorest boy that worked in a breaker is as dear to us as the man who ran the best engine; that while we shall try with all the power we have to get every man that struck back to his old job, we will make special efforts for none and show special favors to none. We want the engineers and the firemen, and the pump men, and the inspectors, and the bosses to go back; but we don't want them to go back one bit more than we want the little breaker boys to go back.

"There was no single class of workmen who went out on a sympathetic strike. Every man who struck, struck for wages; he struck for exactly the same thing the miners and the mine laborers struck for. As far as it is within the power of the union we shall afford protection to every man, union or non-union, who went out on strike with us.

Some May Be Sacrificed.

"But, gentlemen, it may be true that some will be sacrificed, and, much as we shall regret that, I desire to say that no battle was ever fought, no victory was ever won that did not carry with it some victims. Lives have been lost to gain the most brilliant victories that were ever won in the world.

"If it appeals to your judgment to accept the recommendations of your officers, if you decide to defer to the judgment of the president of your country, if you wish to be guided by the advice of your friends all over the land and decide to return to work, the United Mine Workers of America will protect the man who happens to be left out of his job.

"In our pledge to the president of the United States, in which we notified him that we would recommend to you a resumption of work, we said to him that we should recommend a return of our people to their old jobs; and if the coal companies fail to give our men their old places, if they fail to treat them reasonably, we shall carry the question to the tribunal named by the president and ask that tribunal to decide that we are entitled to the work we left when we went on strike.

Thinks All Will Get Work.

"Those are my views. I have no assurance that if you return to work on Wednesday all of you will be given back your old places. I do believe, however, that the coal companies will gradually displace the men who have your jobs and give you your old places again. I dare say that hundreds of the men who were brought here from the cities and from the farms to take your places will return to the cities and farms when you go back.

"I have no doubt at all that before two or three weeks have rolled by there will be no question about the reinstatement of the men. However, remember this, that when your votes are cast I want you to cast them with the full knowledge that some of you may not get your old places back. I dare say the companies are as anxious to have competent engineers, firemen, pump men and inspectors as you are to fill those places, and you know that the men they brought here to take your places are not competent.

"You all know that the men they brought here to take your places are not competent to run the hoisting engines; that the firemen they have brought here have not been successful, and while the companies will not go out before the public and say they will 'sacrifice the men who stood by them,' as they call it, they will in most cases be glad to have their old and competent workmen back."

Explains Status of Plan.

His remarks were greeted with applause. Another delegate made a speech against ending the strike without definite assurance of reinstatement, and Mr. Mitchell was again called upon for an explanation of the status of the arbitration plan. In response to this request he said:

"We have not adpted their proposition as they made it, and the proposition would never, with my consent, have been adopted as they made it. When the coal companies thought to practically name the arbitrators we objected, and secured a modification of their proposal. That modification enabled the president to select men outside of the classes suggested by the operators.

"Organized labor is represented on the commission. I do not, however, assume that either the capitalists or the trade unionists who are on the commission will permit their special interests to influence their judgment in making their decisions; but organized labor is on that commission, and it is there because the president of the United States wanted it there and because we would not agree to the proposition unless it was there."

Then the delegates again took up the debate. Many of the delegates spoke with great earnestness. Three of them were willing to return to work and trust to the union to do justice to them. Another was willing to leave the whole matter in the hands of President Roosevelt's commission, and another said:

"If I can't get my job I can look for another one, therefore let us go to work and give the American people some coal."

The sentiment of the last speaker was loudly applauded.

Finally, after every one appeared wearied with the debate, a motion was passed, on President Mitchell's suggestion, to refer this and all other matters to be brought before the convention to a committee on resolutions, to report tomorrow morning, made up of the following:

District No. 1—P. F. O'Hara, Adam Rascavage, and John L. Jones.

Adjournment was finally made at 5 o'clock until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Committee Decides on Plan.

The resolutions committee met tonight and outlined a set of resolutions to be presented to the convention tomorrow. Nothing official was given out as to what they will contain. It is probable they will recommend the acceptance of the arbitration plan; that all grievances be submitted to the commission; that all men who shall not find immediate employment shall be taken care of by the union until they get positions; and that organized labor throughout the world and other organizations and individuals be thanked for the assistance given the mine workers during their struggle.

WOMAN, HER TWO CHILDREN, AND DOG WHO CAPTURED AN INTRUDER.

If Daniel Sheppard could get his release from the county jail the one place in Chicago he would not go to would be 240 Green street. That is where Mrs. Anna Raynolds lives, and her daughter Agnes, aged 14, and her son Walter, aged 12, and her dog Jack, whose bark is bad but whose bite is worse. The four captured Sheppard yesterday morning at 3 o'clock in their flat, and, with the help of a belated pedestrian, held him until the police came and took him to the Maxwell street station. A few hours later Sheppard found himself on the way to the jail, in default of $5,000 bonds.

Sheppard says he lives at 251 Sangamon street. He has not explained what induced him to visit the Raynolds flat, but Mrs. Raynolds told how he made the visit.

"He cut out a pane of glass and entered through the window," she said. "I didn't hear him, but Jack did, and set up a great barking. I noticed him speaking to the dog, and that it was a strange voice, and while I was wondering what it meant he came up to the sleeping rooms. I got out of bed and asked him who he was, and he told me to light the lamp. When I had done so he said we were all under arrest.

"I took hold of him, and we began scuffling. The children grappled with him, and the dog bit him.

The burglar was getting the best of the struggle, however, when John A. Pohl, who was walking home, passed the house. Mrs. Raynolds cried to him, and he pounced upon Sheppard and held him until the police arrived.

HASTE IN MOLINEUX CASE.

JUSTICE LAMBERT RUSHES MATTERS IN SECOND TRIAL.

Shuts Off All Side Issues and Interrupts Assistant District Attorney's Speculations—Indicates He Will Not Admit Burnet Letters as Evidence—Doctor Who Attended Mrs. Adams Testifies—Harry Cornish Tells Part of His Story on Stand.

New York, Oct. 20.—[Special.]—Under the guidance of Justice John S. Lambert the second trial of Roland B. Molineux, charged with the murder of Mrs. Katherine J. Adams, progressed today with a speed that was fairly bewildering to those who attended the trial of nearly three years ago. In the course of the day the twelfth juror was secured, James W. Osborn made the opening address for the prosecution, one witness was heard in full, and part of the testimony of the most important witness in the case was begun.

These things consumed three days in the first trial. The justice made it clear that he will permit no byplay to the jury on the part of the lawyers in the case.

Court Shuts Off Attorney.

So stern was the attitude of the court that Mr. Osborn during his entire speech today obviously labored under a feeling of restraint. Four times Mr. Osborn was interrupted by the judge without suggestion from the defense. Mr. Osborn wanted to warn the defense that they must produce certain witnesses in New Jersey who have refused to come at the district attorney's bidding. The court would allow him to go no further.

The prosecutor wanted to defend Harry S. Cornish from the charge of lack of wisdom in administering to Mrs. Adams a headache powder he had received anonymously through the mails. But the court would allow him to go no further.

"It would be drawing upon the imagination of the jury," commented the court.

Mr. Osborn made a great deal of the alleged hatred felt by Molineux for Cornish and a man named Harpster. "I will illustrate," he proceeded.

"Never mind illustrating," interrupted Justice Lambert.

The assistant district attorney started to explain a theory as to the efforts of secrecy on the part of the poisoner in the case.

"You can tell the jury," interposed the court, "what you expect to prove and not the deductions you want them to draw."

May Rule Out Barnet Letters.

Reference to the H. C. Barnet letters were not allowed, which is taken to mean the letters will not be admitted.

Dr. Edward F. Hitchcock, who was the first witness in the former trial, was placed upon the stand. He was called to the Adams flat on the morning of Mrs. Adams' death and tasted the poison from which she died. He found Cornish suffering, and he advised Cornish to notify the district attorney and the police.

Cornish and Dr. Hitchcock walked together to the office of an undertaker on the morning the poison was administered, and on the way the doctor told Cornish that this was a "golden opportunity" for him to tell what he knew of the crime.

Ex-Gov. Frank S. Black reiterated this phrase, "golden opportunity," many times in his cross examination. He wanted to know what it meant. Dr. Hitchcock said he meant that he could get the machinery of justice into quick motion.

"But what did you think was particularly golden about your position?" asked Mr. Black.

"Nothing, except that I was on my way to the coroner's office anyway, and could make a better report verbally than over the telephone," was the answer.

It was sought to show by the counsel for the defense that Mrs. Florence J. Rogers, Mrs. Adams' daughter, was more solicitous about Cornish than she was about her mother.

Harry S. Cornish was the second witness. He testified only a few minutes.

New Trial in Carbine Case.

Judge Dunne granted a new trial yesterday in the case brought by the administrators of the estate of Thomas Carbine against the city of Chicago. It is a suit for alleged damages to property in Sixty-third street, said to have been caused by the elevation of the Illinois Central company's tracks. Increase in the Trust Company's Capital Stock Is Explained.

PLAN TOLD IN DETAIL.

Increase in Trust Company's Capital Explained.

John F. Dryden, president of the Prudential Insurance company, and U. H. McCarter, president of the Fidelity Trust company, issued a joint statement this afternoon explaining in detail the reason for the large increase of the capital stock of the Fidelity Trust company, the preliminary arrangements for which were made at a meeting of the stockholders of that company today.

The plan provides that the Fidelity Trust company shall control the Prudential Insurance company, but at the same time the latter interests are to be dominant factors in the trust company. The joint statement of the two presidents says:

"As has been known for several days, the capital of the Fidelity Trust company is about to be increased from $1,500,000 to $3,000,000, the new stock being sold at $750 per share. This will result in giving the Fidelity Trust a capital of $3,000,000, a surplus of $13,000,000, and a considerable amount of undivided profits.

"Sufficient of this stock will be taken by the Prudential Insurance company to give it, together with its present large holding of Fidelity stock, the absolute control of that company. A large portion of the balance of the stock is to be taken by the Equitable Life Assurance company of New York, which will give to that company a substantial interest in the Fidelity company and therefore justify it in materially increasing its business with the Fidelity.

"The bulk of the new money thus to be received by the Fidelity Trust company is to be used by it in the acquisition of a controlling interest in the entire capital stock of the Prudential Insurance company."

Savants Talk of Aboriginal Americans' Work.

Aboriginal Americans were talked about at the first session of the thirteenth meeting of the International Congress of Americanists in the American Museum of Natural History today, and no other topic will occupy the attention of the body during the week. Eighty papers are to be read. It is the first session of the congress in this country, although its work, since its organization at Nancy, France, in 1875, deals exclusively with the study of the first inhabitants of America. More than 400 anthropologists and ethnologists, representing fifteen countries, are in attendance.

The scientists at today's session showed each other that Americans of today have much to learn from the aboriginal inhabitants of these continents, both in house building and in the utilization of natural resources. In fact, it seemed demonstrated that American resourcefulness is not a development of these United States, but is a survival, merely, of an aboriginal trait.

Dr. Stewart Culin of the Archæological insitute of the University of Pennsylvania told of the opportunities he had had to study the interrelation of the peoples of this continent and the peoples of eastern Asia. He said:

"I now feel well assured that in the remote past there have been intimate relations and communication, and that influences and people went from our continent to Asia and the Pacific islands; that influences from our continent affected the systems of culture of the old world, instead of influences for civilization coming from Asia here."

Carroll Beckwith, the artist, and Mrs. Beckwith arrived this morning on the steamship Zeeland. They have been abroad since July 12. Mr. Beckwith said that the only serious work he had done while on the other side was a copy of a Van Dyke, "St. Martin Dividing His Cloak with a Beggar."

Coffee Congress Talks Plans to Improve Quality.

At today's session of the coffee congress, J. A. de Aranjoe Vasconcellos, one of the delegates from Dominica, read a paper in which he advocated a policy of producing only the best grades of coffee in order to solve the problem of overproduction, with an arrangement between nations for the punishment of adulteration and other frauds.

The delegate proposed a scientific system of ascertaining quality, and an international agreement by which there should be a gradation of taxes on coffee exports and imports, with light taxes upon the best grades and duties made proportionately heavier and heavier upon the inferior grades.

The delegate from Porto Rico opposed the general views of the congress in speaking against a movement to do away with duties on coffee by saying:

"To accept in an absolute manner the suggestion of the committee to suppress or decrease the customs duties on coffee would be agreeable to me if it were not opposed to the wishes of the people of Porto Rico, whom I represent at this conference.

"If, as a Porto Rican and subsequently an American, I were to ask that the duties be abolished, I would be putting myself in opposition to the protectionist policy of the United States."

Money Taken by Hotel Clerk Is Returned.

All the money, with the exception of $14, as near as Manager Alonzo Foster can figure out, which Night Clerk Horatio G. Sickel took when he walked out of the New Amsterdam hotel at 3 o'clock Sunday morning, was returned today by the young man's father, W. G. Sickel of Philadelphia. With the money, which amounted to nearly $2,000, a diamond pendant belonging to one of the women guests at the hotel, was also returned.

"This box," Mr. Sickel said, handing over the property, "contains the money which my son took. The box was received late Sunday night by my son's wife, who, with her two children, has been stopping with us in Philadelphia. With the box was this note from my son:

"'I don't know why I took this money, but for God's sake return it to Manager Foster of the New Amsterdam hotel at once.'

"I can't account for my son's act," continued Mr. Sickel, "except that he became suddenly insane."

Now that he has the money, Manager Foster says Sickel will not be prosecuted.

German Demands Redress for Police Brutality.

To the German embassy at Washington a complaint was sent today by Dr. Paul Bronnie, F. R. A. S., editor of the oriental and classical section of the Encyclopedia Britannica, who, as a German citizen, alleges that for no apparent cause he was arrested on Thursday night last as he was about to enter his apartments at 126 University place by Policeman Albert Smith, and that on the way to the station he was brutally assaulted and clubbed by the policeman for no reason.

Dr. Bronnie alleged also that after being detained in the station all night he was discharged on the following morning, and that when he received his valuables from the police he found that $40 and a pair of gold spectacles were missing. He asked that the German ambassador demand redress and vindication for him.

Dr. Bronnie is 35 years of age. He has made two scientific researches on the relationship of Greek and Arabic philosophy for the Imperial Academy of Sciences of Vienna.

LAYS LOSS TO CLOSED BRIDGE.

On the petition of Kate Gaul, who alleged loss of trade because of the closing of the State street bridge, the Chicago Title and Trust company yesterday was appointed receiver for Irwin & Gaul by Judge Kohlsaat.

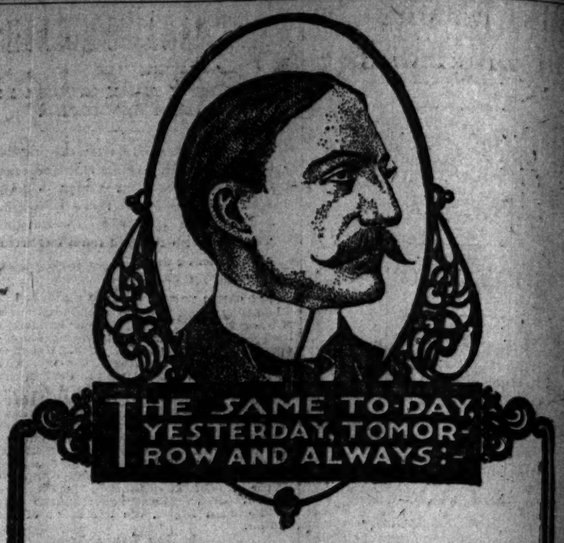

The grocery is at 77 North State street, which is but a few blocks north of the river. Kate Gaul presented a claim for $550 in her application to have the firm adjudged bankrupt.

Judge Kohlsaat also appointed Henry L. Wilson receiver in bankruptcy for the business of James Soenksen, a restaurant keeper at 749 Forty-seventh street. Soenksen had previously filed a petition, in which he scheduled $8,586 liabilities and $4,421 assets.

LAW ON TOWN OFFICES VALID.

Judge Haney Holds Constitutional the Act Permitting Consolidation and Abolishment.

The law giving to the people the power to consolidate town and county offices within the city of Chicago was declared constitutional by Judge Haney in an opinion given yesterday afternoon. The decision was in a case brought by Hugh Norris, former supervisor of the town of South Chicago, to have the courts determine whether he should transfer $24,391, which he held at the time of the expiration of his office, to County Treasurer Raymond or to Michael Schoenwald, who was elected his successor. Judge Haney held that the law was constitutional, and directed Harris to transfer the money to County Treasurer Raymond. The court held that the legislative body which created township offices had the right to transfer the duties of these offices to other persons and officers.

REPRINT RECORD OF KIOLBASSA.

Council Votes to Publish Again City Treasurer's Settlement in 1893.

REPLY TO J. M. HARLAN.

WORK OF THE CITY COUNCIL.

Instructed the committee on local transportation to prepare another street car bill for presentation to the legislature.
Adjourned until Nov. 10.

Politics broke loose in the city council at its meeting last evening. It came up over the settlement which Peter Kiolbassa as treasurer made with the city, and the action of the council in accepting it was ordered published in the official proceedings. This was done as an answer to the statement John M. Harlan has made as to the character of that settlement, and along with it was ordered published the report of the minority of the finance committee asserting that the amount of interest turned over to the city was not sufficient.

Then, on motion of Ald. Ailing, the council adjourned over until Nov. 10 by a unanimous vote, the alderman explaining that there did not seem to be any city work to be done by the council while the members were all anxious to get out in their wards and do political work.

Cullerton Starts the Issue.

Ald. Cullerton brought up the Kiolbassa matter by offering a resolution that the council proceedings of 1901-1902, showing the bargain with Kiolbassa, and the affirmation of the report of the finance committee, whereby $88,901 was accepted as the interest money due the city at the end of his term, be published. This report, the resolution showed, was adopted with only one dissenting vote.

Ald. Blake asked that the resolution be sent to the finance committee, but Ald. Cullerton insisted that the matter ought to be published as an answer to "the statements made by an ex-alderman and a prominent candidate for mayor, who has produced but part of the record in proof of the charges he has made from the stump.

Takes a Fling at Harlan.

"I suppose," continued Ald. Cullerton, "if a spellbinder of what is known as the 'Gray wolf' variety had made these charges no one would have paid any attention to them, but the time has come when speakers of his class must tell the truth occasionally, especially when the credit of the city is at stake."

Ald. Blake objected that there was no sense in republishing matters already in the council proceedings, but Ald. Mayor, to whose committee he had asked to send it, insisted with the remark that it was a matter of small difference, anyhow, as all the resolution asked was the record quoted be published, and "I suppose the city clerk will do it any way, as he is at liberty to publish anything in the proceedings which is presented to this council."

Ald. Patterson tried to shelve the matter by saying that it be placed on file, but it was said it would take a two-thirds vote to do this, and so it was agreed the record should be published.

Ald. Snow asked the minority report of Ald. John O'Neill, in which it was claimed the amount of interest turned over to the city should have been $46,000 instead of $38,-, be published also, and to this Ald. Cullerton said he had no objection.

Revives Railway Commission Bill.

Ald. Raymer had passed a resolution calling on the committee on local transportation to revive the bill drawn by the former railway commission two years ago and taken to Springfield, where it met with small favor in the legislature, and "report the said bill back to this council, with such changes or modifications as may seem to be wise or expedient, and that such report be made to this council before the second meeting in December, to the end that the general assembly of Illinois may again be petitioned by the city council of Chicago to enact the street car legislation that may be deemed necessary to enable the city to deal most advantageously with the problem of local transportation."

This was the bill which, among other things, provided for an enabling act to give the city the right to own and operate the west car lines.

Thanks to Dr. Lorenz.

On motion of Ald. Fowler a resolution thanking Dr. Adolph Lorenz of Vienna for the charitable work he had done among the poor children of the city while here was passed unanimously.

TIMES OF OLD SWITCH FIGHT.

Streets and Alleys West Committee Sends Patrick Hanreddy Case Back to City Council.

The Hanreddy switch track fight is again in the hands of the city council. A majority of the streets and alleys west committee refused to have anything further to do with the sensation producing ordinance yesterday and placed it on file. Ald. Fowler, however, announced that a minority report would be made favoring the passage of the ordinance. This report was presented last night, signed by Ald. Fowler, Leininger, and Patterson.

On the theory that property owners should have more voice in the management of a public street than a corporation which wants to use it, an investigating committee advised that the ordinance be placed on file.

Would Close Hanreddy House.

This committee, consisting of Ald. Connery, Rauch, Smulski, Moertel, and Scully, has investigated the conditions under which the Illinois Steel iron works wishes to build a switch track to the new plant and found, as has been known, that it would entirely close the residence of Patrick Hanreddy at 47 Wabansia avenue, there being switch tracks on three sides now.

"Hanreddy is simply trying to sandbag a corporation," said Ald. Fowler. "He wants an exorbitant price for his land. The company has been willing to purchase for a reasonable figure."

Another switch track ordinance has been introduced and promises a fight. It is to grant the Scully Steel and Iron company the right to lay tracks from between Morgan and Carpenter streets in Carroll avenue to between Ann and Elizabeth streets.

The company has a foundry at Halsted and Fulton streets and has secured an option on a site with 493 feet frontage between Ann and Elizabeth streets. If the switch track privilege can be secured, it was announced to the committee by John B. Scully, treasurer of the company, a $200,000 building will be erected on that site.

To Limit Moving Charges.

Council action against extortionate charges of movers of household goods will be sought in an ordinance to be presented by Ald. Patterson next week.

The city has the right to and does regulate the amount of cab and hack fares. It should now regulate house movers' charges. I have talked with some representatives of the largest concerns in this business and find that they favor a limitation on prices. Advantage is taken of the rush on moving days, principally about the first of each month, by some movers to sandbag the people who usually can least afford to be sandbagged."

Mrs. Lena Kapha Fatally Burned.

Mrs. Lena Kapha was accidentally knocked down by her 3 year old daughter while carrying a lamp at her home, 114 Cleaver street, last night. The lamp was broken and the oil thrown over the woman's garments, igniting and burning her so severely that she will die. Her daughter tried to extinguish the flames and also was badly burned.

DAVID HARUM.

A Comedy in Three Acts,
BY
R. AND M. H. HITCHCOCK.

David Harum	William H. Crane
John Lenox	Earle Ryder
Gen. Wolsey	Frank Burbeck
Chet Timson	Charles Jackson
Dick Larribee	Percy Brooke
Deacon Perkins	Guy Nichols
"Zeke Swinney"	Sheridan Tupper
Amos Elright	Joseph Rawley
Dug Robinson	George F. Devere
Peleg Hopkins	Charles Avery
Bill Montajg	William Dupont
Mary Blake	Perdita Hudspeth
Aunt Polly Bixbee	Kate Meek
Widow Cullom	Lois Francis Clark

Are not we theatergoers of today watching a characterization that is destined to become classic? Will not the David Harum of William H. Crane come in time to be acknowledged as faultless and as inimitable as is today the Rip Van Winkle of Joseph Jefferson? Watching the "banker and horsetrader of Homeville, N. Y." at Powers' last evening, it seemed that he was a figure worthy to stand side by side with the "vagabond of the Catskills," and that a few years will see him so placed.

The same sunny humor, the same strong humanness, the same fidelity to nature that has kept Rip alive for nearly half a century are found in equal measure in David, and it is believed they will prove as vital in the later instance as they have in the earlier. Mr. Crane has expressed his determination, it is said, to lay aside "David Harum" at the end of the present season, but it is doubtful if the public will permit him to abandon it more than temporarily. He has made the part so completely his own, has elaborated his portrayal with so much of fine, significant detail, and has preserved his work so free from every suggestion of the mechanical or the exaggeration that spring from frequent repeating of a rôle, that there is every reason to believe that David will yet come to be associated so closely with his name that he will be unable to drop it entirely from his repertory. And every time he brings it forward its completeness and high artistic worth will be recognized anew, and its establishing as one of the classics of the American stage will draw ever nearer to accomplishment.

And it is worthy of being thus preserved. The character is so essentially American, so typical of that eastern stock from which much of our race has sprung, that it merits all the immortality art can give. It calls for no apologies or excuses, either, for its good attributes are so many, so sterling, so lovable, that any one may with pride and satisfaction claim kinship with it.

Mr. Crane's embodiment of the spirit of the horse trading banker is familiar to the majority of playgoers. It has known no change since it was first offered, save, perhaps, gain in geniality and mellowness. Once seen, it is not to be forgotten, and repeated viewing but brings increase of admiration.

The support is in the main the same as that of last year. Miss Hudspeth, who plays Mary Blake sweetly and with gentle sincerity, is a newcomer in the cast, and Percy Brooke, who makes an entirely satisfactory Dick Larrabee, is also not of last season. The other rôles are in the same hands as heretofore, and only reiteration of the hearty commendation bestowed in the past is possible.

W. L. HUBBARD.

Clever Bit of Acting.

There is a clever bit of emotional acting being done over at the Olympic this week by Valerie Bergere—she who won notice by her work in "Mme. Butterfly" when that dramatic trifle was new.

The playlet now used is entitled "Billie's First Love," is by Grace Griswold, and tells the story of an incident in the lives of two player folk, Billie and Josephine. The married life of the couple is happy, save for the disorder which the wife, busied with her profession, permits to reign in the home. Billie has been married once before, but his wife met death in a shipwreck on her way to Europe, or it is at least believed she did.

A celebrated French actress comes to New York—she is the twin sister of the dead wife, but so closely resembles her that she comes to Billie's home and claims him as her husband. She meets Josephine while Billie is away, and Josephine, believing her husband is lost to her, feigns madness when he returns, and thus leaves the home and sets him free. The impostor then gloats over her "revenge" and confesses who she is. Billie rushes after Josephine, brings her home again, and the intruder departs discomfited.

The play is not only neat in construction but affords Miss Bergere full scope for the display of her powers of rapidly changing from one emotional mood to another. She runs the whole gamut from indolent good humor and playfulness to intense grief and hopefulness, the feigned madness being the culmination of the scene. These extremes, with all their intermediate degrees of emotionality, are handled with a surety and at the same time a deftness that tell of the presence of abilities by no means common. Miss Bergere is assisted by Menifee Johnstone, who plays Billie in manly fashion, and Belle Stoddard, who is satisfactory save for her French accent, which is marvelous in its inaccuracy.

Attractive numbers on the bill are some enjoyable music making on various instruments by Smith and Fuller and some remarkably skillful acrobatic work by the three Joscarys.

New York, Oct. 20.—[Special.]—At the Herald Square theater this evening Martin Harvey, an English actor of recent fame, started the American tour that he has announced every six months during the last three years, and a fair sized audience greeted him cordially.

Three or four years ago Harvey made his first success as an actor-manager with "The Only Way," a dramatization by the Rev. Freeman Wills of "A Tale of Two Cities," and had not that drama been previously placed for America, Mr. Harvey would have come over in it. Since then his new plays all came too near failure for him to risk it before foreigners. So "The Only Way" was used.

There need be no undue excitement attendant upon Mr. Harvey's appearance here, although to those who care for drama entirely in the shadow he will give much pleasure by his performance in Dickens' cheerless tale. In art he is graceful, rather effeminately romantic, always the elocutionist, and always the actor. At no time does he suggest life.

An American Invasion.

New York, Oct. 20.—[Special.]—The sum of human wisdom to be gained from "An American Invasion" is: Don't be snubbed socially, or you'll become a villainess in a play by Mrs. Ryley. At least it is so in India.

It is perhaps the most striking of the defects of this rather effective new play at the Bijou that its pivotal points are feminine jealousy and hatred and duplicity that all but culminate in premeditated theft.

It is possible that Mrs. Ryley's estimate of gentlewomen in India is the same as that with which Mr. Kipling has been charged, and that she could give altogether satisfactory reasons for presenting the characters she presents. But the fact remains that she has, to use a humble figure, fallen between two stools. A realistic and unsparing study of feminine weakness is a good thing in a play, and a plain old fashioned heroine is another good thing, but if you try to join the two you have the virtues of neither—only a melodrama in which the heroine does overtime as a villainess.

This was the part with which Annie Irish labored tonight, and, excellent artist as she has again and again proved herself, she did not succeed in forcing it into any distinct theatrical focus. The play made its strongest appeal as a melodrama.

Private John Allen in New York.

New York, Oct. 20.—[Special.]—"Private John Allen," Lee Arthur's southern play, was presented for the first time in this city in the American theater tonight. The audience seemed to like the drama.

The scenes are laid in Louisiana a few years after the civil war. There is a mixture of politics, love, and orange blossoms. In some places the action is stirring, and there is a great deal of comedy.

Maurice Freeman played John Allen cleverly, and good support was furnished by Jessaline Rodgers as Ruth Blackman. Thomas Reynolds played Philip Stone well, and M. P. Kitts caused laughter as Uncle Si. Lillian Bayer's portrayal of Bessie Stokes, with a full knowledge of the racetrack and the card table, was excellent.

Revive an Old Favorite.

New York, Oct. 20.—[Special.]—That charming romantic comedy of Capt. Marshall's, "His Excellency the Governor," was revived tonight at the Garrick theater. This is the play by which Capt. Marshall first became known in America, and that it has not lost any of its airy Gilbertian charms in the two or three years since its first production is abundant proof that its original success was one of merit.

The players tonight were all new ones in the play so far as New York is concerned, with the exception of Jessie Millward, who played the same part of Stella De Grex at the Empire theater with such success.

Edwin Stevens was the governor, and with Leo Ditrichstein in the part of his secretary, shared in the first honors of the performance. W. H. Thompson left nothing to be desired in his representation of the colonial secretary.

An extraneous interest in this revival is the appearance of the earl of Rosslyn and Beatrice Irwin, whose engagement to marry was announced last week, as stage lovers.

RAID A DETECTIVE MILL.

POLICE ARREST Z. M. SHURTS; FIND QUEER CIRCULARS.

North American Bureau Offers to Make Farmers Into Sherlock Holmeses for a Fee—To Furnish Them with Wonderful Badges and Cards—Free Entrance to Shows and Easy Railroad Passes—Getting Money Under False Pretenses Charged.

DETECTIVES WANTED—RELIABLE PARTIES in all localities [experience unnecessary]; self-addressed envelope for particulars. North American Detective Bureau, Chicago.

When Detectives Wooldridge and Howe went through the effects of the North American Detective bureau, in the Oconto building, last night, to find out just what the foregoing advertisement meant, they discovered a lot of printed matter which answered their questions. They also arrested Z. M. Shurts, the general superintendent, and he will have a chance to state his case in Justice Hall's court this morning. He is charged with obtaining money under false pretenses.

The advertisement was scattered among the rural readers of monthly and weekly publications, and those readers, who wanted to emulate Sherlock Holmes, found out that they could do so for a fee of $3. They could become life members for $5; and they could get a gilt badge, which would let the owner into shows for nothing, by paying $1.

Equipment of the Detectives.

One of the circulars reads as follows:

The price of detective work is from $5 to $10 per day and expenses, which will be paid by us when we send work to any member, but each member may charge whatever price he may deem commensurate for local work taken by himself. Other pay, division of rewards, etc., fully explained in our private instructions to members.

Besides the commission, which is not intended to be carried at all times, a card is also given which should always be carried on the person of the detective, ready for instant use in case of necessity. This card bears his name legibly written and the official seal, and states that he is empowered to act as a member of the North American Detective bureau.

The use of this card saves the detective the trouble of showing his badge or his commission when entering places of public resort or amusement, and is sufficient to entitle him to the trust and confidence of all good citizens and insure to him all the privileges usually accorded the profession. This card is one of the most important things pertaining to the detective who desires to conceal his identity. In that case the card can conveniently be shown to the proprietor or doorkeeper of a place of amusement and admission obtained without his character becoming generally known.

Members will also be furnished with special traveling cards. Railroad officials frequently furnish free transportation to a detective when it is known he is prosecuting his legitimate business. In fact, a recognized and authorized detective is a sort of a privileged character, and is usually permitted to go and come where and when he likes.

Previous Experience Not Required.

"To become a member of this bureau," an explanatory circular reads, "it is not necessary that a man shall have filled any of the offices of a detective. A man may never have had any experience as a detective, and yet possess qualities and abilities to distinguish himself in the profession. As we are anxious to have one or more men in your vicinity immediately, we send you this circular, under seal, as a confidential matter. If you do not desire the appointment we trust you will hand it to some desirable man who is fitted for the position. Do this in the interest of law and order."

Officers Named in Circulars.

President—Morton Shurts.
Secretary—W. R. Voltmer.
General superintendent—Z. M. Shurts.
Assistant superintendent—W. R. Voltmer.
Attorney—E. Erskine McMillan.

HURLS TWO MEN TO DEATH

ST. PAUL PASSENGER TRAIN CRASHES INTO A WAGON.

Teamster and His Companion Thrown Nearly Sixty Feet and Are Killed Instantly—Vehicle Is Demolished and Horse So Badly Injured It Had to Be Shot—Woman Dies from Wounds Received by Being Struck by Grand Trunk Engine.

While driving across the Milwaukee and St. Paul tracks at Hawthorne avenue and Larrabee street yesterday afternoon Michael Gethins, a teamster, and Timothy Lynch were struck by a passenger train and instantly killed.

Both men were hurled nearly sixty feet by the train. The body of Gethins struck a box car and was badly mangled, while the body of Lynch fell on the tracks and did not bear the marks of his injuries. The bodies were removed to Smith's undertaking rooms, 539 Chicago avenue.

There were no gates at the crossing where the accident occurred, but it is said that the watchman in the tower near by rang his bell. However, the men did not appear to hear the warning, and drove almost directly in front of the train. When they recognized their peril they had no time to jump. The wagon was demolished and the horse was so badly injured that it was shot.

Gethins was married and lived at 544 West Erie street. Lynch had no friends that are known to the police, and had lived at the Little Sisters of the Poor on the west side for some years. The coroner will hold an inquest this morning.

CALIFORNIA VENUS IS SLAIN.

Famous Beauty Shot Dead on the Street by Man Who Then Turns Pistol on Himself.

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—Marion Nolan, the beautiful girl who gained national reputation as "the California Venus," was shot dead on Farrell street this evening by Edwin Marschutta, a stenographer, who then committed suicide. Marschutta had been attentive to the girl for some time, and his act was probably due to jealousy. Marion Nolan came into prominence during the California fair as a gayly dressed girl who peddled gum. Her picture was in the papers, and she entered the contest as model for a statue of the California Venus. She won the prize and became the rage in artists' studios as a model. She went on the stage, but it was found she could not act. She attracted Don Fernando Cabrera, a wealthy Spaniard, who made her his wife. After a few months she received a divorce.

WOMEN DIG UP THE HATCHET: CLUB'S PEACE TAKES FLIGHT.

Faction Defending Mrs. Duncanson and Mrs. Clark Will Renew Their Fight at General Meeting Tomorrow.

Members of the Chicago Woman's club who issued the booklet in defense of Mrs. Duncanson and Mrs. Clark, and who claim that the directory arbitrarily unseated the two women after they had been legally elected directors by their respective departments, do not propose to let the fight drop with the mere publication of a protest. It was determined yesterday that the fight would be taken up in earnest at the general business meeting of the club tomorrow afternoon.

"Personalities will be avoided as much as possible," is the statement being passed around by those who propose to bring the issue before the club. "It is a fight for principle rather than for Mrs. Clark and Mrs. Duncanson."

Others declare that personalities have entered into the factional fight as completely as they did into the Wiles controversy. Already the tellers at the election of last year have been openly accused of having "mutilated all the ballots in the counting."

"A number of voters were told to place a cross opposite the name of each director," declare the protesters, "but a number of the voters present at the meeting were given no instructions whatever. The result was that many of the ballots were cast without crosses being placed opposite the names of the directors. These, and fifty-two other ballots with crosses opposite the names of directors, which were overlooked, were not counted in arriving at the result by which two directors were declared elected who had not been elected by their departments. All the ballots were mutilated in the counting."

It was whispered in club circles yesterday that some of the tellers had threatened to bring suit against the signers of the protest.

The principle which the protesters declare they are fighting for is the right of the departments to elect their own directors. The departments nominate and elect, the board then ratifies. The board holds that it has the right to elect when it fails to ratify the nominations of the departments. The question has been submitted to attorneys, but the opinions rendered have been so conflicting they will not be considered in the fight in the club tomorrow.

W. C. T. U. URGES PURITY IN ART.

Portland, Me., Oct. 20.—The National W. C. T. U. convention devoted part of its session today to reports from the superintendents of the several departments.

Mrs. Emilie D. Martin of New York, of the department for the promotion of purity in literature and art, asked for the adoption of the following:

"Resolved, That the innocence of youth, the purity of middle age, and the sanctity of old age are alike shocked and degraded by illustrations of the female figure unclothed upon billboards and in other public places. We will use every proper means, by striving to awaken public sentiment, by appeals to city or state authorities, and by legal means, if need be, to have this menace to public morals and stumbling block to clean manhood and womanhood removed." The resolution was adopted.

Fears Daughter Is a Suicide.

Although she has searched the county morgue and the parks for some trace of her missing daughter, the mother of Salina Peterson, who disappeared from the Northwest Division High school last Friday, has been unable to find any trace of her. Mrs. Peterson returned to her home at 637 North Leavitt street last evening, convinced that her daughter had committed suicide by throwing herself into the lake.

WIFE SAYS THAT CHURCH HAS TAKEN HER HUSBAND.

Mrs. J. A. Congdon Sues for Divorce, Alleging That the Man's Affections and Earnings Go to Religion.

While Anna Congdon has no serious objections to her husband's religious zeal in itself, she does object to his leaving money out of his calculations to the extent of depriving her of a proper abode and sufficient food and clothing. The woman who finds the church her successful rival in her husband's heart was Anna Rowland of Kenosha, Wis., prior to June 29, 1897, when she became Mrs. Jay A. Congdon of Chicago.

Pessimists who find a woeful falling off of religious belief among men receive no sympathy from Mrs. Congdon, whose husband, she says in a bill for divorce filed yesterday, is a "religious zealot." Whether that zeal is exercised in some new cult or is extended in the direction of one of the old churches, the bill does not state, and the attorney who drew it declined to be more specific. It is inferred, however, that Congdon's religious views are not bigoted, as in one place he is alleged to have spent his money for "various religious purposes."

Among the extremes to which her husband's religious zeal has brought her she makes, among others, the following assertions:

"He has pursued his religious passions to such an extreme he deprived her of many of the necessities of life. Because of this she became ill," and then instead of supplying her with those attentions and comforts which she required, she alleges, he "recklessly spent and gave away his earnings and money to various religious purposes." As a final blow to her failing health, she declares she "was compelled to dwell in an unclean and insanitary place."

GIFTS FOR WARSHIP RETURNED.

Contributions Raised for Vessel to Be Called "The American Boy" Are Sent Back to Donors.

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 20.—During the war with Spain W. Raskin Goode, the boy orator of this city, raised over $8,000 by popular subscriptions for a battleship to be called the American Boy. Ex-United State's Attorney John W. Herron, father-in-law of Gov. Gen. Taft of the Philippines, is now returning the money to the subscribers.

CALIBAN CLOSE TO THE RECORD.

Three Year Old Runs Mile and Twenty Yards in 1:40 4-5 at Worth.

Elsie L. Outsprints Federal—Moabina Is First at Good Odds.

While scratching marred the card somewhat at Worth there still was keen competition, and the conditions were favorable enough for Caliban to come close to a world record.

The setting down of three jockeys—two of them among the leading riders at the track—was the cause of considerable talk. Coburn, T. Dean, and Trainor were the boys punished.

It is barely possible Coburn's absence may have affected the result in the first race, which, after several withdrawals, seemed to be at the mercy of Mallory. With Coburn on the ground Mr. McDaniels, the trainer of the Bennett horses, secured Battiste. So well had the latter been riding for the St. Louis plungers that his substitution had little effect on the betting on Mallory, who was a 3 to 5 shot. Mallory ran a queer race, and Battiste is under suspicion in consequence. The favorite could not get up a gallop until the race was hopelessly lost, and then he came through the stretch like a wild horse, and was beaten a length by Gilfain, which turned for home with a lead of half a dozen lengths. Mallory has been an uncertain proposition all summer, and perhaps Battiste was in no way at fault, but there was a general disposition to accuse him of wrongdoing. Trainer McDaniels was dissatisfied with the ride. He said he had instructed Battiste to take Mallory right to the front and stay there.

Buchanan Almost Loses on Moabina.

Duelist, another odds on choice, proved much the best in the second race, a sprint, but the third event, at a mile and a sixteenth, resulted in a great finish among three horses, Moabina, Jack Doyle, and Sarilla. Jack Doyle was the favorite, Sarilla was backed from 15 to 1 to 6 to 1, and Moabina was an outsider. Jockey Buchanan came within an ace of spoiling a well judged ride on Moabina by a mistake at the finish. He rated the mare well to the stretch, where he went to the front, and thinking he had the race in hand eased Moabina up fifty yards from the finish. Here Jack Doyle came strong, and it took Buchanan's hardest work to keep Moabina going long enough to win by a short nose. Sarilla made a belated rush and was only a neck back of the other pair.

Waswift, Old England, Kenilworth, and three others dodged Federal in the seven furlong handicap, and the Hildreth-Saxton horse was a strong favorite. He was beaten by Elsie L. The Tichenor filly had up 102 pounds and she is a speedy trick at this weight. Breaking in front, she led all the way, and in a moderate drive defeated Federal a neck. In doing so she cut the track record from 1:26 1-5 to 1:26 flat.

Caliban Shows a Touch of Quality.

Caliban showed a touch of decided quality in the fifth race by defeating a good field and running a mile and twenty yards in 1:40 4-5, which is four-fifths of a second below the world record, held jointly by Maid Marian and Macy. Maid Marian and Macy were 4 year olds when they made their marks, and carried 106 and 107 respectively. Caliban carried 102, and finished well within himself after trailing until near home. The Conqueror ran through the homestretch with a lead of two lengths, but weakened and was third at the finish, as Homestead, like Caliban, was waited with until near the finish.

In the closing event Frank M., ridden by little Robbins, fought the 1 to 2 favorite, J. V. Kirby, all through the stretch and finally beat him.

Notes of the Tracks.

The Conqueror, Homestead, and Caliban indulged in a bumping match in the last race, but as The Conqueror, which eventually finished third, was the first offender, the judges let the race stand as the horses finished.

Caliban met with more or less interference in his race, and one horseman declared he ran the mile and twenty yards in 1:40 flat or better. By winning the race Caliban becomes ineligible for a race in which he was entered today.

Worth judges would not announce their reasons for suspending Jockeys Coburn, Dean, and Treanor, except that it was for "unsatisfactory riding." It is understood Coburn and Treanor were set down for rough riding. Coburn is accused of fouling McChesney and Caliban in the stake race on Saturday, and Treanor of having fouled Hayward Hunter badly in the last race on that day.

COUP MADE WITH SLIPTHRIFT.

New York, Oct. 20.—[Special.]—Four favorites went down at Morris park this afternoon. Two heavily backed public choices, Cameron and Moon Daisy, belonging to J. G. Follansbee, were left at the post, and W. C. Whitney's Slipthrift displayed such a change in form when he won the fourth event that the faithful talent went home mourning.

Slipthrift, who is trained by John E. Madden, started in the $1,000 handicap at seven furlongs on the Withers course. When the layers quoted 7 to 1 against Slipthrift the commissioners unloaded enough money in the ring to beat the price down to 7 to 2. Cameron, who opened favorite at 7 to 5, but soon went up to 16 to 5, was left standing still, with Lyne in the saddle. The latter apparently had great trouble in making the Meddler colt break, finally getting him under way with a vigorous use of the whip when it was too late.

Slipthrift's time, 1:34, was a new record for the track, the best previous figures being 1:35¼, made last October by Ted Path with 113 pounds.

Moon Daisy, with Redfern up, was an 8 to 5 favorite in the fifth event for maidens 3 year olds at a mile. When the barrier was raised everybody got away except the favorite, who swerved across the track, and then started after her company twenty-five lengths out of it. Moon Daisy overhauled half of her competitors, and came down on the outside like a whirlwind, Redfern simply riding the Star Ruby filly with his hands. Patronymic had a commanding lead at the last sixteenth, so that Moon Daisy could not catch him, and was beaten two lengths in 1:44.

READY FOR MEMPHIS MEET

HARNESS HORSES TO RACE AT TENNESSEE CITY TODAY.

Four Events Feature the Opening Day's Card, the Star Event Being the Magnolia Stake for 2:11 Trotters—Chase and Anzella Are Drawn—Possibilities of Record Breaking Performances Sure to Result in a Large Attendance.

[BY H. T. WHITE.]

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—All the horses that are to take part in the meeting that begins here tomorrow are in town, the last having come today, and everything is in readiness for the opening of the meeting. There are four events on the card for tomorrow, of which the most important is the Magnolia stake for 2:11 trotters. There will be a fair field, although both Chase and Anzella are drawn. There is also a 2:14 trot and a 2:20 pace scheduled for the opening day.

The attendance is certain to be large, as the meeting, by reason of the record breaking that was done on the track last year, has been advertised everywhere, and lovers of harness racing have come from all parts of the country. The local interest, which last year was fair, has increased to such an extent that the management no longer has any doubts as to whether Memphis will support trotting, and as the weather is ideal for racing something record breaking in the matter of attendance is expected.

Not much was done today in the way of fast work, as the majority of the horses arrived by special train from Lexington yesterday afternoon, and were merely jogged. Dan Patch, who is to go against the best pacing record, 1:59¼, was jogged to a wagon, and before the meeting closes may go for the wagon record for pacers, 2:01½.

It is believed by horsemen that the pacing record will be lowered here, and that Cresceus, who has already worked several slow miles over the track and evidently likes the footing, has a good chance at the trotting championship mark, 2:02¼. In addition to these trials there is certain to be one against the two mile record by Onward Silver, and the chances are that Lord Derby will make a similar attempt.

NO CHANCE TO RACE HERMIS.

Eastern Owners of Colt Will Dodge Proposed Match with McChesney.

[BY T. J. GALLAGHER.]

New York, Oct. 20.—[Special.]—Hermis was worked about a mile and a half this afternoon. Jimmy McCormick, who trains him, says the colt has a couple of engagements this week and will start in one. At the close of the Morris Park meeting he will go into winter quarters at Sheepshead Bay. When asked if the owners of McChesney would be accommodated with a race if they brought their horse east McCormick said: "No chance."

This probably puts an end to the possibility of a meeting between McChesney and Hermis. The 3 year old supremacy of 1902 will never be determined. Yesterday Durnell & Herz, the owners of McChesney, got an offer from the manager of the Bennings track at Washington for a race between McChesney and Hermis during the first week of the Bennings meeting, beginning Nov. 10. The westerners promptly replied they would send their colt east if the race could be arranged, but Trainer McCormick's statement indicates that the match is out of the question.

Reiff Fails to Meet Solicitors.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

PARIS, Oct. 20.—Jockey J. Reiff failed to keep his appointment with his solicitors, Kelly & Boddington, today in regard to the withdrawal of his license. It is rumored that Reiff's father, who is in California, proposes to bring an action in behalf of his son, who is a minor. Milton Henry, the other American jockey whose license was withdrawn, has retained Maitre Labori, who defended ex-Capt. Dreyfus and who has appeared for some of the Americans involved in the turf scandals recently, to look after his interests.

Jockey L. Smith in Trouble.

New York, Oct. 20.—[Special.]—The stewards at Morris park have suspended Jockey L. Smith and referred his case to the Jockey club. It is said this action was taken because of Smith's ride on P. J. Dwyer's Merry Acrobat in the Rancho del Paso stakes last Tuesday, when the colt was a favorite and finished fourth.

Many Horses at Latonia.

Cincinnati, O., Oct 20.—[Special.]—Latonia is crowded for stable room, and Secretary Hopper will allow only horses in training to stable at the track.

Virginia, 12; Kentucky, 0.

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—In the hardest gridiron struggle ever seen in Kentucky the University of Virginia football team defeated the Kentucky university eleven here today by a score of 12 to 0. Virginia first scored after five minutes' play, when Council secured the ball on a fumble and ran forty yards for a touchdown. The next touchdown was made near the end of the last half by a tackle back formation, Johnston carrying the ball. Lineup:

Secret Practice at Yale.

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 20.—Yale's football coaches today decided upon secret practice. They regarded the game next Saturday with Syracuse university as probably as hard as any Yale will have this season outside the Harvard contest. There was no scoring before the gates were opened. After the open practice began the varsity ran up two touchdowns in quick order, Wilhelmi scoring them. During the open half the varsity lined up as follows: Left end, Wallace; left tackle, Shevlin; left guard, Brown; center, Holt; right guard, Roerback; right tackle, Hogan; right end, Stillman; quarter back, Rockwell; left half back, Allen; right half back, Wilhelmi; full back, McClintock. Some of the most effective work of the afternoon was done by McClintock. There was a rush of coaches here to whip the eleven in shape for the Syracuse game. Among them were Heffelfinger, George Stillman, Frank Butterworth, "Pa" Corbin, the Rev. Mr. Cutten, and Field Coach Swan.

Tigers Are in Poor Condition.

Princeton, N. J., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—The hard game against Washington and Jefferson on Saturday stiffened up the Tigers so badly that the varsity team today was composed practically of first substitutes, who had to fight hard to get one touchdown against the scrubs. It took the greater part of the first half to get this. Montgomery was again in center, and showed much improvement in his work. He was strong on defensive, several times breaking through his opponent and breaking up the play. He is erratic in his passing, however, and today "Jesse" Riggs drilled them in this point for the greater part of the preliminary practice. Knoll, a post graduate, is a new candidate for center. He weighs about 190 pounds and is fast and aggressive, but lacks a knowledge. The latter part of the practice was a punting duel, in which De Witt gained many yards on Otis, the scrub full back, sending the ball fifty-five and sixty yards on every punt.

Badgers Take a Layoff.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—The Wisconsin varsity took things easy today and did not line up for scrimmage at all. The men, with two exceptions, reported in good shape after the game Saturday. Fogg and Moffatt were not out, but will be on hand tomorrow. The hard work in preparation for Michigan will begin tomorrow and continue until the day before the team leaves for the big game. Beside the practice in the afternoon the men will spend an hour each night at signal practice in the gymnasium. Long and Rempt, who have been out of practice for the last week, will be out again tomorrow. The work until Nov. 1 will be secret.

Notre Dame Team in Good Shape.

Notre Dame, Ind., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—The Notre Dame football squad appeared on Carter field today in almost as good condition as when they left for Toledo to play the Wolverines. It was thought Capt. Salmon after bucking Michigan's heavy line would not be in practice condition, but the sturdy captain was the first to leave the gymnasium for the football field. Kirby, who was on the side lines in the Michigan game, had on his football suit, and Doar and McDermott, the half backs, were also on the line. The practice today was short and light, consisting of catching punts and signal practice.

Gopher Player Badly Injured.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—In Saturday's game against Nebraska, Van Valkenburg, the big half back, received injuries which were more serious than at first thought. Upon examination it was found that two ribs were broken and his hip dislocated. It is doubtful if he will be able to play again for a month, and his absence will materially weaken the Gopher team.

MAROONS AGAIN DEFEAT PURPLE.

CONTEST IS AT EVANSTON.

Two Touchdowns and a Field Kick Made by Stagg's Representatives.

The maroon second football eleven defeated the purple scrubs in a spectacular game on Sheppard field yesterday afternoon by a score of 15 to 5. Chicago scored on a ninety-five yard run by Parry, a twenty yard run on a fluke in the first half, and a goal from the field by Hitchcock in the second half.

The purple's one touchdown was secured by rushing the ball through the line on short gains across the field. The maroons scored first. Early in the first half, when Northwestern was trying to advance the ball from the first kickoff, Hanns fumbled in attempting to pierce the line. Hora secured the ball ten feet from the purple's left end and dashed across the line with it. On the next kickoff Northwestern carried the ball over on straight football tactics. Chicago secured the ball on its fifteen yard line on the next kickoff and Parry was sent through left tackle with it. He got out of the scrimmage without notice and had a start of ten yards and a clear field before his dash was noticed by the purple players.

Northwestern was within five yards of a second touchdown when the whistle ended the first half, but in the second half was entirely outplayed and had no chance of scoring. In this game, played on Sheppard field and witnessed by 3,000 Northwestern students, the purple scrubs used the same play taught to the first team by Sanford, and it netted the usual gains until the men had become exhausted. Once or twice a plunge outside tackle by the full back netted good gains for Northwestern, and Coach Hollister remarked at once: "We should have used that play against Chicago on Saturday."

Chicago was unable to gain through Northwestern's line. Lineup:

Chicago.		Northwestern.
R. E.	J. Harper, L. Harper	St. Clair	L. E.
R. T.	Parry	Campbell	L. T.
R. G.	Buckleigh	Williams	L. G.

L. G.	Tripp	Fleming	R. G.
L. T.	Terry	McPherin	R. T.

Q. B.	Hitchcock	Weese	Q. B.
R. H. B.	Hora, Morrison	Hanns	L. H. B.
L. H. B.	Linton	Blair	R. H. B.
F. B.	Granville	Hanson	F. B.

MAROONS' WORK SUITS STAGG.

A drill in new formations occupied the attention of the maroons yesterday afternoon in their daily practice on Marshall field. The cooler weather made the men go at their task with a vim, and when the players ran off the field Stagg said they had done their work well. Behind the closed gates eight or ten new plays were taught, and though the first attempts were ragged the maroon coach said his protégés had worked with speed and snap.

Of the cripples, Bezdek's condition elicits the most inquiry. Schnur and Jennison are certainly out for several weeks, so the question is, will Bezdek be able to play Saturday? Coach Stagg said last night Bezdek would rest for a day or two, but possibly would be in shape for Saturday. It was learned that Jennison was compelled to retire from the game not because his weak knee had been injured, but on account of a severe "charley-horse."

The spirit of the team is just of the right sort. The men realize they have a hard proposition before them, but they are keyed up to the situation and are going in to fight for all they are worth.

Coach Stagg said yesterday: "It seems to me rather strange that none of the critics of the game Saturday made any comment on Mr. Sanford's coaching his men on the field with a megaphone. This was an innovation in western football. Perhaps it was one of those things the west has yet to learn from the east."

DISCUSS GAME WITH MAROONS.

Illinois Men Figure on Chances of Victory Over Chicago Next Saturday—Varsity Players Rest.

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—There is much enthusiasm at Illinois and everybody is discussing the varsity's prospects of beating the maroons next Saturday. The students are looking for even money, with some takers among the local sporting element. The varsity men who played in Saturday's game were given a rest and were required only to go through a fast signal practice.

The second team and scrubs did the scrimmage work, both scoring a touchdown. In the second team's lineup were many of the first team substitutes. Of the hospital list Trainer Conibear says that Pitts and Huntoon probably will be able to get into the game by Saturday, but Bronson will not be in shape unless his charley horse improves more rapidly than it did last week.

The alumni coaching staff is beginning to come in, Art Hall, captain of the 1900 team, being the first man to report. Hunt, Lonie, and Lowenthal are expected tomorrow from Chicago.

WOLVERINES HAVE AN EASY DAY.

Coach Yost Allows Cripples to Remain Out of the Practice, Which Consists of Signal Work.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—Coach Yost allowed the men who were not feeling up to the top notch a layoff today from football practice. Sweeley, whose condition was far from perfect on Saturday, is still a little stiff, and Lawrence is nursing a charley horse in his leg. Hernstein has a bad swelling on one eye, which is being reduced as rapidly as possible. These men, together with Maddock and Jones, were on the shelf today.

Capt. Weeks assisted Yost in coaching. Weeks' infected leg is improving so rapidly that he may be able to get into the game by Wednesday or Thursday. Rapid signal practice was the order of the day, but the team that Yost shoved up and down the field was considerably altered. Baker was at center, and the Rochester man can now be dropped in at that position, guard, tackle, or full back at a moment's call. Sterry was at end, Palmer at tackle, Cole at half back, and Forrest at full back.

Ohio State university sends word that enough tickets have been sold to insure twenty-three carloads of rooters being brought here for the contest on next Saturday. Tomorrow Yost will start perfecting a defense, which was sadly lacking in the exciting portion of the Notre Dame game.

Play Tie Game at Jacksonville.

Jacksonville, Ill., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—Illinois School for the Deaf and Illinois college played a tie game today, the score being 6 to 6.

Mitchell, 46; Yankton, 0.

BIG TOTAL BY BANGART.

LOCAL BOWLER AVERAGES 240 1-3 IN THE CHICAGO LEAGUE.

Figures Are the Second Best Recorded in a Regular Tournament Series, the High Mark Being Held by Christian Becker of Englewood—Four Thousand Scores Are Made, the Empire Team Leading with Two and Getting an Average of 1,002.

An average of 1002 by the Empire team in the Chicago league and an individual average of 240 1-3 by Capt. George Bangart of the same team were the features of the games rolled in local tournaments last night. The Empire leader scored totals of 235, 217, and 269, getting 25 strikes, 9 spares, 1 break, and no errors. Up till the ninth frame of the last game he had a chance to equal the world's record of 247 1-3, held by Christian Becker of the Englewood league. In this he made a spare instead of a strike. His figures are the best of the year, and the second best ever made in a local league tournament.

The Empires won three games. In the other series the Illinois team shut out the Columbian Knights. Buss of the south side team averaged 224. Four figure scores were made by the Rudolphs in the Metropolitan league and the Vestibules in the Illinois league. Scores:

Receivers for Baltimore Club.

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—The fact that the case of Henry S. Rippel & Co., builders, against the Baltimore Baseball and Athletic company today reached the stage of the appointment of receivers for the baseball company is regarded as an admission that Ban Johnson, president of the American league, has developed his plans for placing a club in New York and abandoning Baltimore. By the decision of Judge Stockbridge today the claim of Rippel & Co. takes precedence of the assignment of the lease of the grounds by the company to Ban Johnson. Whether the courts determine that Johnson or the Baltimore Baseball company controls the grounds matters not in its relationship to the claim of Rippel. It is apparent that had Johnson any idea of using the grounds he would have taken steps to satisfy Rippel & Co.

Burden Helps to Coach Harvard.

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—The Harvard varsity squad of coaches was augmented this afternoon by ex-Capt. Billy Burden of the 1900 team, Bert Waters, and Dudley Dean. Burden devoted his time to the guards, and put them through hard practice in offensive and defensive tactics, while Waters attended to the tackles and Dean to the quarter backs. The varsity men were given a rest today, as the game with West Point and the long trip taxed their energies to the utmost. Dan Konwiton, who is considered first choice for right tackle, was out for the first time in two weeks, and his work was eminently satisfactory. The substitutes lined up against the scrub, and in the last few minutes of the second half scored a touchdown. Beginning tomorrow the practice for the regulars will be longer and harder.

BLACK TEMPLE LOSES TO STIFT.

FIGHT SIX HARD ROUNDS.

Eastern Pugilist Is Knocked Down Three Times in the Fourth Session.

[BY GEORGE SILER.]

Billy Stift surprised local fight followers by defeating the supposedly invincible Larry Temple of New York in the windup before the American Athletic club last night, after six rounds of hard fighting. The fight, as was anticipated, was a hurricane affair from bell tap to bell tap.

Temple, who in his last two visits to Chicago knocked out Jim Driscoll in three rounds and Jack Beausholte in one round, was touted strongly to administer the same kind of knockout drops to Stift. In this he not only failed but was compelled to take the short end of the money after six rounds of terrific fighting. The crowd, which had seen the New York black pulverize both Driscoll and Beausholte, was betting 2 to 1 that Billy would go to the floor for the count before the expiration of the six rounds. Billy, however, never came in contact with the canvas, while Temple paid three visits to the mat, and all of these in the fourth round. The first of these knockdowns came from the effects of a left hand hook on the point of the jaw. When Larry hit the canvas the crowd arose to a man and cheered Stift to the echo. It was a terrific wallop and from the manner in which Temple went down he appeared done for. He struggled to his feet at the count of four, staggered against the ropes, and before he could get his hands up to defend himself he was dropped again with the same kind of a punch. This last blow, like the preceding one, was hard enough to stop almost anyone, but Temple would not down. He arose at the count of five, only to be sent down again, this time bleeding from nose and mouth, and with a lump on his left eye like a doorknob. He grasped the lower rope and gamely pulled himself to his feet.

Stift, with victory in his grasp, sailed in to finish his man. The New Yorker, although practically done for and barely able to stand on his feet, whaled away at the Chicagoan and fought him back with the determination of a bulldog. The local man put in his best licks, but the black stood toe to toe with him and exchanged wallop for wallop. The spectators during this fierce mixing yelled themselves hoarse. Some shouted for Billy to "put him away," while others yelled for Temple to stick to his man.

It was a trying round for Larry, and, despite the fact the local man had him practically beaten, the crowd could not help cheering Temple's gameness.

The black fellow opened the fight in his stereotyped style by rushing after Stift as though to annihilate him in a hurry. His whirlwind charges were stopped short by straight left handers, which connected squarely on his face. Several of these blows were seemingly hard enough to drop the ordinary fighter, but Temple shook his head and bored in for more. Before the round was half over he received enough of these punches to steady him a bit, after which he concluded to wade in by easy stages.

The first round was not any too fierce, and if anything the local man had a shade. They both put more life into their work in the next two rounds, Billy fighting carefully and the more cleverly, while Larry, ever eager and anxious to score a knockout, was always the aggressor. His advances, however, were invariably met with straight left hand jolts or hard rights at the body.

O'Rourke's man landed quite frequently in these rounds, but Stift was too tough a proposition to be toppled over. The Chicagoan's great lead at the end of the fourth round practically settled the contest, as Larry's only chance of turning defeat into victory was by the knockout route. Stift was aware of this, and naturally fought cautiously in the last two rounds, during which he increased his lead, and won an easy victory.

Temple's gameness and his capacity for taking punishment were marvelous, and, although defeated, he was not disgraced, as he gave away pounds of weight to a hard hitting opponent.

Rotchford Defeats Haley.

The semi-windup between Billy Rotchford and Patsy Haley was also a fast battle. The boys were in continuous action during the entire six rounds, at the end of which Rotchford was declared the winner. Patsy put up a game fight, but Billy was too speedy for him and outpointed him quite handily. Only once during the contest did Patsy seem to have a chance, and that was in the fifth round, when he crossed and staggered Rotchford with a right to the jaw. Billy gathered himself together before the end of the session, and at the call of time was as fresh as ever.

The first battle of the evening went to Fred Hogan in the first round by a knockout. This was a continuous performance of hard and fast rallies, in which Hogan's smashes were the most telling, and under the punishment his opponent, Jack Donilson, went down and out. Jim Winnie defeated Jack Youngs in the second round, and Tommy Smith knocked out Jerry Sullivan in the fourth round. Sullivan was game and took a terrible amount of punishment.

Burns Knocks Out Montgomery.

Charlie Burns knocked out Buck Montgomery of the stockyards in the sixth round of their battle last night before the new Garden City Athletic club on Belmont avenue. The men furnished a whirlwind battle. Until the fifth round the fighting was fast, Burns having a shade the better of it. In the fifth Burns rushed after his opponent, and by a succession of stomach punches sent Montgomery to the floor. He managed to last the round out, but when he came up for the sixth was weak. In the preliminaries "Young" Veto won from "Kid" Bass after six rounds, and Johnny Murray was awarded the decision over "Cyclone" Sweeny.

Paine's Celery Compound

It Removes the Germs of Disease, Invigorates and Rejuvenates.

Thousands of men and women who have neglected the work of physical recuperation in the summer months, are now carrying a burden of disease. In the majority of cases impure and poisoned blood and a sluggish circulation are the direct causes of suffering and misery. Are you, dear reader, one of the unhappy victims? If so, the life stream must be made pure, the health-wrecking laxity of the blood vessels must be corrected, the nerves and tissues must be nourished. Paine's Celery Compound is the medicine that physicians recommend for the increase of pure blood in the arteries, and for arousing the purifying organs to cast off the impurities that give rise to disease. Mr. Jas. F. Hudson, Spring Ridge, La., was a terrible sufferer from impure blood; he tells how he banished his troubles:—

"From some cause my blood became impure and resulted in boils and pimples. At one time I suffered from 27 boils. No one can imagine what I suffered. I tried sulphur, sarsaparillas and other remedies, but no relief came. Mr. Sebastian, a merchant whom I used to clerk for, handed me one of your circulars and insisted that I should use Paine's Celery Compound. After using two or three bottles the boils were not so numerous nor as large. After using the fifth bottle I was entirely cured, and have been myself ever since."

I Will Cure You of Rheumatism

Else No Money Is Wanted.

After 2,000 experiments I have learned how to cure rheumatism. Not to turn bony joints into flesh again; that is impossible. But I can cure the disease always, at any stage, and forever.

I ask for no money. Simply write me a postal and I will send you an order on your nearest druggist for six bottles of Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Cure, for every druggist keeps it. Use it for a month and, if it succeeds, the cost is only $5.50. If it fails, I will pay your druggist myself.

I have no samples, because any medicine that can affect Rheumatism quickly must be drugged to the verge of danger. I use no such drugs, and it is folly to take them. You must get the disease out of the blood.

My remedy does that, even in the most difficult, obstinate cases. No matter how impossible this seems to you, I know it and I take the risk.

I have cured tens of thousands of cases in this way, and my records show that 39 out of 40 who get those six bottles pay gladly.

I have learned that people in general are honest with a physician who cures them. That is all I ask. If I fail I don't expect a penny from you.

Simply write me a postal card or letter. I will send you my book about Rheumatism and an order for the medicine. Take it for a month, as it won't harm you anyway.

If it fails it is free, and I leave the decision with you. Address Dr. Shoop, Box 670, Racine, Wis.

President Harper Arraigns Church.

President Harper at the services which began yesterday arraigned the present day church on the charge of ultra-exclusiveness. "The mass of laboring people feel kindly towards Jesus Christ," said Dr. Harper, "but hate the church. We may say that they are not justified in this, but we must, however, admit the fact. The church has also alienated the wealthy class and it is rapidly alienating what may be called the intellectual class. The work and teaching of Jesus were for all classes.

Civil and Religious Life United.

"The mutual influence of religion and government," continued Dr. Harper, "is the great topic of all history of the past. The connection between the development of the theological thought and the development of civil institutions is closer, it seems to me, than is ordinarily appreciated. We may separate religion and the state, but we cannot separate theological and institutional thought, nor religious and civil life. Our Protestantism differs from European Protestantism in considerable measure because our civil institutions differ from those of Europe.

Church Not State's Custodian.

"Until recent times the church, as such, has regarded itself as the state's custodian, although not infrequently the state has assumed the custodianship of the church. Today we are living in respect to this matter in the period of transition.

"We are accustomed to congratulate ourselves that the church and state are yet separate; but in only a small part of Christendom is it true that the church and state are not separated. And in those countries in which separation has taken place we find it difficult to describe the situation definitely. The prevailing attitude of the church, in view of the separation, is, of course, aloofness, and with this there naturally come other attitudes.

Policies Becoming Independent.

"There is no direct method by which the church may direct the policy of nations, control commerce, or regulate universities. Slowly and more rapidly are these things passing out from the hands of the church. And in the nature of things there exists no better reason for the control of universities by the church than for the control of the state by the church. In both cases such control is unnatural, artificial, and injurious. The only power for the determination of a nation or a university must come from within, not from without."

Learned Men at Auditorium.

The banquet at the Auditorium given by the Congregational club was attended by about 900. Addresses were given by Miss Mary E. Woolley, president of Mount Holyoke college, whose subject was "The Power of the Beautiful in Education"; the Rev. Henry C. King, dean of Oberlin college, "Psychology and Life"; and by the Rev. W. D. MacKenzie, pastor of the New England church, "Needed Phases in the Education of the Ministry."

MAN SUPPOSED TO HAVE BEEN MURDERED APPEARS IN COURT.

Pump Alleged to Have Been Victim of Tennessee Youth, Who Was Convicted, Stops Hearing on Appeal.

Knoxville, Tenn., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—Just as the case of Clarence Peake, charged with the murder of Silas Hulin at Clinton, Tenn., was called in the Supreme court here today Hulin entered the courtroom unannounced, and, addressing Chief Justice Beard, said: "I am Silas Hulin."

Peake, who is the son of a prominent farmer, had been sentenced in a lower court to fifteen years in the penitentiary, but is now in the insane asylum near here a raving maniac.

Hulin, who is a tramp, was supposed to have been murdered one year ago by Peake as the result of a barroom brawl near Clinton. The body was buried and scores of witnesses testified in the case, all of them referring to the dead man as Hulin.

The father of Peake heard that Hulin was not dead and employed Deputy Williams to follow up the clew. Williams has traveled all over the southwest looking for Hulin, whom he finally located in St. Clair, Mo. He wrote to Hulin, who walked here, not needing the transportation sent him.

Hulin claims Peake shot another man, whose name is now unknown, and that he (Hulin) escaped on the first train and went to Colorado.

Alixa J. Mueller, "Spiritual Wife" of Ex-Bandit, Blames Persecutors for His Suicide.

Boise, Idaho, Oct. 20.—Alixa J. Mueller, who was engaged to Jim Younger, the ex-bandit and friend to whom the suicide left an affectionate note, has been a resident of this city since last August, when she came here for rest and health. The publicity that her association with the parole of the Younger boys gave her, she said:

"Jim wrote me on Oct. 16, stating he had given up all hope and was out of work. Saturday he telegraphed me: 'Don't write.' He was driven to this act by his persecutors. I and his wife, understand, spiritually. No scandal has ever attached to my name. But thank God he is mine and mine alone. My life work will be to place him right before the world. I have wired the authorities to cremate his body. It was his request."

Disposition of Younger's Body.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 20.—The disposition to be made of the body of Jim Younger, who killed himself yesterday, has not yet been determined. The body has been embalmed and will be kept here until Mrs. Etta Rollins of Dallas, Tex., sister of the Younger brothers, can be heard from.

MAKES PERFECT RIFLE SCORE AT 800 YARDS.

Fred Lee Dehnert.

Corporal Fred Dehnert, company D, First regiment Illinois national guard, made a remarkable score on the rifle range at Camp Logan on Sunday, when he put five bullets through the bull's eye at 800 yards. Unfortunately the record was made in practice and not at an official contest, so that Corporal Dehnert will not have the honor of establishing a new mark for riflemen to endeavor to equal. Members of his company and regiment, however, do not mean to let militiamen forget that one of their comrades made the perfect score. They intend to adorn the wall of the First regiment armory with the score as an incentive to the members of that organization in future.

FORM NEW LABOR PARTY.

PROMOTERS MEET AND PREPARE FOR SPRING CAMPAIGN.

Men Who Have Had Preferment Among Democrats or Republicans to Take a Back Seat in the New Organization—Platform Declares for Initiative and Referendum and Wants Cities Responsible for Acts of Policemen—Cabmen Prepare to Strike.

Labor has organized a political party of its own. It has adopted its platform and selected its officers. Next spring it will put a full municipal ticket in the field.

The organization has been made in secrecy. Its promoters are men not active in the councils of either of the dominant parties. The labor element that has received political preferment in the past is to be barred out. It is to be a party of new men, new ideas, and new systems.

At a secret meeting held a few days ago in the hall of the Retail Clerks' association, 94 Dearborn street, the movement was formally launched. According to the plans formulated at that time, the promoters will try to enlist all the toilers of the city, organized or unorganized. The city is to be arranged in working districts along the lines of the wards and precincts. Labor leaders are to be put on the stump. Union meetings are to be the centers of agitation.

The platform embodies planks demanding the abolition of machine politics and the adoption of the initiative and referendum. It asks for relief from the encroachments of the trusts and from government by injunction. It demands better working conditions and an opportunity for all to work. It wants the state to establish an insurance bureau and the cities to assume responsibility for the acts of its employés, such as the police and judges of petty courts.

It would curtain the power of the banks and would restrict the issue of capital stock and bonds. It would elect the judges of the United States courts by popular vote and would have a majority verdict in all civil trials by jury binding. The closing plank declares that the departure of labor into the political field is due to economic development, which has centered the wealth of the country into the hands of a few men.

Secretary—J. F. O'Neill, Freight Handlers' union.

Treasurer—M. C. Buckley, president South Side Street Car Men's union.

Cab Drivers' Ultimatum Today.

Cab, carriage, and livery drivers of the city will make their last attempt to secure better wages by negotiations when they meet with their employers this afternoon. If they fail a strike will be called and the drivers in 550 stables will stop work, tying up all but the downtown district.

At the conference, which will be attended by representatives of the Liverymen's associations of the city, the union, the National Teamsters' union, and the Chicago Federation of Labor, the employers will receive the ultimatum. They will be asked to pay $14 a week for a maximum day of twelve hours, 25 cents an hour for overtime, and to give the men better working conditions.

The employés of the various wholesale grocery houses of the city returned to work in the morning and submitted their grievances to the arbitration board. All obeyed the command of the Chicago Federation of Labor and in the afternoon its officials had the arbitration board called together. The employers were represented by R. A. Keyes and H. B. Steele, the federation by James Short, and the men by former Judge William Prentiss.

Judge Prentiss informed the board that the men were anxious to have Attorney Clarence Darrow represent them and asked for an adjournment until today. The men will present their claims this afternoon and the firms tomorrow.

During the week the committee appointed by the Chicago Federation of Labor to settle the quarrel of that body with Typographical Union No. 16 will meet a similar committee from the union. Both parties are anxious to have the trouble over.

PLAN TO ORGANIZE THE SENATE.

Young Holdovers and New Members Propose Some Changes in Rules Governing Committees.

Young holdovers and new members of the senate probably will join in a combination to organize that body. Senators Riley of Cook county and O. H. Burnett of Marion had the proposition up at republican state headquarters yesterday with the result that they made a plan for a radical departure from previous rules governing senate committees. It has never been customary for committees to have the records of their proceedings written up and reported. The plan now proposed is that committee clerks shall keep a complete record of proceedings and make them part of the senate journal. In connection with the scheme came a plan to boom Thomas Rinaker of Carlinville for speaker of the lower house.

Recital by Blind Pianist.

Edward Holmes Sickels, an 18 year old lad who lost his sight at the age of 3 years, will give a piano recital at Trinity parish house, Twenty-sixth street and Michigan ave Thursday evening.

WRITES VERSES AND DIES.

JOHN LINDEBERG, 363 N. FRANKLIN STREET, A SUICIDE.

First Pens Some Directions as to a Burial Place, Then Stands on Sea Wall at Foot of Burton Place, Shoots Himself, and Falls Into the Lake—Despondency from Ill Health Supposed to Be Cause—Man Jumps Into River Twice.

After writing some stanzas giving suggestions as to a burial place, John Lindeberg stood on the breakwater at the foot of Burton place yesterday afternoon and fired a bullet into his brain. His body fell into the lake, but the waves washed it up on the beach near Lincoln park and the police removed it to a morgue.

Lindeberg had so arranged his preparations for suicide that there could be no failure. He stood in such a position on the breakwater that had the bullet failed to do its work he would have died from drowning.

The verses that Lindeberg wrote shortly before he died were in the hands of the Larrabee street police last night, but they were written in such a faltering hand that only a few of the lines were decipherable. They are as follows:

Lay me to sleep
Where the willows weep,
Beside the bubbling stream,
Where the birds sing so gay
All the live long day;
And at night when the dew drops gleam
Also the pure white rose in last repose
With a cluster of lilacs so fair.

Lindeberg lived at 363 North Franklin street and had been in ill health for several months. Yesterday morning he left the house to take a walk and did not return at noon. His wife became anxious, and in the afternoon she notified the East Chicago avenue police.

He must have wandered around the streets until 4 o'clock, for he was seen by several persons walking along Burton place at that hour. Several people saw him as he stood on the seawall and shot himself.

Jumps Into the River Twice.

Considerable excitement was caused in the afternoon at the Indiana street bridge by a man who was so insistent on committing suicide that he jumped into the river twice. He was finally led away by two men, who said they were friends of his. The names of the party could not be learned.

Leaves Note Threatening Suicide.

Mrs. Agnes Schuller of 166 Mohawk street has disappeared from home, and it is thought that she has committed suicide. She left a letter addressed to Constable Peter Bretz of 65 Oak street, in which she asks him to care for her little daughter, and intimated that she intended to end her life. Mrs. Schuller was married several months ago to Charles Schuller, who is 72 years old. She is 35, and, it is said, that Schuller's relatives objected to the marriage.

Constable Bretz says that he does not know the woman, and that she only consulted him on Saturday about obtaining a writ of replevin for her furniture, which is in her husband's possession.

The police of the Larrabee street station say that Schuler swore out a warrant for his wife's arrest a few days ago charging her with assault. According to his story his wife tied him to a bed and beat him. Moreover, they say that Schuler believed that his wife had left in company with a man who had called at the house to see her on several occasions.

The coroner's jury, in the inquest over the body of Mrs. Tides Sasseti, who committed suicide by jumping from a third story window at the Augustana hospital, did not censure the hospital authorities, and found that the woman committed suicide while insane.

THREAT TO KILL A MISSIONARY.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—The Rev. George D. Marsh, for thirty years a missionary in Bulgaria, has been threatened with death unless he gives up the sum of $2,400. The demand was made some weeks ago in an anonymous letter, which declared that if he refused his home at Philippopolis would be destroyed by dynamite and his wife killed.

The letter went on to say that if Mr. Marsh ever spoke to any one about this he would be killed.

Notwithstanding these threats, Mr. Marsh communicated with the police of the city, who in turn reported the matter to the Bulgarian authorities. This resulted in the arrest of several persons, and there the matter now rests.

Mr. Marsh also wrote Dr. S. L. Barton, foreign secretary of the American board in Boston. Dr. Barton notified the state department at Washington, and has received a reply to the effect that the Bulgarian government would be asked to look into the matter.

CHEER ROOSEVELT'S NAME

References to Settlement of the Coal Strike and Prevailing Prosperity Carry Men Off Their Feet—Speakers in Meeting at Michigan Avenue and Forty-seventh Street Urge Democrats to Join Republicans, So All Will Be on One Side.

The great gain in the popularity of President Roosevelt, brought about by his part in the settlement of the coal strike, was demonstrated last night at the republican tent meeting at Michigan avenue and Forty-seventh street. Whenever the name of the chief executive was mentioned it was loudly applauded. And when the coal strike was spoken of in connection with the president the cheering was redoubled.

E. C. Lindley made the first reference to President Roosevelt in opening the meeting as permanent chairman. He noted the large attendance and the interest, which was more marked than at the opening of the campaign.

"The apathy complained of earlier has been dissipated," he declared. "President Roosevelt, through his part in bringing about an adjustment of the labor troubles in Pennsylvania, has aroused fresh enthusiasm in politics and in the republican party."

The demonstration that followed was to the president and was unmistakable. Charles E. Fuller of Belvidere, candidate for congress from the Twelfth district, made similar allusions and met with the same marks of approval. At the close of the evening Congressman Mann came to the same topic. He had said there was no real dispute in the campaign and the vote should be made unanimous for the republican nominees. In urging that all should come to one side in the election he spoke of the strike and the president's efforts at its settlement, and the crowd took fire at the word.

Roy O. West explained the work of the board of review. Other speakers were John J. Hanberg, William C. Lawson, A. R. Porter, H. G. Foreman, Edwin K. Walker, William Hale Thompson, and J. P. Garner.

YATES CALLS MERIT LAW MEN.

Commission to Investigate Conditions and Frame Bill to Assemble at Annex Tomorrow.

Gov. Yates yesterday issued a call for a meeting tomorrow of the commission he has appointed to investigate and prepare a state civil service law. The meeting will be at the Auditorium Annex at 10:30, when the governor will introduce James H. Paddock of Springfield as the recorder. He selected Mr. Paddock for that position because, the governor said:

"He is an expert in the comparison of laws and in all matters relating to legislation and to statistics."

It is understood that the commission will organize and map out plans on which to conduct the investigation. The governor said he would have nothing to offer in the way of suggestions as to how the work should be performed. He said he desired the commission to act entirely on its own motion in everything is undertakes. Its report will be incorporated in a message to the general assembly.

Chairman Hopkins of the democratic state committee is not pleased with the commission. He raises no objection to the men named. His complaint is based on the fact that no democrats were put on the commission. Assuming that the law to be enacted will be along nonpartisan lines Mr. Hopkins insists that the governor should have observed this principle in selecting the investigators.

PLEADS FOR CAMPAIGN FUNDS.

Judge Tuley Sends Out a Letter to Members of the Advisory Committee.

Another appeal has gone out for funds to help along the democratic campaign. This time it comes from Judge Tuley, as chairman of the advisory committee, in the shape of a letter "to the members" of that body. Among other things the judge says:

"The election of the democratic county ticket is in the interest of reform in the county offices and of pure politics. The pledges of the candidates for county treasurer and sheriff prevent us from looking to grafters heretofore attached to said offices for campaign money. Money for absolutely necessary expenditures must be raised. The prospect for success of the ticket is bright. We appeal to you to come to the rescue not only as good democrats but as good citizens. Those who responded to our first appeal, except two, sent in their checks for $100 each. Please let us hear from you."

REGISTERS OF VOTERS REVISED.

Revision of the two days' registration leaves the total number of men in Chicago and Cicero entitled to vote on Nov. 4 at 337,342, against 401,392 in 1900. This shows a loss of 64,050. As the police returns for the two days' work gave an aggregate enrollment of 339,338 it will be seen that the revisers cut off 1,996 names. This is the smallest percentage in the history of registration in the city. The largest number of erasures is found, as usual, in the First ward. The clerks there reduced the total by 591. The Seventeenth ward lost 59, the Nineteenth only 32, and the Twenty-first 82.

MILLIONAIRE POLITICIAN HELD ON BRIBERY CHARGE.

Edward Butler Is Accused of Paying $47,500 to Delegates for Votes on the Contract for Lighting St. Louis.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 20.—The millionaire politician, Edward Butler, was indicted by the grand jury this afternoon on the charge of paying to Delegate Charles F. Kelly a $47,500 bribe for members of the house of delegates' combine who passed the ten year city lighting bill, Nov. 28, 1899. The witnesses whose names appear on the back of the information are:

J. K. Murrell, E. E. Murrell, George F. Robertson, Otto Schumacher, John Heims, William M. Tamblyn, Joseph N. Judge, and George F. Mockler.

The last two named are formal witnesses, Judge is clerk of the present house of delegates, and Mockler is secretary of the present council. The other six are members of the combine which included the recipients of the bribe.

Butler was brought to the Four courts by Deputy Sheriff Jerabeck. Attorney Thomas J. Rowe, one of Butler's counsel, accompanied him. Butler was later released on bonds of $20,000, signed by John A. Robb.

Rogers Park Baiters Fight.

The contest of H. W. Phelps and other citizens of Rogers Park with the Chicago Union Traction company for transfers was again brought into court yesterday, when Jed L. Jewel, the Rogers Park newsdealer, commenced suit against the company for $10,000 damages. The suit grows out of an alleged assault upon the plaintiff Aug. 29.

HANNA DECLARES JOHNSON A FAKER.

CITY CAMPAIGN OPENED.

Republican Official Declares Party Has Done Much in Ohio to Reduce Taxation.

Cleveland, O., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—Senator Hanna again tonight paid his respects to Mayor Johnson, denouncing this city's executive as a faker and declaring that the record of Cleveland in taxation is sufficient refutation of the democratic leader's expressed views.

Johnson's best quality, according to the republican chairman, is caring for his own personal financial interests.

The occasion of Senator Hanna's address was the opening of the campaign for the republicans in this city. He spoke at Grays armory before a massmeeting held under the auspices of the Young Republican league, and succeeded in arousing to a high pitch the enthusiasm of the audience which filled the hall. The senator was greeted with applause when he was introduced by the president of the league, and he caught the attention of the assembled voters right at the beginning of his speech.

The senator began by referring to the question of taxation, which Mayor Johnson has made an issue in the campaign. He declared that the republican legislature last winter had reduced taxation in the state $3,000,000 by laws transferring from tangible property that amount of taxes and placing it upon corporations. Yet, he said, that action had been completely nullified in this city and county by the increase in the tax rate fixed by the Johnson administration. He said that he had no faith in the sincerity of Mayor Johnson and characterized that official as a faker.

Johnson's Record Reviewed.

"I commend him for his energy and his ability in developing his property," said the senator. "He made this property valuable and is entitled to great credit, and I admire him for the manner in which he acquired a great fortune.

"But after accumulating this fortune in the street railway business he left the city, and after making enough money in other cities to make him independently rich he came back here and tried to crush out, by misrepresentation and false statements, the same industries that had made for him his fortune.

"He enunciated false statements by attempting to create a prejudice against these corporations, and, through his misrepresentation, to build up his own popularity."

Discusses Local Issues.

The greater part of the senator's speech was devoted to local matters. He did not touch upon national issues save to call upon the voters to give Congressman Burton their earnest support, pointing out to them the necessity of electing a republican house to sustain President Roosevelt and help him to carry out the policies of his administration in the way he had started to do it.

The senator paid a glowing tribute to organized labor, telling what the Civic federation had tried to do toward the adoption of a conciliatory policy to regulate the relations of capital and labor. He closed with a touching reference to the late President McKinley.

SHAW SPEAKS IN INDIANA.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 20.—Leslie M. Shaw, secretary of the treasury, addressed a large and enthusiastic crowd at Tomlinson hall in this city tonight. Secretary Shaw arrived at a late hour this afternoon. He was met at the station by a reception committee, headed by Congressman Jesse Overstreet, and escorted to the Columbia club, where he was entertained at dinner by members of that organization.

A street parade, composed of various republican clubs of the city and county, escorted the speaker to the hall. Hugh H. Hanna presided at the meeting, and introduced Secretary Shaw.

When the speaker advanced to the front of the stage he was greeted with wild cheers. It was several minutes before the secretary could speak. He confined himself to the defense of republican doctrines on the tariff, Philippines, Cuba, and trusts.

BURKE FIGHTS TO HOLD PLACE.

Opens His Campaign for Re-election as Secretary of the Democratic County Committee.

Robert E. Burke has opened his campaign as candidate for reelection as secretary of the democratic county committee which comes into control of the party on the first Monday in December. His headquarters, on the twelfth floor of the Chamber of Commerce building, is the most active political center in the city. He is surrounded by a large force of lieutenants and orderlies, who report to him every day.

An Athlete won on "Strength Food" Grape-Nuts

You want, everybody wants, brain and muscle, wind and stamina, and can get them if fed properly. This is an athletic age. The man or woman who is weak or sickly is not in the race; success socially or in business goes only to the strong and healthy. It is largely a matter of choice with anyone for proper living, and proper food will bring the prize.

An athlete in Chicago tells of the good results he obtained from proper food; he says:—"Last spring I began to train hard to become an athlete in track events and to grow stronger; I now know that what strength and victories I have secured is due to the use of Grape-Nuts. When in training for an athletic meet, I would just live on Grape-Nuts alone for three days before the event was to come off. During this time I have won six championship races out of two athletic meets. In a 300 yard run my time was 35 seconds and in the 75 yard dash the time was 9 seconds, both being a good record.

"Grape-Nuts has given me a stronger mind and also bodily strength which no other food could have done in so short a time. I have gained strength in a most remarkable way since using Grape-Nuts.

"Members of our foot-ball team have a training table on which may be found first of all the 'athlete's favorite food, Grape-Nuts.'" Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Mrs. Anderson, a prominent society woman of Jacksonville, Fla., daughter of Recorder of Deeds, West, who witnessed her signature to the following letter, praises Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I wish women knew the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It is a remarkable medicine, different in action from any I ever knew and thoroughly reliable.

"I have seen cases where women doctored for years without permanent benefit, who were cured in less than three months after taking your Vegetable Compound, while others who were chronic and incurable came out cured, happy and in perfect health after a thorough treatment with this meeicine. I have never used it myself without gaining great benefit. A few doses restores my strength and appetite, and tones up the entire system. Your medicine has been tried and found true, hence I fully endorse it."—MRS. R. A. ANDERSON, 225 Washington-st., Jacksonville, Fla.

Mrs. Reed, 2425 E. Cumberland St., Philadelphia, Pa., says:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I feel it my duty to write and tell you the good I have received from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"I have been a great sufferer with female trouble, trying different doctors and medicines with no benefit. Two years ago I went under an operation, and it left me in a very weak condition. I had stomach trouble, backache, headache, palpitation of the heart, and was very nervous; in fact, I ached all over. I find yours is the only medicine that reaches such troubles, and would cheerfully recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to all suffering women."

When women are troubled with weakness, backache, flatulence, general debility, indigestion and nervous prostration, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such troubles.

The experience and testimony of some of the most noted women of America go to prove, beyond a question, that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will correct all such trouble at once by removing the cause and restoring the organs to a healthy and normal condition. If in doubt, write Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass, as thousands do.

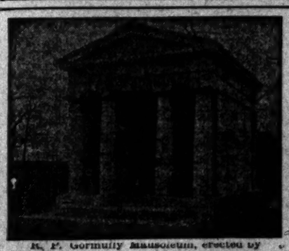

No other medicine in the world has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine has such a record of cures of female troubles. Refuse to buy any substitute.

FRANCE TO LOSE ITS SUGAR TRADE.

Removal of Bounty Will Reduce Sales to Home Consumption.

FOREIGN MARKETS GO.

Thousands Employed in Industry Will Be Idle; Lowering of Prices Also Certain.

WASHINGTON BUREAU CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Washington, D. C., Oct. 20.

Disaster confronts the sugar beet industry of France, half this great industry being doomed. A large number of men will be thrown out of employment by the destruction of this enterprise in which so much capital is invested. There is a strong demand for the abolition of the bounty on sugar in France. Consul Haynes at Rouen has advised the department of state that the law of 1884 permitted the industry to flourish in spite of keen foreign competition. But at present, he adds, this enterprise is threatened.

Disaster Faces France's Beet Sugar Industry.

The International congress held at Brussels, to the terms of which France agreed, will destroy all the benefits of the law of 1884. Foreign markets will be closed to French sugar. The only market will be a home one.

The consumption of sugar in France at present is annually about 450,000 tons. The production, which is more than 1,000,000 tons, must be cut down more than 50 per cent—that is, the land utilized for raising beet roots must be reduced one-half. Sugar producers and manufacturers say the market would be better if the heavy taxes were taken off. If this is done, the buyer, instead of paying $9.65 to $11.38 a hundred pounds, will secure it everywhere for $4.82 to $5.70.

The project presented some time ago by M. Caillaux, which will doubtless be taken up when the chambers reassemble, provides that all bounties, without any distinction, be suppressed; that the manufacture of sugar become the same as that of any other product; that all accessory taxes be abolished; and that the principal tax be reduced from 11.58 cents to 7.72 cents. Few believe, however, that this will be done.

Results of the Last Harvest Are Announced.

An official journal of the French government publishes the results of the sugar harvest, ended Sept. 1, 1902. The number of factories in activity was 332, and they used 20,614,887,837 pounds of beet roots, against 19,218,406,496 pounds for 334 manufactories in 1900-1901. The average for each factory is thus shown to be 62,006,085 pounds, against 57,540,318 pounds for 1900-1901. The total output of refined sugar has been 2,449,564,750 pounds, which is greater by 39,857,082 pounds than that of the immediately preceding harvest. The yield of refined sugar is 11.88 per cent of beet root, against 12.53 per cent in 1900-1901.

Records of Army Trials for Year Are Given Out.

One out of every twenty persons in the military service of the United States was tried for some offense and convicted by court martial in the fiscal year which ended June 30, 1902. This showing is made in the annual report of Brig. Gen. George B. Davis, judge advocate general of the army, just submitted to the secretary of war.

The report is full of interesting statistics as to the conduct of officers and men. The total number of trials by court martial was 8,511, which was 754 less, however, than the number in the preceding year.

Twenty-five officers were tried by general court martial and nine were convicted, the sentences being disapproved in two cases, and six were acquitted.

The enlisted men tried by general court martial number 5,284, of whom 4,854 were convicted. The number of men sentenced to dishonorable discharge was 2,548. Death sentences were imposed on eight enlisted men, four for murder, two for deserting to the enemy, one for desertion, and one for robbery and larceny of arms and attempting to steal ammunition after desertion. Three of the murderers were executed; four of the other convicts were sent to prison for life, and the man convicted of desertion was sent to prison for only three years.

The most numerous offense was desertion, there being 1,081 convictions of this charge.

Another charge that caused numerous trials and convictions was disobedience of orders. There were 845 convictions for absence without leave, 263 for sleeping on posts, and several hundred more for failure to attend drill, quitting post, and quitting guard.

There were only twenty-five convictions for fighting and only six for gambling. On charges of harassing, annoying, and looting natives and citizens there were thirty-eight convictions. Four soldiers were convicted of showing disrespect to the memory of President McKinley.

The figures of convictions on charges involving drunkenness show 411 cases of drunkenness on duty under the thirteenth article of war, 34 of drunk on duty under the sixty-second article of war, 294 of drunk and disorderly, 174 of drunkenness alone, 21 of drunkenness causing arrest by civil authorities, and 26 of drunkenness incapacitating for duty. Twelve enlisted men were convicted of murder, 46 of intent to commit murder, and 9 of manslaughter. There were 477 convictions of larceny and a lesser number of cases involving robbery and larceny and attempts to commit these offenses.

Several hundred cases, mostly of Philippine natives, were tried by military commissions. There were 332 cases of murder and 67 of violation of the laws and usages of war. Death sentences were imposed by military commissions in about 235 cases, nearly all natives of the Philippines, and in 126 cases the offenders were executed.

President Takes a Ride; Shows No Effect of Hurt.

President Roosevelt rode out this afternoon on his favorite saddle horse, accompanied by his orderly, taking his accustomed way over roads little traveled by the general public. When he returned to the temporary White house he leaped from the saddle without showing the slightest sign of fatigue or lameness. This is the president's second horseback ride since the recent trouble with his wounded leg. At 8 o'clock this evening the president walked over to the residence of Secretary of State Hay, where he dined with the secretary and a few friends, the dinner being quite informal.

Postmaster Told to Avoid Politics.

President Roosevelt's recent decree regarding officials of the United States government mixing in politics was brought to bear today upon L. S. Wheeler, postmaster at Springfield, Ill., when First Assistant Postmaster General Wynne informed him that he could not act as chairman at political meetings. Mr. Wheeler wrote to the civil service commission asking if he could act as chairman of political meetings while holding his office of postmaster, and the matter, not coming under the head of that commission, was referred to Mr. Wynne.

The first assistant postmaster general informed Mr. Wheeler that no federal employe was expected to take any active part whatever in a political campaign.

Judge Gray, who was appointed by President Roosevelt a member of the coal strike arbitration commission, called on the president today and took luncheon with him. Judge Gray formally accepted the place on the commission, and discussed with Mr. Roosevelt the work which the arbitrators are about to undertake. President Roosevelt has requested that the commission meet here and organize.

ASKS CANAL SUIT ENDED.

ATTORNEY FOR ILLINOIS MAKES PLEA IN SUPREME COURT.

Failure of the State of Missouri to Prosecute the Case Against the Drainage Board During an Entire Term Is Given as Reason for the Request to Dismiss—Reasons Are Explained at Length in Documents Laid Before High Tribunal.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—In the supreme court today William M. Springer, attorney for Illinois, made a motion for the dismissal of the suit of Missouri to enjoin the discharge of the drainage canal into the Mississippi river. This action was taken because of the failure of Missouri to prosecute its case.

Notice was served on the attorneys for the state of Missouri of the intention of Mr. Springer to take this action. They will have until Nov. 10 to reply to the motion of the respondents, if the court decides to entertain the motion.

If the court grants the motion to dismiss that will end all litigation, and Missouri will have no further right to bring legal action to stop the flow of the drainage canal into the Mississippi.

It would not be surprising if this motion should be granted. There is no disposition on the part of Missouri to push the matter, especially as tests of the samples of water disclose that the water supply of St. Louis is not polluted by the drainage canal.

Reasons for Asking Dismissal.

The motion to dismiss the case was based on the following reasons:

"First—Because it appears from the record of this court that the bill of complaint was filed here on Jan. 22, 1900, nearly two years ago; that proof of service of subpoenas was filed on Jan. 29, 1900; that the demurrer to the bill was argued Nov. 12 and 13, 1900; that the demurrer was overruled on Jan. 28, 1901, and separate answers were filed by the respondents on the same day; that a supplemental bill was filed on May 13, 1901; that a demurrer was filed to the fourth paragraph of the supplemental bill and an answer to the other parts of the said bill on May 13, 1901; that on the same day a replication was filed to the answers to the supplemental bill; and that on May 27, 1901, the demurrer to the fourth paragraph of the supplemental bill was sustained by the court.

Ignore Case for Whole Term.

"Second—Because since May 27, 1901, when the issues were, by the pleadings, joined for trial, an entire term of this court has elapsed, and no effort has been made by the complainant further to prosecute said cause or to sustain its said bill of complaint by testimony of any kind.

"Third—Because the burden of proof is on the complainant to establish by competent evidence the allegations in its bill, which it has wholly failed to do.

"Fourth—Because the pending of said cause is a constant menace to the respondents, and has a tendency to create doubt and mistrust as to the utility and success of the great sanitary canal which they have constructed, and necessarily retards the improvement of the same.

"Fifth—Because respondent, the sanitary district of Chicago, has been subjected to great expense in the preparation for a trial of said cause, and such expense must continue until it is definitely determined whether there is to be a trial of the issues of fact in said cause."

Mr. Springer also submitted a brief in support of the motion to dismiss. It is as follows:

"The failure or refusal of the plaintiff to prosecute his suit within a reasonable time will authorize its termination by the court in which it is brought, upon motion of the defendant and against the will of the plaintiff. The rule applies to every kind of civil proceedings, whether in law or in equity.

"A bill in chancery will be dismissed upon the unexplained default of plaintiff in proceeding further with the cause within a reasonable time. Where the plaintiff failed after the issues were joined to move for a commission to examine the witnesses, the defendant was entitled to a dismissal. At common law a plaintiff may be nonsuited for want of prosecution.

"The complainant may be dismissed for failure of the plaintiff to proceed with the cause after the issues were joined.

"Three months and no more shall be allowed for the taking of testimony after the cause is at issue, unless the court or judge thereof shall, upon special cause, shown by either party, enlarge the time; and no testimony taken after such period shall be allowed to be read in evidence at the hearings, according to rule 69 of the rules of practice for equity courts of the United States. The three months allowed is for the taking of testimony of both plaintiff and defendant.

No Effort to Force Suit.

"The bill of complaint in the case at bar was filed in this court on Jan. 22, 1900, nearly two years ago, and the issues were joined on May 27, 1901. Since that time an entire term of this court has intervened, and no effort has been made by the complainant further to prosecute said cause or to sustain its said bill of complaint by testimony of any kind.

"Counsel for respondents respectfully insist, in view of the facts of record and the law applicable thereto, that their motion to dismiss for want of prosecution should be allowed, and that respondents may go hence with their reasonable costs in this behalf expended."

LORENZ AT SPECIAL CLINIC.

Vienna Expert Will Operate on "Wry Neck" Sufferer at Mercy Hospital and Explain Methods.

Prof. Adolf Lorenz will contribute his part toward the installation ceremonies of President James of Northwestern university this week. This will be in a special clinic tomorrow morning at Mercy hospital, at which the great Vienna surgeon will show Chicago physicians how his treatments are applied to a human deformity to which he has not called attention thus far in his stay in the city.

The case will be one of "wry neck," and the visitor will read a paper on his methods and demonstrate on a patient. Besides this, Prof. Lorenz will confine the work of the week to assisting local physicians, instructing them in private and showing how to handle the various deformities he has made his life study.

Dr. Robert Morris of New York will discuss "Peritoneal Adhesions," performing an operation in this important branch of abdominal surgery. Dr. Norman Bridge of Los Angeles will talk on "Tuberculosis."

NO STAMP ON SALOON BONDS.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—Chief Justice Fuller in the Supreme court today decided that the government tax on a bond executed by a saloonkeeper to a state or municipality under the law requiring such a bond as a condition precedent to the issuance of a license must not be stamped under the war revenue act of 1898. The Supreme court thus reverses the decision of the United States District court for the northern district of Illinois in the case of Peter Ambrosini, who was tried and convicted of refusing to pay the tax. He was fined $25 by the court.

ELECTRIC LINE TO MILWAUKEE.

Kenosha, Wis., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—Volney W. Foster of Chicago has taken up the building of the "missing link" in the electric lines between Chicago and Milwaukee. The agents of Mr. Foster have been busy during the last week securing the right of way from Kenosha to Waukegan along the north shore and have secured the old right of way from Waukegan through Zion City, which was obtained before Zion City was incorporated, up to the state line. The surveyors say the building of the line will begin as soon as the frost is out of the ground in the spring and rushed through to completion.

SYRUP OF FIGS

Syrup of Figs appeals to the cultured and the well-informed and to the healthy, because its component parts are simple and wholesome and because it acts without disturbing the natural functions. It is wholly free from every objectionable quality or substance. In the process of manufacturing figs are used, as they are pleasant to the taste, but the medicinal virtues of Syrup of Figs are obtained from an excellent combination of plants known to be medicinally laxative and to act most beneficially.

TALK OF UNITING SCHOOLS.

Presbyterian Synod Will Discuss Question of Combining Twelve Institutions Under One Head.

During its session at the Hyde Park church the Presbyterian synod of Illinois will consider the question of uniting all the church's denominational schools in the state under one management. At present there are a dozen of these institutions under separate management. Members of the synod who believe the institutions could be conducted more economically will favor a consolidation of them.

The synod will be called to order this evening by the moderator, the Rev. Charles N. Wilder, who will deliver the opening sermon. Tomorrow morning there will be communion services and a business session of the synod. Tomorrow evening will be devoted to addresses on home missions. The business sessions will conclude on Thursday, the evening being devoted to foreign missions.

A number of woman's meetings will be held during the synod. The Hyde Park Methodist church will be open for these sessions, both tomorrow and Thursday.

SEWERAGE SYSTEM: NO CANALS.

The latest developments in the problem of disposing of the sewage of cities were outlined to the members of the Chicago Architectural club at the Art Institute last evening by W. S. MacHarg, consulting engineer for the city's intercepting sewer system. Mr. MacHarg said that the plan known among scientists as the "biological system" had been found to meet the requirements perfectly and had been adopted by eastern municipalities, especially in Massachusetts. The speaker said that the same process could be used with good results in caring for the sewage from detached institutions, such as state asylums, prisons, or country homes. It is automatic and needs no overhauling. He said that he had had a report from a plant installed twelve years ago which was still working perfectly with a minimum amount of attention.

Financiers' Indigestions.

The New York papers report that James R. Keene, the financier, who has been one of the most famous "diners" in that city, has had to give up canvasback and terrapin and come down to lamb chops, well done; spinach, stewed prunes, and a cup of pale tea. His physician has informed him that the chops are nutritious, the spinach strengthening, the prunes medicinal, and the tea digestible. What disturbs Mr. Keene the most, however, is that he must adopt this menu for a steady diet and not depart from it until he is cured, if he ever is. For a dinner party the other evening, at which he was host, he provided all the delicacies of the season, but for himself there were chops, spinach, prunes, and tea. There are no more Lucullus feasts for him. He cannot even indulge in the common people's luxuries, such as New England boiled dinner, pork and beans, salt pork and baked potatoes, or any of those plain, substantial dishes which are so much more enjoyable than the highly spiced viands of the millionaires. But this is one of the penalties nature provides for the multi-millionaire. The common person longs for the millionaire's money. But how many millionaires long for the common person's digestion?

MADDEN AND LORIMER.

There are two general propositions the truth of which sensible men will admit. One is that it is impossible to realize absolute perfection in candidates for congress. The other is that it is not always wise to oppose a candidate for a national office because of the part he may have taken in local politics. The result of the defeat of a particular candidate must be the election of his opponent. It is prudent to consider whether such a result is desirable; whether, on the whole, it will be advantageous to the community. It may be a gratification to a man's feelings for him to strike about in a blind rage and give expression to personal ill will, but that is not the way in which business questions of importance are usually decided, and the choice of representative in congress is essentially a business question.

All things considered, will it be for the interest of this community to defeat Madden and Lorimer and elect their opponents? Merit in political contests is a relative not an absolute question. The issue before the people is not: "Shall we defeat certain candidates for congress," but "which one of two candidates presented to us is worthier of our votes and will be more efficient if elected?" The question is, "Whom shall we elect?" not "Whom shall we defeat?"

It is easy to find fault with Messrs. Madden and Lorimer and imply that they are not the brightest exemplars of civic virtue to be found in the community, but it will be well, before advising the voters of their districts to defeat them, to inquire what will happen if their opponents are elected. We do not believe it will be possible to prevent the election of Mr. Madden; and if it were possible his election ought not to be prevented. He is more nearly a true representative of the business interests of his district than his opponent is. In point of experience Mr. Madden does not suffer by comparison with Mr. Emerich. His standing as a business man is at least as high, his intelligence is as keen, his character is as good, his fund of information is greater, and in ability as a speaker and legislator he is much the superior of Mr. Emerich.

In considering the relative claims of Messrs. Lorimer and Durborow, it is fair to ask what have been the records of both men in congress. Mr. Durborow served two terms. If he made any impression upon the house or upon the country, or if he represented the interests of his constituents more faithfully than Mr. Lorimer did, we have not heard the fact generally asserted. Mr. Durborow is a gentleman of fair ability and good character, and THE TRIBUNE has no disposition to impeach his standing as a citizen in any respect. But he certainly did not make a profound impression in Washington. He was simply a fair, average congressman, not more diligent nor energetic than Mr. Lorimer was, not more aggressive, not more conscientious, and not nearly so influential or successful in looking after the interests of his constituents.

If the democratic candidates in the Madden and Lorimer districts were in all respects equal to the two republicans in fitness they might not be the best men to choose as representatives in congress. Unless it be demonstrated that Emerich and Durborow are decidedly superior men and would be better representatives it would be unwise to give them the preference over Madden and Lorimer. The strong presumption is that the majority in the next house of representatives will be republican. Hence a republican in congress will be more influential and will accomplish more than a democrat will. Even if the house should be democratic the senate and national administration will remain republican and a democrat in the lower house will cut a small figure as compared with a republican of experience and party standing. Mr. Emerich, if he should be elected in place of Mr. Madden, would be specially at a disadvantage, because as a new congressman he would have no standing even in his own party. He would be heard of about as much as McAndrews, or Foster, or Mahony, or Feely has been in the present congress. Senator Morgan of Alabama has said it would be a misfortune to the democratic party to be in a majority in the next house of representatives. The senator does not believe that his party wishes to be a clog upon the government or to assume a divided responsibility. It could not do much else if it had a majority in the house while the republicans retained the senate and the executive.

If the people of the Madden and Lorimer districts wish to send to congress men who will represent them worthily and be influential in the lower house they will send Madden and Lorimer there. If they wish to have representatives who will be, comparatively speaking, insignificant in the house and will be able to do nothing for them, they will send there Messrs. Emerich and Durborow. It will be well to remember that when the people of Oak Park wished to have something done for them they had to send for Mr. Lorimer to do it, although he was not at that time in congress. It will be the same again if Emerich and Durborow are elected. The people will have to call on Madden and Lorimer if they wish to accomplish anything in the house.

FOUR ODIOUS MONOPOLIES.

The anthracite coal trust stands alone among American monopolies in that it controls not merely production but transportation, distribution, and sale. The trust mines most of the anthracite. It transports all that is mined, and charges disproportionately high freight rates for railroad services. It determines where and in what quantities hard coal shall be shipped and the prices which wholesalers and retailers shall pay for it and shall ask consumers for it. Some men sitting in an office building in New York fix the price which the Chicago coal dealer shall charge his customers, and he dare not disobey his orders. The coal trust retains control of its product from the time it is mined until it has actually been delivered to the consumer. No monopoly can be more complete, unlawful, and more intolerable.

The completeness of the grip of the trust on a great industry makes it the object of the envy of other combines. There are other trusts, however, which are not far behind the coal trust as regards the ability to dictate terms to the consumers of two products, one consumed by all, the other used in immense quantities by the farmers. The products are sugar and barbed wire.

The sugar trust has not the monopoly of production possessed by the coal trust, but it makes so large a percentage of the refined sugar consumed in the country that it controls the market. It has had competitors, but it has crushed some, has bought up others, and has made treaties of peace with still others. It has no direct monopoly of transportation. It does not own a single railroad. But it is suspected, not without cause, that it exerts the same powerful control over transportation that it is well known the Standard Oil company did. It is suspected that the sugar trust has preferential secret rates which give it the advantage over competitors, and which serve to hide its profits.

There is no uncertainty as regards the mastery of the sugar trust over distribution and sale. It determines where sugar shall go and to whom. It dictates to the men to whom it sells the price which they shall ask of their customers. They are not independent dealers, free to buy where they will and dispose of their goods as they see fit. They are merely the agents of a trust, and are punished if they disobey its orders. The coal trust is powerful within a limited area. The sugar trust rules from Maine to Arizona, from Oregon to Florida.

The city dwellers know little and care less about the barbed wire trust. It does not directly affect them. It is different with the farmers. They know there is such a trust and they resent its exactions. It is a trust which, as Gov. Cummins says, "has not a particle of competition." It makes most of the barbed wire which is made. It makes so much that it is an object for railroads to have its business. It is not unreasonable to suppose that the trust has its special arrangements for freight rates lower than those charged its rivals. That the trust has a monopoly of distribution and sale is unquestionable. As Gov. Cummins says, "it "fixes not only the price the dealer must pay "but the retail price he sells it for as well. "Firms have been refused barbed wire by "the trust merely because they dealt in "other articles bought from independent "steel companies, and they were forced to "surrender." This is the despotism which American citizens have submitted to with unexampled patience for an astonishing length of time.

The tobacco trust is striving to attain the same measure of monopoly enjoyed by the two trusts last mentioned. It has much power, but it seeks to get more. Its invasion of England was a failure. It failed to conquer that country, but it hopes to subjugate entirely the United States. It is scheming to make the wholesalers and retailers its servants, and thus to monopolize distribution and sale.

During the last few months popular attention has been almost exclusively absorbed by the coal trust. It has been the one which all were anxious to strike down. But in the pursuit of this conspicuous offender other offenders must not be overlooked. Sugar, barbed wire, and tobacco are as much necessaries of life as hard coal is. Each of these products is controlled by a monopoly whose illegal power must be broken, or government by trusts will take the place of government by the people.

EDUCATION IN AMERICA.

The report of the commissioner of education does not cry "peace, peace" when peace has not yet been accomplished. It admits the fact that the struggle toward a complete education for the citizens of the United States is still in progress. It does not hesitate to make the statement, however, that there is good reason for believing that the struggle in question will terminate successfully.

The number of pupils enrolled in all the educational institutions of the country, public and private, primary, secondary, and higher, was 17,299,000 for the year ending on June 30, 1901. This was an increase over the previous year of 278,000. In point of expenditure a comparison with 1870 is even more gratifying. In 1870 the expenditure for schools per capita was $1.64. In 1901 it was $2.93. It is evident that the people of the United States have not lost their belief in education as the social panacea.

Of course, the main difficulty now is that while the overwhelming majority of children get some kind of schooling, too many of them get it in insufficient quantities. They go to school, but they don't go enough. They leave in large numbers at the end of their fourth year. It is well that they do not leave earlier. It would be better if they left later. Four years of schooling does not equip the boy for his future duties as a citizen.

It is this half education with its consequence of half understanding that President Eliot must blame for certain unfortunate conditions in American life. President Eliot will notice, however, that little by little, or even much by much, the people of the United States are providing themselves with an educational machinery which in most respects will be inferior to none in the world. If money and enthusiasm can do anything we shall some day have a completely educated America.

THE ENGLEWOOD CANDIDATE.

In writing last Saturday of the republican congressional candidates in this county THE TRIBUNE overlooked Mr. William W. Wilson, the nominee in the Third district. The omission was unintentional, and it is not too late to rectify it.

The Third, or Englewood, district has a fine constituency, which is deserving of a good representative. The republicans of the district believe they have found one in Mr. Wilson. He is not so well known as the candidates in other districts. That is due partly to his youth, for he is but 34, and partly to the fact that he has devoted himself thus far to his profession—the law—rather than to politics. He is well trained in his profession. He is young and ambitious, and the friends to whom he owes his nomination say confidently that he will make a good record in congress if he gets there.

That he will get there hardly admits of doubt. The district is nominally republican. It gave McKinley 5,000 majority two years ago. The republican vote is growing more rapidly than the democratic vote, and this year's registration decidedly favors the republicans. Mr. Wilson's opponent is an estimable man, not well known nor remarkable for sound judgment, whom the democrats did not expect to elect when they nominated him. The Third district may be relied on to send to Washington a representative whose native ability, aided by the advice he will receive from experienced colleagues, soon will make him a useful member.

THE LEGISLATIVE CANDIDATES.

The Legislative Voters' league has investigated the records of the men who are seeking for seats in the next general assembly from Cook county districts, and now lays before the public the information it has collected.

The men who have undertaken this task have had no personal interests to serve. They have been actuated by a wish to secure better representatives in the state legislature, so that the delegation from Cook may exert there the influence that rightfully belongs to the county. With this praiseworthy object in view and without partiality or bias, and quite uninfluenced by political considerations, the league has made its investigations and recommendations. We have absolute confidence in the integrity and good intentions of the Legislative Voters' league and believe it has made few if any mistakes.

Before the party conventions were held the league looked into the records of candidates for nominations and advised the rejection of many among them. To a certain extent its advice was heeded by the voters at the primaries or by the party leaders. But many objectionable men appear on the legislative tickets—some of them republicans and some democrats. It is the duty of the voters to keep the objectionable men in private life, no matter what their party affiliations may be. If the wishes and duty of the voters coincide they will govern themselves by the advice of the Legislative Voters' league, reject those whom it brands as unworthy and make selections from among those whom it considers deserving of public confidence. The league is a trustworthy adviser. It falls into few mistakes. It has made a closer study of the subject than the average voter can give to it and has better opportunities of coming to correct conclusions. It is generally safe to follow the counsel of the league.

Unlucky.

Seeing a ladder leaning against the house he was passing, he went out of his way and walked under it, to show his contempt for an old superstition.

In doing so he brushed against the ladder and it loosened a half gallon can of black paint that was insecurely fastened to the top. It fell down on him.

He never walks under ladders now. He thinks there is something in it.

Praiseworthy Effort.

"What on earth are you doing in here, Tommy?" asked his mother, peering into the darkness of the henhouse, whence had been coming for five minutes or more a series of dismal squawkings, accompanied by a loud flapping if wings.

"I am trying," said Tommy, who seemed to be doing something with a knotted rope, "to fix this rooster so his alarm won't go off before 7 o'clock tomorrow morning."

Couldn't Break the Package.

"You bought fifty pounds of butter for your boy? What possible use can he make of it?"

"Well, he thought he wanted it, and I had to take it in a lump or go without. It's a goat."

Now, Methuselah, during the latter years of his long life, suffered grievously from rheumatism, but, with the obstinacy that was a part of his nature, refused to do anything for it. He said he could stand it as long as the rheumatism could.

"Granddad," he said, "here is something that will relieve you. I've seen a string of testimonals a yard long from persons it has cured."

"Just as I expected," retorted the other, thoroughly out of patience. "There is no fool like an old fool."

"I suppose that's so," said Methuselah, wearily. "I've been hearing it for the last 800 years."

"Have you named the baby yet?" asked the friend of the family.

"No," said the proud father. "My wife and I can't quite agree on a name. My choice is Andrew Jackson and hers is Thomas Jefferson."

"Why not call him William Jennings Bryan?"

LETTER OF MARQUISE DE FONTENOY

EMPRESS MARIE OF RUSSIA, the mother of the czar, is at the present moment an object of particular solicitude to the Russian and Danish police, owing to the information which they have received to the effect that anarchists or nihilists have the intention of taking advantage of her stay with her father in Denmark to make an attempt on her life. She is justly regarded as one of the principal obstacles to all liberal reforms in Russia, and as being the life and soul of the reactionary party at St. Petersburg, looking upon every departure from the era of despotism inaugurated by her husband, Alexander III., as an insult to his memory, to which she is passionately devoted.

Her mother, too, the late Queen Louise of Denmark, one of the cleverest women of her day, was of the same political turn of mind. It is known that her son-in-law, the late czar, frequently sought her advice, and that her recommendations were always of a most reactionary character, since she had an unconcealed horror for everything in the nature of popular and parliamentary forms of government, and an absolute belief in the doctrines as to the divine right of kings.

It is therefore not altogether surprising that the anarchist party in Russia and also abroad should turn their attentions to the widowed czarina, and that they should have selected her as their next victim. Indeed, it is far more easy to understand, under the circumstances, that an attempt on her life should be made by the anarchists than the assassination by the latter of the empress of Austria, who all her life long held aloof from politics, except when she intervened with her husband and with his Austrian ministers to induce him to grant to the kingdom of Hungary a parliamentary constitution and autonomy.

Copenhagen and especially the environs of the castle of Bernstorff, where the royal family are staying, are said to be literally swarming with Russian detectives, and even the services of Chief Inspector Melville of the English police, who is supposed to know more about anarchism and its various international leaders than any one else in the world, have been invoked, and he has arrived at Copenhagen.

Should at any moment the news of a tragedy in the shape of an anarchist attempt on the life of the dowager empress of Russia reach this country from Copenhagen, readers of these letters will know that it was not unexpected, but has been feared ever since her arrival in Denmark.

Prince Francis Joseph of Braganza, younger son of the legitimist claimant to the throne of Portugal, has been requested by the minister of war at Vienna to resign his commission in the Austrian army, and has, in accordance therewith, been forced to entirely sever his connection with the latter. This was practically inevitable after the horrible scrape in which he became involved in London. It is difficult to know what will become of him. Placed under "curatel," reprived of the only profession that is open to royal princes, with no means except the pittance granted by his relatives, the doors of every court and of every club closed in his face, and ostracised by society, practically nothing remains to him but to begin life afresh under another name, either in this country or in Australia, concealing the fact that he is a scion of one of the oldest reigning houses of Europe.

His elder brother, it may be remembered, has been forced to leave the Saxon army, in which he held a commission as an officer of cavalry, for having, in a drunken after dinner freak, purposely run his phaeton into the carriage occupied by the youngest son of the present king of Saxony, the Saxon prince, a delicate lad, being in consequence thereof thrown out of his carriage into the roadside ditch in such a fashion as to break his neck. Of course these misadventures to the two only sons of the legitimist pretender have considerably, if not totally, destroyed his at one time brilliant prospects to the throne of Portugal.

Prince Alois Liechtenstein, that stormy petrel of Austrian politics, and who is now at the head of the strongest political party in the Austrian section of the dual empire, is apparently once more high in favor at the vatican, in spite of his being married to a divorcée in the person of Mme. Haupt, née Von Klintosch, and who figures in Hans Mackart's most famous painting—namely: that of "Emperor Charles V. Entering Antwerp"—as one of the appallingly décolleté ladies who precede the monarch. For at Lentz the other day, when the bishop took upon himself to prohibit an anti-Semite meeting, the prince announced that the meeting was under the personal protection of the pope, who would send a special blessing for all who attended it. The result was that the meeting was crowded, in spite of the bishop's prohibition, and just at the right moment a telegram arrived from his holiness expressing sympathy with the object of the meeting and imparting a blessing to all present.

Prince Alois retired to the country for a couple of years after wedding the notorious lady now his wife, who still remains a remarkably beautiful woman, and who has managed to retain not only the infatuation of her husband but likewise to win the affection of his children by his first wife and of his friends. But he has now returned into the political arena, is more powerful and influential than ever, is the leader of the anti-Semite cum clerical party, and is as likely as not to become one of these days prime minister of Austria, especially if Archduke Francis Ferdinand succeeds to the throne.

Prince Alois is one of the most interesting figures in Austrian life, and is certainly one of the most striking individualities in the dominions of Francis Joseph. He talks English perfectly, and while attached to the Austrian embassy in London married Miss Fox, the adopted daughter of the late Lord and Lady Holland, and who is believed to have been of royal birth, a mystery having always existed in England with regard to her parentage, which was only revealed to Prince Alois and to the head of his house, the reigning prince of Liechtenstein, in order to induce the latter to give his consent to the alliance. Whatever her parentage was, it was of sufficient importance to cause the reigning prince of Liechtenstein to at once give his sanction to the match.

The princess died in the eighties, and the prince, after remaining a widower for several years, married the beautiful Mme. Haupt. He has behind him the entire anti-Semite element in Austrian politics, likewise the clergy and the religious orders, also all the small traders and the laboring classes, a large proportion of the feudal aristocracy, and last, but not least, the women of every rank and caste. Indeed, it is thanks to him in a large measure that the women have entered the political field in Austria, and their support is a factor not to be despised.

Baron Blidt, who has just been appointed Swedish envoy to the court of St. James, will be remembered in this country as having made his diplomatic début at Washington, and while here he married an American wife in the person of the daughter of Mrs. Bloomfield Moore of Philadelphia, and of Keely motor celebrity. He is a tall and good looking man, who represented his country at the peace congress of The Hague, where he distinguished himself by being the only delegate to have the courage to demand that the superstition of secrecy, the heritage of an antiquated diplomacy, should be abandoned, and that everything should be done to interest and inform the public as to the course of the discussions. He was for a number of years Swedish minister at Rome, likewise private secretary to King Oscar, while his father, a self-made man, was chief of the household and the particular crony of the late King Charles.

[New York Correspondence Cleveland Plain Dealer.]

The political managers in Brooklyn manage to enjoy a touch of comedy in the midst of several labors. Lieut. Gov. Woodruff, in making a list of those who should be solicited for campaign funds, put down the name of John L. Shea, chairman of the democratic campaign committee.

When Mr. Shea found the appeal in his mail his heart was touched. He immediately drew a check for $1,000,000 on the National Sand bank at Gowann, N. Y. When Mr. Woodruff received it on the following day he laughed heartily at the joke on himself and ordered the check framed and hung up in the republican headquarters.

And he'll put you, Tommy Atkins, to the bad.
He has his lucid moments, when you may approach him, and
There are moments when he'd rather be alone—

CHAPTER VII.

The Cheermaster.

The cheermaster is the fellow who causes the old grads to look at each other and say: "Were we ever like that?" In appearance the cheermaster resembles the front of a box at the horse show. As to hair, he must look like an anarchist deprived of beer.

The uninitiated may recognize the cheermaster at a glance. He is the chap that helps the captain peel off his sweater, pats him on the shoulder, and says: "For the love of dear old alma mater, do your best." This regardless of the fact that that captain has forgotten his two flunks and three conditions, and is thinking only how he can gouge the eyeball out of the man who jumped on his stomach the season before.

After he has encouraged the team the cheermaster takes his stand on the front rail of the grand stand, armed with a flag tied to a cane. He then gives an imitation of a plymouth rock rooster flapping its wings, and as his arms move up and down the Kankakee chorus in the seats in front of him yelps. This is repeated until the human beings move away from the freshmen.

Meantime the rival cheermaster has been conducting a rival asylum. The cheermaster is supposed to make his bug house orchestra drown out the other. This is difficult when the score is 0 to 38, and most of the members of the chorus are wondering whether the governor will stand for another touch to replace the $8 bet lost. The cheermaster who can keep the noise going under these circumstances deserves better than to hear the remarks that are made about him by noncollegians as they are leaving the grounds.

After a game the cheermaster is allowed to rub down the half back and carry the tackle's grip. The rest of the night he must steady himself against the bar and try, in a hoarse voice, to explain to twenty-nine howling dervishes of the opposition how his team really was the better but had tough luck.

THROUGH the STAGE DOOR

AT 9 o'clock last Friday evening a man came up to the book office of the Haymarket theater and rapped on the projecting shelf.

"That's pretty far from the stage," said the treasurer. "I'd advise you to sit down in front."

"Well, I would," said the stranger, with a grin, "but years ago I set out to prove that bald headed men do not prefer the front row."

"But you're not bald," said Mr. Rivers, observing the thick crop of black curls which ornamented the stranger's head.

"O, ain't I, though?" answered the stranger. "Take a look at this." And he removed his hat, and with it a luxurious wig, which left his polished cranium in dazzling relief. "Please give me that seat in the twentieth row. I've got a reputation to sustain."

Robert Edeson, better known in the profession as "Bob," is an athlete of no mean parts and great enthusiasm. Twice a day, or at least after each performance, he goes through a regular course of athletic exercises, including fencing, boxing, and a lot of other stunts which do not require apparatus. His opening in the "Soldiers of Fortune" is now a little more than a month old, but Mr. Edeson has already succeeded in interesting every member of his company in his athletic diversions. The whole group of actors and actresses has, in fact, been turned into a gymnastic class, with the star as instructor, and people who have gone behind the scenes while "Soldiers of Fortune" has been on have been surprised to see the line of men and women bowling, stretching, and bobbing up and down in unison. Mr. Edeson has even succeeded in getting the hearty interest of the three women in his company, and one of them, Miss Berg, has become so proficient with the boxing gloves that Mr. Edeson is the only man in the company who is competent to handle her.

One of the star's discoveries in the athletic line is that common towels make a good substitute for pulleys in the stretching exercises, which are so effective in developing wind and muscle. With one hand firmly clutching either end of a long towel, he has found that all sorts of strenuous stunts can be performed, and that is a part of the daily class, which includes every performer in the company.

Their experience so far leads Mr. Edeson to feel that all companies on the road would be better—mentally, physically, and financially—at the end of the season if they would spend more time at some form of athletic exercise and less at poker, solitaire, and reading.

Ada Brown, who plays the part of a bell boy in "The Prince of Pilsen," has had a perfectly dreadful time in learning how to whittle. In one scene of the first act of the opera she is required to cut a large number of shavings from a pine block with a sharp jackknife. She has had the part but a few weeks, taking the place of Zella Frank, who is ill, and for the first fortnight she persisted in whittling towards herself in the manner of womankind the world over. As a result she cut a large number of more or less painful gashes in her fingers, and on several occasions actually made the blood come. Once her knife slipped and cut a big hole in her gray uniform. Then the stage manager determined that something must be done. He honored Miss Brown with a number of individual rehearsals, in which he did his best to teach her to whittle away from herself. By dint of close attention and almost continuous practice she has now almost mastered the manly art of whittling in the proper way. But even now, when she forgets herself for a moment, the knife is almost certain to be reversed. On such occasion the members of the chorus, who have watched Miss Brown's heroic efforts to conquer her intuitions, notify her of her mistake by half hidden giggles, and she usually reverses herself before any serious harm has been done.

A good many years ago, before it was the fashion for every prominent pugilist to go on the stage, a shrewd manager organized an "Uncle Tom's Cabin" company, with the late Peter Jackson, the colored heavyweight, in the part of Uncle Tom. At that time Jackson was a prominent candidate for the heavyweight championship. He was the most generally popular of colored fighters and the manager who put him on the stage figured correctly that he would be a drawing card.

"O, AIN'T I, THOUGH?"

It happened on one occasoin that the Peter Jackson "Uncle Tom's Cabin" company was billed to appear in Lincoln, Neb., on the same evening that Bill Nye was booked for a lecture. The prize fighter packed the house, while the humorist found only a scattering of people when he walked out to begin his lecture. Nye cut his talk short and got over to the Uncle Tom show just in time to see Jackson do his boxing specialty, which had been stuck in about the middle of Mrs. Stowe's unfortunate drama.

The manager of the company knew Nye and escorted him to a box, from which he could get a splendid view of the stage. The big black, whose tremendous muscular development was always a wonder, stalked out and had no trouble at all in putting the heavy villain to sleep with an upper cut on the point of the jaw. After the last curtain the manager asked Nye how he liked Jackson in the legitimate.

"Well," said Nye, with a solemn face, "I

"Archy" Boyd, who is now playing Squire Bartlett in "Way Down East" at McVicker's, is one of the few actors who have for years made a specialty of what are professionally known as "Rube" parts. He has successively played the part of a farmer or countryman in "The County Fair," "The Old Homestead," "Shore Acres," and the "Village Postmaster," to say nothing of a number of rural dramas which have not proved successful. Once he started out as a star in "The Country Merchant," a play of his own, but this particular country merchant failed to "draw," and Mr. Boyd went back to his old line of parts. Off the stage Mr. Boyd would probably be taken for a resident of a small town. There is nothing about him to suggest either the greenhorn or the "sporty" actor. He is a solid, substantial looking man of 50 years, who dresses quietly and with little or no regard for the dictates of fashion.

In order to preserve the rural atmosphere in his leisure time Mr. Boyd has bought a little house and lot in St. Louis, where most of his vacations are spent with his family. After a vacation spent in bucolic St. Louis Mr. Boyd always returns to the stage with renewed inspiration for the playing of "Rube" parts. Before he went on the legitimate stage he was a variety actor, and even in that long ago time he made a specialty of farmer parts. But it would not be wise, in spite of the fact that he has spent so many years in overalls and cowhide boots, for any sharper to attempt to sell him a gold brick. H. M. H.

One on Senator Quay.

[From the Philadelphia Ledger.]

Senator Quay went to the Adirondacks a few weeks ago to prepare for the return home of his family. He rode up the mountain in a coach that was distressingly tardy and which was following after another that, if possible, was even slower. He chafed for a time at the pace, and then hit upon a plan he thought would serve to speed both teams. He leaned over to the driver and offered a dollar if the latter would get ahead of the team in front. The driver smilingly agreed and then raised his voice to say: "Hey, I say, Bill! Bill! Turn yer rig to the side of the road, will yer? There's a guy here says he'll give me a dollar if I pass ye, and I'll divide if you make room!"

VOTERS' LEAGUE PICKS NOMINEES.

CALLS 78 GOOD, 36 BAD.

The executive committee of the Legislative Voters' league issued its final report yesterday as to the merits of various candidates for the legislature. In all seventy-eight are commended and thirty-six condemned, while of the remaining candidates nothing in particular is said more than to give their names, political proclivities, and addresses.

Of the seventy-eight candidates for the senate and house who are well spoken of thirty-seven are republicans, twenty-four democrats, seven nominated by the public ownership party, two by the prohibitionists, one by the single taxers, and seven are independents. Of the thirty-six candidates condemned twenty-one are democrats, fourteen republicans, and one, "Maj." Sampson, an independent.

See a Marked Improvement.

"We congratulate the public on the fact that we are absolutely sure of a marked improvement in the character of the next Cook county delegation to the legislature. Of the thirty retiring members condemned by the league as unfit for reëlection eighteen were defeated at the primaries. Nearly all of the twelve that were renominated in spite of our protest are opposed by independents who are making vigorous and successful campaigns. If the voters will back up this movement as they have the movement to redeem the city council it will be but a short time before our legislature will be as free from boss control as our city council now is.

"The league is in no manner interested in promoting legislation or in the candidacy of any man for United States senator. Members of the general assembly who have to do with important legislation that affects us all should be of good reputation and ability. The party label is no guarantee of fitness in these respects. Both parties are responsible for such men as John Humphrey, Gus Nohe, Benjamin M. Mitchell, Albert Glade, Ross C. Hall, and James P. Cavanagh, with Allen and gas bill records; for Ald. John Powers, Stanley H. Kunz, and Joseph F. Haas, with unsavory council records. Most of these may be defeated by supporting the candidates pitted against them.

Pledge Submitted to Candidates.

"Important principles which should govern legislative action are embodied in a pledge submitted by the league to the candidates and adopted by many as their platform. It first sets out the oath of office required of the members of the general assembly by the constitution of the state of Illinois, as follows:

"I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will support the constitution of the United States and the constitution of the state of Illinois, and will faithfully discharge the duties of senator (or representative) according to the best of my ability; and that I have not, knowingly or intentionally, paid or contributed anything, or made any promise in the nature of a bribe, to directly or indirectly influence any vote at the election at which I was chosen to fill the said office; and have not accepted, nor will accept or receive, directly or indirectly, any money or other valuable thing from any corporation, company, or person for any vote or influence I may give or withhold on any bill, resolution, or appropriation, or for any other official act.

"I understand the meaning of this oath in its full, complete and best sense, and after taking my seat in the legislature I will keep it.

"I favor a thorough civil service law for the county and state government, modeled on the plan of the city civil service law.

"Further, I am in favor of the principle of home rule for all municipalities in Illinois.

"I pledge myself to do all in my power to bring about the consolidation of the tax levying and tax spending bodies in the city of Chicago.

Platform for Honest Men.

"The league had no intention in formulating these principles to hold any candidate to an expression as to details. We do think that it is time the oath of office prescribed by the constitution be understood by the people as well as by the candidates, and for that reason it is made a plank in the platform, so worded that every honest man can stand on it whether he is the most radical republican, democrat, municipal ownership, prohibition, single tax, or socialist candidate. The league indicates in its report those who stand for these principles.

"Voters who find their party candidates for the legislature unfit can 'scratch' their ballots by putting a cross in the circle at the head of the party ticket and a cross in the square in front of the candidate's name for whom they wish to vote. Or if they wish to vote for several candidates on different tickets they can put a cross in the square before the name of each candidate they desire to vote for and put no cross in the circle. The law gives you the right to cast three votes for representative. You may 'plump' all three for one man, or one for each of three, or one and a half for each of two. The law provides that if you vote for one person for representative it shall count three votes for him. We advise you to cast your three votes for the independent where he is opposed to a notoriously bad candidate who should be defeated."

GIVES $10,000 TO CHARITY.

Will of Siegfried H. Kirchberger Leaves $1,000 Each to Ten Institutions Devoted to Benevolent Purposes.

By the will of Siegfried H. Kirchberger, admitted to probate yesterday, ten charitable institutions were given $1,000 each. The will scheduled an estate of $150,000. Ten thousand dollars was divided among the following organizations:

United Hebrew Charities of Chicago.
Alexian Brothers' hospital.
Home for Aged Jews.
German Old People's Home.
National Jewish Hospital for Consumptives at Denver, Colo.
Chicago Home for Jewish Orphans.
Chicago Lying-in hospital.
Home for Destitute Crippled Children.
Jewish Training school.
Visiting Nurses' association.

For a memorial room in the Michael Reese hospital, to be conducted by the United Hebrew Charities, the room to be known as the S. H. Kirchberger room, the sum of $3,000 was provided.

The home at 4815 Drexel boulevard was left to the widow, Mrs. Celia S. Kirchberger, and a trust fund provided for the children.

CHILD PRISONER ON A TRAIN.

With both her parents on board the train, which left the Illinois Central depot last night for Memphis, little Angelina Castagnino was locked up in a stateroom, constantly under the watchful eye of Bailiff John Kjellander of Judge Chytraus' court, who, in accordance with an order of court, will deliver her to Judge Galaway of Memphis.

The mother is Mrs. Pearl Loos, wife of George Loos, a theatrical manager, and the divorced wife of Charles Castagnino, the father of the girl. A fierce legal battle has been going on between the father and mother for possession of the child for a year past, and Mrs. Loos has twice been arrested for kidnaping the girl, once in Chicago, and again in Memphis, where she was indicted.

Judge Chytraus decided he had no jurisdiction in the case. For that reason he sent the child back to Memphis, and the contending parties and the object of their dispute went south on the same train.

SAY INFLUENCE SAVED ARREST.

Charles Weinhous, a grocer at 503 West Fourteenth street, was attacked and severely beaten on Saturday night. Bricks were thrown and one of them struck him on the head. Soon after policemen captured Glassman. At this point the statements differ. Witnesses say that the policemen released Glassman because he had relatives at the station. Detectives Voss and Long say Weinhous could not identify Glassman as one of the assailants and they were compelled to release him.

Weinhous is reported to be in a serious condition. Hebrew residents of the vicinity said they would take the matter to Chief of Police O'Neill for investigation.

Students Debate Primary Elections.

The subject of the direct primary was discussed yesterday afternoon by Prof. Chandler's class in oral debates at the University of Chicago. The question for debate was, "Resolved, That party candidates for elective office within the state should be chosen by direct vote of the parties." This is the question that will be debated in the annual contest between the University of Michigan and the University of Chicago next January. Of such argument as was presented Mr. Chandler decided that the negative had the better.

WOMAN AUTHOR FOE TO CHURCH

"The most dangerous element which is having an influence on the church of England, and the tendencies of England are seen in this country, is that of which Mrs. Humphry Ward is the head."

This was the statement of Dr. David Vaughn Gwilym, rector of All Saints' Episcopal church of New York, made before the Methodists yesterday.

"Mrs. Ward and her following stand for a vague transparency in religious life which is utterly opposed to all of the tendencies of business, commercial, and all industrial life at present. Unless you stick close to the bible you will enter the broad road to skepticism and rationalism. The idea of this element sets pleasure above duty. With pleasure enthroned in the chair of duty the members of a church organization attend services only in good weather."

TWO-CENT BREAK IN CORN.

BULL INTERESTS GIVE DECEMBER NO SUPPORT.

Some Evidence of Armour Selling and Stop Loss Liquidation Becomes General — Receipts Are Large and Weather Continues Fine — Wheat Strong for December in Spite of Large Movement and Fair Increase in Visible Supply.

It was a day for the small holder of December corn to seize dwindling profits for fear they might grow smaller, a day when the big interests which have been dominating the market seemed to be out of it, except for giving it a quick push downward at the start. There was a break of 2c from the best opening price and from Saturday's close a gradual decline, with no reaction of moment, the last price about the bottom. The range was from 53½c to 51⅜c, the close 51⅜-½c. October lost 2¼c to 58c, May ⅝-¾c to 43½c.

There was December selling early, which might have been for Armour account, and at no time any appearance of Armour support. With the first half of the decline accomplished, the rest was easy on scattered and continued stop loss selling. The conditions seemed to favor easier prices. The west had had little of the rain indicated on Saturday, barring a few showers in Nebraska, the map clear on Sunday, and only possible showers predicted for Iowa and Nebraska. The weather was favorable for movement and the countryman seemed to be taking advantage of it. Receipts were 275 cars, or 25 over the estimate, with 52 contract, and 450 were estimated for today. The larger offerings on the sample table made a weak cash market, prices off 2c. The shipping demand followed the break, however, there being sales of 250,000 bu reported. The Kansas City advices were of a poorer cash demand and there was selling of futures here for the southwest.

There was selling of December early by Lester-Kneeland and Richardson, some by Cudahy brokers. At the close Wrenn was a fair buyer, Sterling a seller. There was not much action in the May, of which Comstock sold considerable, the demand as well as the selling scattered.

There were 225,000 bu loaded out. Local stocks in public houses decreased 20,000 bu to 804,000 bu, but in all positions there will be an increase. The visible supply statement called attention again to the steady depletion of stocks, a decrease of 310,000 bu to a total of only 2,231,000 bu, compared with 13,449,000 bu a year ago. The world's shipments were 2,887,000 bu, mostly from Argentina, compared with 1,864,000 bu last year. The amount on ocean passage increased 187,000 bu to 10,888,000 bu.

Wheat Longs Take Profits.

There was a great trade in wheat, with a large demand for December, against sales of May, the closing of spreads made last week, which sent the May to 2c premium. By the end of the session the premium was back to 1¾c. December sold from 72½c to 73⅛c and closed 73c split, a gain of ⅛-⅜c. May sold at 75⅝c, but reacted to 74⅛c and closed 74½-⅝c, a loss of ⅜c. There was a dip in prices early on heavy selling for St. Louis account on the large receipts there, 314,000 bu, to 65,000 bu a year ago. But a demand for December developed which sent prices up with a rush, May sharing in the advances. Reports of big cash business at Duluth, 900,000 bu, all told, Saturday and yesterday, and advices from Minneapolis of decreasing country sales, helped the advance along. But there was heavy local profit taking, most of the statistical announcements seemed bearish, and the corn weakness was a factor in forcing a decline. The visible supply increase of 1,543,000 bu was greater than expected, although stocks are still 12,000,000 bu under last year's. The northwest had 1,243 cars, to 1,031 last year, and total primary receipts were 1,759,400 bu, compared with 1,293,513 bu a year ago. Outside markets held firm or made slight losses, except St. Louis, which lost 1c. Clearances were 547,141 bu; seaboard export sales reported at 56,000 bu.

There was every appearance of heavy May selling and December buying by Armour. Cudahy brokers were busy the same way. Irwin-Green were large December buyers, Bartlett-Frazier, Carrington-Patten, and Wrenn took May. Requa, Trego, Dunn Champlin, and Lindman sold May. The St. Louis selling through Milmine-Bodman, Jackson, and Bennett, was continued on the upturn.

Foreign markets were firm, Liverpool ¼d higher, and Paris up ⅛-⅜c. World's shipments were 10,976,000 bu, compared with 8,736,000 bu a year ago. The contribution from Russia and the Danubian countries was smaller than the week before, but still heavy at 5,120,000 bu. There was, however, a decrease on passage of 216,000 bu to 34,160,000 bu. The English visible supply increased 2,385,000 bu, compared with an increase of 453,000 bu last year.

Only Narrow Trade in Oats.

Trade in oats did not attract much attention, and price ranges were generally narrow—not over ½c on October and ⅛@⅜c on December and May. Commission houses picked up May quite steadily, and for a while this and reports of bad crop conditions west held the market, but it gradually succumbed to the weakening influences prevailing in corn, and toward the close sought lower levels, losing ⅜c, while December held about steady. Cash prices were about 1c lower, with demand poor on either local or shipping account. Clearances were 19,000 bu. The visible, now 7,555,000 bu, decreased 581,000 bu during the week. Local public stocks, which are 2,160,000 bu, increased 79,000 bu. Last year the local supply was 1,870,000 bu. The Orange Judd Farmer says the present crop is large as to quantity, but the quality is poor. There were 247 cars on the inspection sheet, of which 14 were contract. Estimated today, 290 cars. Withdrawn from regular store, 27 cars and 40,800 bu; from private, 2 cars and 2,000 bu.

Hog Product Slow and Lower.

Early prices in the provision pit were made easy and lower by a decline of 10@15c at the yards, and with a downward start and no help later values did not recover. Everything in the list closed lower, pork, 2½@15c; lard, 10@12½c; and ribs, 5@17½c off. The large losses were on the deferred deliveries, of which commission houses were heavy sellers. About the only buying was done by professionals. Hog receipts, 35,000; estimated today, 18,000. Shipments of cured meats were 2,320,000 lbs, against 2,606,000 lbs a year ago; lard, 1,318,000 lbs, compared with 1,290,000 lbs last year.

The visible decreased 49,000 bu, and local stocks 17,000 bu. The total is now 1,040,000 bu, against 1,864,000 bu a year ago.

Barley, poor, unsound, dirty, feed sold at 34@37c; common, stained, not all sound, dirty, low grade malting, 40@43c; some dirty, impure down to 37c; sound, depending on weight, color, and how clean it was, at 46@53c; choice to fine ranged at 54@58c. The visible increased 258,000 bu; last year it increased 550,000 bu.

Timothy seed was easier, closing prices showing a decline of 7½@12½c. October was offered at $4.15, with $4.00 bid; January at $4.22½, with $4.15 bid. There were sellers of March at $4.27½. Country lots ranged from $2.00 to $3.50. Clover showed an easier tone, October quoted ly $11.25.

Rejected sold, $1.13@1.15. October, November, and December were all called $1.18. Sales of May were at $1.21 off to $1.20¼.

Trade Gossip on 'Change.

Corn traders were uncertain yesterday whether the big December holders had sold out to the shorts and scattered longs on the furious upturn of last week or not. The popular notion is that there is still a big Armour holding and that much higher prices will be seen some time in the life of the delivery, but there was every indication that the Armour interest was willing to see lower prices temporarily, if not to help them down. There was no such support on the reaction as there was on the dips last week. The bull explanation was that the price was being let down in order to get rid of overmuch company on the bull side by the scuttle process known as "shaking out the tailers," with as little selling as possible by the big holders themselves.

Corn Inspection.

The receiving and shipping end of the grain trade will meet the railroad and warehouse commissioners tomorrow afternoon in an attempt to "get together" on the subject of corn inspection. A change in the grades or inspection rules is not contemplated in any direction. The trade generally is satisfied with the rules, but not always with the inspectors' interpretation of them. W. N. Eckhardt doubtless voices the sentiment of a majority of the men on the cash grain side. He says: "There ought to be some way of insuring a uniform inspection on all the different grades. I think the inspection rules are all right, as a general proposition, barring the fact that they are a little too finehaired in the matter of dampness and a little dirt in summer time. The main difficulty is that at any season of the year every local inspector seems to have his own peculiar ideas on the subject of grade, and these ideas are not the same from day to day, nor do they harmonize with those of other inspectors. If type samples are to govern—and that is what they were made up for—it would seem a simple matter for the inspector to familiarize himself with them and do his work according to them. What we want and what we are trying to get is uniformity on the different grades."

The board of trade has won a partial victory in its fight to keep the bucket shops of Indiana from using its quotations, the report of the master in chancery filed in the United States court in Indianapolis last week being favorable to its contention of a property right in the quotations.

IN THE NEW YORK MARKETS.

Current and Closing Quotations on Dry Goods, Coffee, Poultry, Butter, and Metals.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—[Special.]—The dry goods market was quiet in all departments. Business through mail orders was of an average extent. The tone was firm and prices maintained. Some buyers endeavoring to purchase lower than last week on account of decline in raw cotton had no success. Print cloths firm, with bids in the market for regulars at 3c.

Range of Coffee Prices.

The coffee market, after opening steady at a decline of 5@10 points as compared with the closing quotations of Saturday, ruled more active, prices at one time showing some slight improvement, then turned easier, finally closing net 5@15 points lower. The total sales were 44,000 bags. The initial losses were due to the less favorable tone of the European cables, which reported a decline of ½f at Havre and of ¼@½ pfg in the German market. The spot market was quiet, with quotations on the basis of 5⅝c for Rio No. 7.

Lead and spelter quiet and unchanged. The English iron markets were lower, with Glasgow at 57s 3d and Middlesboro at 53c. Locally, iron was steady but quiet.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK MARKETS.

Movement of Cattle, Hogs, Sheep, and Horses, with the Range of Prices and Comparisons.

Cattle receipts here were larger than the early expectations, the run yesterday being estimated at 29,000. There was an unusually large proportion of common cattle in the receipts, while the good grades were scarce and in demand at steady prices. Range receipts were about 7,000 and many of them were of the common sort also. The hog run was like the cattle, larger than was expected. The estimated receipts were 35,000, and as a result the market took a down turn. Trade opened up on a basis 10c to 15c lower than Saturday's average, but business brightened up before the close and bidding was more active. Top hogs were $7.50.

The sheep run was estimated at 40,000. Native lambs were about 25c lower than the high time last week, with a top of $6.00. Sheep were about steady, with fat westerns 10c to 15c higher.

The Live Stock World's special English cablegram says: "With moderate supplies of states' cattle and a good general demand, trade was more active and prices at Liverpool and at London ½c higher than a week ago. Cargoes of American beeves averaged 14c at Liverpool.

With 35,000 hogs on sale here yesterday and 21,000 reported at outside markets, the trade was a litle at sea and slow to get into shape for action, asking and bidding prices being far apart at the start. Quotations:

PRODUCE MARKET HOLDS FIRM.

Scarcity in Sea Products—New York Grape Crop Light—No Change in Staples.

Monday was marked with more than usual dullness on South Water street. Both butter and eggs held firm, with no quotable changes in the price of either. Receipts of poultry were liberal, but not in excess of the demand, which is visibly increasing with the advent of cooler weather. New York grapes were firmer in tone and receipts much decreased as compared with last week. Heavy rains in the vineyard districts have cut the yield to about one-half of that of 1901. This same cause, excessive moisture, has created anxiety among dealers in turkeys, and reports from the heaviest producing sections indicate a shortage in supplies. All sea products are scarce, as compared with former seasons, and prices are correspondingly higher.

On the Canadian bean market J. B. Stringer & Co. of Chatham, Ont., write THE TRIBUNE: "We regret to report our bean crop as seriously damaged this year. The harvesting time has been under trying circumstances. For the last month frequent rains have fallen and near enough together to preclude the vines drying sufficiently to hull in, and the result now is the great bulk of the crop is spoiled for commercial purposes. Cull beans for stock purposes will no doubt be fairly abundant. Those farmers who usually are the most forward with the crop, and the largest growers, are the greatest losers this year. Possibly 15 per cent of the old crop is with farmers yet (the independent ones) and are strongly held, of course. The rise in the market from the low point of a month ago is nearly $1.00 per bu of 60 lbs. The few that dealers control are quoted at $2.00 per bu, bagged, f. o. b. Chatham."

IN FOREIGN MONEY MARKETS.

General Tendency of Cash, Bonds, and Other Securities at Paris and Berlin.

PARIS, Oct. 20.—Prices on the bourse today opened firm, but a decline in Spaniards soon had an adverse influence, realizations predominated, and the whole list weakened. Foreigners receded. Rentes closed above the worst prices of the day. Industrials, copper, and Rio Tintos were weak. Kaffirs were offered and closed with a slightly better tone.

BERLIN, Oct. 20.—Prices on the boerse today were hesitating, in view of the unexpected interpellation in the British parliament regarding the policy to be adopted towards the Transvaal and Orange River colonies. Internationals were irregular. Banks were well disposed. Iron shares were dull.

OFFERING OF BONDS AND STOCK OF The Denver, Northwestern & Pacific Railway Company.

Payments to be Made in Installments or at Once at Subscribers' Option.

DENVER, COLORADO, OCTOBER 21st, 1902.

The COLORADO-UTAH CONSTRUCTION COMPANY has contracted with THE DENVER, NORTHWESTERN AND PACIFIC RAILWAY COMPANY to build and equip approximately ... miles if its railroad between Denver, Colorado, and Salt Lake City, Utah. The contract provides for a substantial roadbed, steel rails eighty pounds per yard, and a modern standard passenger and freight rolling stock equipment. Payments under this contract are to be made in the bonds and stock of the Railway Company which are now offered for subscription.

Under the provisions of the construction contract there will be issued by the Railway Company to the Construction Company $40,000 and no more of the first mortgage 4 per cent. bonds of the Railway Company and $20,000 par value of its full-paid preferred stock and $20,000 par value of the full-paid common stock for each mile of main track of railroad as it is built, equipped, and turned over to the Railway Company for operation.

The authorized capital stock of the Railway Company is $20,000,000, of which $10,000,000 is 5 per cent. non-cumulative preferred stock and $10,000,000 is common stock.

The first mortgage of the Railway Company to THE MERCANTILE TRUST COMPANY, of New York, provides for an issue of not exceeding $22,500,000 of Fifty-Year Four Per Cent. Gold Bonds, of which issue the balance of $2,500,000, remaining after the payments to be made under the construction contract, will be held in reserve by the Railway Company.

The Colorado-Utah Construction Company will receive through The Mercantile Trust Company, New York City;
Providence Banking Co., Providence, R. I.;
Commercial Trust Company, Philadelphia, Pa., and
The International Trust Company, Denver, Colorado.

APPLICATIONS FOR SUBSCRIPTIONS IN $1,000, AND MULTIPLES OF $1,000, TO THE BONDS AND STOCK OF THE DENVER, NORTHWESTERN AND PACIFIC RAILWAY COMPANY ABOVE MENTIONED UNTIL NOV. 16, 1902, AFTER WHICH NO FURTHER APPLICATIONS WILL BE RECEIVED.

The Colorado-Utah Construction Company reserves the right to scale down or to reject any and all applications.

The terms of the subscription agreement, which is to be signed by the parties whose applications shall be accepted by the undersigned, provide that payment shall be called in as money is required by the Construction Company for the purpose of fulfilling its contract with the Railway Company, but that in no event shall the subscribers be required to pay more than 10 per cent. of their subscriptions in any one month; but that each subscriber shall have the option to pay the whole amount subscribed at once. Each subscriber will receive, as provided in the subscription agreement, for each $950 paid.

$1,000 4 per cent. 50-year First Mortgage Gold Bonds of the Railway Company, $250 par value of the Non-Cumulative Preferred Stock, and $250 par value of the Common Stock, of the Railway Company.

Until the bonds and stock of the Railway Company are engraved, executed, and received by the Construction Company under the terms of its contract with the Railway Company, the Construction Company will issue to the subscribers, as any payment is made upon their subscriptions, its receipts providing for the payment of interest from the date of such payment at the rate of 4 per cent. per annum until the bonds and stock subscribed for are ready for delivery to the subscribers, subject to adjustment to be made as to any interest then accrued upon such bonds.

The subscription agreement, a pamphlet containing a description and map of the route, copy of the mortgage securing the bonds, the construction contract, and copies of the Engineer's report and estimate, and an estimate of earnings and expenses, may be inspected at the agencies above enumerated or at the office of the undersigned, where forms of application may be obtained upon request in person or by mail.

Upon careful examination of the traffic conditions of the various railways in Colorado, Utah and Wyoming, having regard to the revenue derived from the transportation of ores, coal, lumber, cattle, general merchandise, and passengers, it is conservatively estimated that the Denver, Northwestern & Pacific Railway Company will secure, as soon as completed, gross earnings of at least $8,000, NET EARNINGS OF $3,200 PER MILE PER ANNUM, and that this revenue will annually increase. This estimate is irrespective of any through travel or freight. The bond issue (exclusive of $2,500,000 in par value thereof reserved, which it is expected will not be required to be issued), is limited to $40,000 per mile of completed and equipped railroad, upon which the ANNUAL INTEREST CHARGE WILL BE $1,600 OR ONLY ONE-HALF OF THE ESTIMATED NET EARNINGS.

The above offer is made upon the terms above stated, subject to advance or withdrawal without notice, and the undersigned recommends the bonds and stock of THE DENVER, NORTHWESTERN AND PACIFIC RAILWAY COMPANY as a safe and profitable investment.

THE COLORADO-UTAH CONSTRUCTION COMPANY,
By SYLVESTER T. SMITH, President.

TO THE PUBLIC:

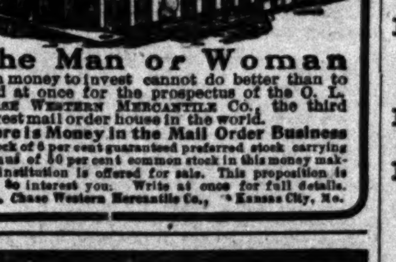

DENVER, COLORADO, OCTOBER 20, 1902.

The Denver, Northwestern and Pacific Railway Company is organized not to invade the territory of any other railroad company but to open to development and traffic a region in Northwestern Colorado and Eastern Utah, larger than the State of Pennsylvania, which is now without a single mile of railroad. This region is rich in deposits of gold, silver, lead, copper, and iron ores and of bituminous and anthracite coal. In it are large forests of timber and broad areas of grazing lands and of lands capable of irrigation and cultivation. There are large streams and an abundance of water on the western slope of the Rocky Mountains, in the valleys through which this railway will be operated. The local business developed and to be developed upon the new railway should render the enterprise a profitable one, independent of any through traffic. When the new road is completed the distance over it between Denver and Salt Lake City will be more than 100 miles shorter than by any other route, and the grades and alignment upon this railway will be more favorable than upon any other railway crossing the Continental Divide in Colorado.

THE DENVER, NORTHWESTERN AND PACIFIC RAILWAY COMPANY,

COMPANY MAY ISSUE BONDS FOR SOME OF ITS STOCK.

Directors Understood to Be Considering a Plan to Retire $2,000,000 of the Preferred Shares in This Way—Money Market Beginning to Show Signs of Decided Improvement—United States Realty People Reaching Out for Another Concern.

Boxboard was again under the influence of a selling pressure in the local market yesterday. At the opening the shares showed some tendency toward improvement, but with the first signs of an advance there came a further outpouring of stock, which gradually depressed the common to 9⅞ and the preferred to 57¼. The close for both issues was weak at the lowest figures of the day.

The selling was principally by one house, which in the last few days has unloaded 2,000 shares of stock. The buying, on the other hand, was scattered, some of it, however, appearing to be of a good character, being by houses which frequently trade for insiders.

While it is, of course, impossible to trace the source of the recent heavy selling of stock, the impression prevails in quarters that are in fairly close touch with the situation that much of it comes from former owners of plants that were taken over by the new company. There always is a certain amount of selling of this kind in the case of a newly formed corporation, no matter whether the prospects are good or bad, the holders evidently preferring to take such profits on their deal as are in sight rather than run the chances on the future.

There also is a possibility that the selling of the last few days may have been influenced to some extent by the report that the management of the Boxboard company is considering the question of following the example of the United States Steel company, although on a much smaller scale, and issuing bonds in exchange for a portion of its preferred stock. The plan is to retire about $2,000,000 of preferred stock in this way. If the scheme is adopted, short time 5 per cent bonds probably will be issued. This would convert a contingent 7 per cent liability into a fixed 5 per cent charge on the amount of bonds issued, but, on the other hand, there would be a saving of 2 per cent a year on that amount, and, furthermore, it would put the company in a position gradually to retire a portion of its capitalization from time to time. The proposition, it is understood, is to put out short time bonds with a view to retiring them in blocks of $500,000 as the earnings of the company permit.

So far as the earnings of the company are concerned, it is still maintained that they are at the rate of 7 per cent on the preferred stock and about 4 per cent on the common. So long as the earnings of the company justify the payment of 7 per cent a year on the preferred, the conversion of the contingent liability into a fixed charge would not endanger the position of the preferred shares. The plan, it is said, has not yet been definitely decided upon, but another meeting of the directors will be held in New York on Oct. 31, and it is possible some announcement may be made at that time. It is said that the company has now in the treasury or under control a sufficient amount of preferred stock to make the proposed exchange.

Profit Taking in Swift & Co.

The general market was quiet and for the most part steady. The strength shown by Swift & Co. on Saturday brought in some selling orders yesterday, and in the absence of organized support the market reacted to 162½. Traders generally seem pretty well convinced that negotiations for a merger of the packing concerns are practically completed, but there is still a good deal of uncertainty as to the time when the deal will be floated and the plants taken over.

American Can was held around 12 for the common and 50½ for the preferred. There was a moderate amount of business in Lake Street Elevated, but quotations for the stock showed no change of consequence.

Biscuit common and Diamond Match were without firm, the former at 46⅝ and the latter at 137½. Biscuit preferred was fractionally better at 104. A few odd lots of Quaker Oats preferred were traded in at 92½.

Local Banker on Money Outlook.

Although local bankers still hesitate to encourage the idea that rates for time money will show any material decline from their present level between now and the first of the year, they are free to admit that in a sense the market is in a much easier condition as a result of Secretary Shaw's bond purchases. Speaking of the situation the president of one of the large banks said yesterday:

"There is no doubt that there has been a great improvement in conditions in the last few days. This is reflected by the drop in rates for call money in New York. Borrowers of time money are still compelled to pay 6 per cent, and I do not think there will be any trouble in maintaining this rate for some weeks to come, owing to the continued good demand for funds for crop moving purposes in the west and for business generally. The time also is about at hand when the banks will have to arrange for fairly heavy dividend and interest disbursements, and some big syndicate payments also will soon have to be made. In consequence of this there is not likely to be any overabundance of money for awhile. With the exception of the demands for these purposes, however, the borrowing probably will be somewhat smaller than it has been.

"During the recent money scare a good many people borrowed more money than they really needed, the idea being that they did not care to take any chances on the market. The result was that a large portion of that demand upon the banks, which usually is spread over a period of three or four months, has been concentrated this year within the space of a few weeks. Most of these borrowings have been for general business purposes, and these interests have now been in large part supplied with funds sufficient to carry them over the first of the year. The check which has been given to speculation also will probably cut down the demands from stock houses."

United States Realty Deal.

The United States Realty and Construction company is seeking to invade the New England territory through the acquisition of the Norcross Bros. company. The business of Norcross Bros. was incorporated Jan. 1, 1902, under the laws of Massachusetts, with $1,500,000 paid in capital, to carry on a general contracting and building construction business. O. W. Norcross is president and A. J. Park treasurer, with headquarters in Worcester. It is said that the Norcross people have been asked to name a price at which they would be willing to sell their stock, and that the deal is likely to go through on the basis of about 75 per cent in cash and 25 per cent in United States Realty stock.

Offer of New Securities.

Official notice is given that the Colorado-Utah Construction company has contracted with the Denver, Northwestern and Pacific railway company to build and equip about 500 miles of the latter's railroad between Denver and Salt Lake City. Under the provisions of the contract the railway company will issue to the construction company $40,000 of its first mortgage 4 per cent bonds and $20,000 par value of its full paid preferred stock and an equal amount of its full paid common stock for each completely built and equipped mile of main track turned over to it.

The Colorado Construction company will receive, through the Mercantile Trust company of New York, the Providence Banking company of Providence, R. I., the Commercial Trust company of Philadelphia, and the International Trust company of Denver, applications for subscriptions in $1,000 and multiples thereof to the bonds and stock of the Denver, Northwestern and Pacific railway company until the close of business Nov. 16. The right is reserved to call for the payment of subscriptions to these securities as money is required by the construction company for the fulfillment of its contract with the railway company, but in no case will subscribers be required to pay more than 10 per cent of their subscriptions in one month. Subscribers are also given the option to pay the whole amount of their subscriptions at once. Each subscriber will receive for each $950 paid by him $1,000 in 4 per cent fifty year first mortgage gold bonds of the railway company and $250 par value of both the preferred and common stock. Until the engraved certificates of the railway company are delivered the construction company will issue temporary receipts, bearing interest at the rate of 4 per cent per annum.

Big Operator Cautioned.

Some of the local private wire houses yesterday had information from their New York correspondents to the effect that the banks there had seen fit to caution a prominent western operator against attempting to take advantage of the improvement in the money situation by running another big bull campaign. It is said that the hint was taken, much of the Wall street selling during the afternoon coming from the house through which the operator in question does most of his speculative business. The principal desire on the part of both the banking and leading stock market interests now is to hold speculation within comparatively narrow bounds for the next few weeks, or until there is a natural easing up of the money market.

Charles C. Wilson and Charles Ewing have been elected assistant cashiers of the Bankers' National bank. Mr. Wilson has been connected with the bank since its organization, and for some years has been its paying teller. Mr. Ewing has been chief clerk.

The Northern Pacific railway company has declared its regular quarterly dividend of 1½ per cent, payable on Nov. 1. Books close on Oct. 24 and reopen on Nov. 3.

The special meeting of the stockholders of the United States Steel corporation, which was called for yesterday, has been postponed to Nov. 20.

OBJECTS TO "NO TALK" RULES.

Inmate of County Jail Asserts Reformatory Work Is Retarded and Prisoner Becomes a Machine.

The "no talk" rules of the county jail are vigorously protested against by one of its inmates. In the edition of the Improvement Journal, published by the prisoners under the auspices of the John L. Whitman Moral Improvement association, the inmate declares that because of the "no talk" rules a prisoner leaves the jail as a mere machine, with no interest in his fellow men; that he is secretive, has lost the art of conversation, and lacks confidence. His powers of observation are said to be dwarfed, and in his dormant state the evil influences which first overcame him are claimed to be so strong that he has no power or desire to overcome them.

OPERATION ON COLIN FYFFE.

Assistant Corporation Counsel to Be Made Immune from Further Attacks of Appendicitis.

After suffering from three attacks of appendicitis which gave his friends the gravest anxiety, Assistant Corporation Counsel Colin C. H. Fyffe will today be operated on at the Passavant Memorial hospital, 192 Superior street. Mr. Fyffe yesterday was so far recovered from his last attack as to be able to walk a short distance. Dr. Coleman Buford will be in charge of the operation.

DULL DAY IN MARKET.

Strong Buying Movement in First Half Hour and Bear Attack in Final Thirty Minutes Vary Monotony of Session—Prices Are Carried Off Sharply Near the Close—Gates Interests Are Actively Engaged in Two Railway Issues.

[BY A SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—[Special.]—The stock market was altogether listless and dull for the greater part of the day, being enlivened only by a strong buying movement in the first half hour and by a concerted bear attack in the final thirty minutes of trading, which sent prices sharply off from the high for the day. All told, little more than 600,000 shares were traded in, and such movements as there were were without special significance. The bears made much ado about a rise in sterling exchange, while there were also many mysterious suggestions of unfavorable developments at the miners' convention that caused uneasiness on the part of nervous holders, who hastened to sell.

The market throughout the day went along slowly and carefully and prudently, and just as conservative interests in the street desired that it should. When the pools showed signs of oppressiveness, at that moment powerful banking interests seemed disposed and able to check the activity and strength. It probably was this restraining influence, more than aught else, that tempted the bears to sell so vigorously toward the close—mistaking conservatism for timidity, and sales made for "checking" purposes as if actually of long stock. Banking interests are not bearish. But for the moment they prefer that the market should take a breathing spell, so that it may the better be prepared for its ultimate rise.

The steel stocks were strong throughout the day, the independent issues no less than the trust stocks. There was some special buying in United States Steel preferred, which will sell its quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent tomorrow.

Amalgamated Copper and American Sugar were bought and bid up by houses with Boston connections.

Some 2,100 shares of International Power were dealt in at a net gain of 2 points. Today's sales, it is understood, were the result of manipulation and matched orders, the purpose apparently being to tempt the public, the "tip" being out that the stock is on for a big rise. A single 100 shares of Pacific Mail changed hands at 42⅛, an advance of 1⅛ points.

Gould brokers were active in the Gould stocks, notably Missouri Pacific and Manhattan, which were strong throughout the day.

The Gates interests started out in aggressive fashion to boom Baltimore and Ohio, but on the advance they met with an unexpectedly liberal supply of stock, and had to give up the attempt, although being able to hold the issue steady around the opening price, which was a full point up.

Louisville and Nashville, on relatively few transactions, sold up over a point to the highest price recorded for it in some weeks, only to lose all the gain.

When the Gates people were met with an outpouring of long stock in Baltimore and Ohio they turned their attention to Norfolk and Western, which they advanced several points, only later to see nearly all of the gain lost.

According to statements emanating from Gates sources, the dividend on the stock is to be increased to 4 per cent. Interests connected with the company admit that the dividend is to be increased, but say it will be only 3 per cent.

London's operations in this market today aggregated 25,000 shares—all sales. This selling was understood to represent nothing more important than profit taking, London having bought fairly extensively in the recent break, and having therefore substantial profits at present prices. The heaviest selling was in Atchison, Baltimore and Ohio, and the Pacific stocks.

IN NEW YORK MONEY MARKET.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Irregularity marked the course of today's stock market. The controlling influences were the uncertainty as to the outcome of the coal miners' convention, the rise in foreign exchange, and the threatened action of the southern courts against the latest railroad combination. The bulk of the day's business, which was comparatively small, came from out of town.

The bond market was quiet and irregular today in sympathy with the uneven stock speculation. Total sales, par value, $2,685,000.

Close: Money on call, steady, 4@6 per cent; last loan at 4. Prime mercantile paper, 6 per cent; sterling exchange strong at 486.125 for demand and at 483.125 for sixty day bills; posted rates, 484 and 487; commercial bills, 482.25@482.75.

FROM THE INSURANCE FIELD.

The annual meeting of the Illinois Association of Local Fire Insurance Agents was held yesterday afternoon at the rooms of the Chicago Underwriters' association. The principal function of the organization is to align the local agents of the state on matters of legislation and through them to influence the public.

There was considerable discussion of the urgent need for a surplus line bill, by which, for the payment of a fee to the state and under proper supervision, agents may be licensed to place business which cannot be cared for in the regular companies in unadmitted companies. There is a great demand for some such relief as this from the business men, but under the existing laws it is not possible for an agent to represent a company which is not licensed by the state. The matter was referred to the legislative committee. The following officers were elected:

President—Charles P. Whitney, Chicago.
Secretary—Grant C. Stebbins, Marseilles.
Treasurer—J. J. Van Every, Chicago.
Delegates and alternates to national convention at Louisville—Jacob Wachenheimer, Peoria; S. D. Sexton, East St. Louis; W. H. Hughes, Mount Carmel; T. L. Fekete, East St. Louis; and J. D. Martin, F. P. Sheldon, E. B. Case, Willis Harrick, C. P. Whitney, B. F. Rogers, Holger de Roode, M. J. Naghten, and Charles E. Effeld, all of Chicago.

It is now understood that there will be three reports from the committee on salaried solicitors to the special meeting of the Chicago Underwriters' association tomorrow, the members having been able to get no nearer a solution. The situation is complicated by the fact that several local agencies have more than one man who is a class 1 member of the association, and under the rules these additional agents can have six solicitors, thus increasing the allotment made to the agency itself.

State Auditor Merriam of Iowa has ruled that a person who accepts insurance from a company not authorized to do business in the state can have no standing in the courts of Iowa in case of loss. This was done in the suit of Hartman & Daniels of Clinton against the Northwestern Fire and the Great Britain of Chicago.

NEWS OF THE RAILWAYS.

TRAFFIC OFFICIALS COMPLAIN OF GRAIN BUSINESS.

Find Crops Do Not Move as Anticipated, Shipments Falling Far Below Those of Previous Years—Grain Decrease Amounts to 409,000 Bushels and Flour Shortage Was 36,343 Barrels Over Last Year — Strike May Aid Movement.

Traffic officials of the Chicago eastbound roads are much discouraged over the continued stagnation in grain and flour business. They expected a boom by the middle of September, about which time generally the new crops begin to go forward, but so far the anticipated increase in business has failed to materialize. Last week's grain shipments from Chicago to the east were the smallest in over a year, being only 771,000 bushels, a decrease of 409,000 bushels from the preceding week and of 684,000 bushels from last year. Shipments of flour were 55,640 barrels, a loss of 222 barrels for the week, and 36,343 barrels from last year. Provision shipments were 30,629 tons, an increase of 3,995 tons for the week and a decrease of 387 tons from last year.

Strike's End Will Help Business.

It is the opinion of traffic officials that a resumption of mining in the anthracite district will throw more cars into the west and help general business. The miscellaneous traffic of the eastbound lines is now 10 per cent less than it was at this time last year.

Receipts at Chicago last week increased 46 per cent and amounted to 4,994,000 bushels, but were 122,000 bushels less than last year and a little over 30 per cent less than for the four preceding years. The increase was largely in corn, of which 1,565,000 bushels were delivered by the various roads. There was also a good gain in wheat and oats.

Car Shortage Threatened.

There is no shortage in cars as yet, but ten days more of an increase like last week's would find most of the western and northwestern roads largely behind in their orders for cars, on account of the heavy general traffic. It is asserted by prominent traffic officials that the roads can stand a falling off of traffic from last year and still maintain their earnings, as no secret rebates are being paid.

Threatens Rate Fight.

A serious misunderstanding between the Missouri, Kansas and Texas and the Southern Pacific railroads threatens demoralization in southwestern passenger rates. James Barker, general passenger agent of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas, charges the Southern Pacific with inaugurating the plan of giving without charge to those homeseekers who purchase tickets over its lines via certain gateways the privilege of a free side trip to any and all points on its line, which covers a large portion of the state of Texas. In order to prevent further diversion of business from his road Mr. Barker gave notice yesterday that the Missouri, Kansas and Texas will sell round trip tickets Oct. 21 and 28 at a rate of $15 from St. Louis to all points south of but not including Taylor, Tex. The return limit of these tickets will be thirty days from date of sale.

Terminal Not to Elevate Tracks.

President J. N. Faithorn of the Chicago Terminal Transfer railroad returned yesterday from New York, where he attended the annual meeting of the stockholders of his company last Saturday. All the old officers, he says, were unanimously reëlected. He also states that no action was taken by the directors regarding the elevation of the tracks of what is known as the Mayfair extension.

At the meeting of the Chicago council last week the corporation counsel rendered an opinion that the franchise given the Terminal company for that branch called for the elevation of tracks, and that if the company refused to elevate the city had the right to tear up the tracks. This branch runs from Franklin Park to Mayfair, and Mr. Faithorn says no trains, either freight or passenger, are run over it.

Gross earnings of the Chicago Great Western railway for the second week of October, 1902, show an increase of $3,219 over the corresponding week of last year.

Western roads have agreed to make a rate of one fare plus $2 for the round trip for the annual convention of the National Live Stock association, to be held at Kansas City, Jan. 13 to 16, 1903.

Two Saloon Licenses Revoked.

Mayor Harrison yesterday revoked the saloon licenses of Joseph Block, 20 Twenty-sixth street, and Sam Nelson, 140 State street, giving the cause in each case. Block had been held to the Criminal court on the charge of receiving stolen property. Nelson is charged by the police with having taken part in an assault on Mark A. Mailey.

J. J. HILL DEFENDS RAILWAY MERGER

President of the Great Northern Tells Why Three Roads Were Combined.

AS AN AID TO COMMERCE.

Union of Interests Necessary to Develop Trade and Reduce Rates.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 20.—[Special.]—The suit of the United States against the Northern Securities company began today before Special Examiner F. G. Ingersoll, and James J. Hill, president of the Great Northern railroad, was the first witness.

President Hill took up the entire day in giving his testimony. His evidence was divided into two parts. In the forenoon he explained many of the details of practical railway operation, showing why it had been possible to reduce freight rates to the Pacific coast and thus build up a great trade with the orient.

In the afternoon President Hill explained at length why the Northern Securities company was organized and how. He explained that each stockholder acted for himself and sold his stock to the Securities company or kept it, as he felt inclined. He insisted that as a result of the merger the Great Northern was now carrying freight at rates lower than those on any of the southern transcontinental lines.

Much of President Hill's testimony went over the same ground covered in the answers filed by his company to the charges made by the federal government and published a few weeks ago.

At the hearing before Special Examiner Ingersoll today there were present Solicitor General J. K. Richards and W. A. Day, attorney for the interstate commerce commission. J. M. Beck represented the government, while former Attorney General J. W. Griggs, David Wilcox of New York, George B. Young, C. W. Bunn, and M. D. Grover of St. Paul appeared for the defense.

President Hill as a Witness.

President Hill went on the witness stand at 11 o'clock, and at once took up his explanation of the system under which he had been operating his railroad lines to the Pacific coast.

He told of the traffic that could be depended on along the line of road, especially the lumber from the Pacific coast, the rate on which had previously been prohibitory, but was reduced from 90 cents to 40 cents a hundred after his line was completed. This lumber is now carried throughout the entire country north and west of the Ohio. This lumber eastbound saved the expense of returning empty cars, and consequently reduced the rate on westbound traffic. This lumber trade grew rapidly, but the new Alaska trade and that to Honolulu balanced the car service between east and west bound traffic.

Markets for westbound traffic were sought everywhere—in Japan and China, and wherever cargoes were to be had, or where there was any likelihood of any business.

President Hill told in detail of the growth of trade for Pacific coast lumber and of the development of the oriental trade. It soon became evident that greater permanence in rates to the orient was necessary, and some control of the rate was necessary in order to make a profit possible.

Part the Burlington Plays.

As compared with the other roads the Burlington reaches Denver, the south, and southwest, and nearly all points west of Chicago, touching all Illinois manufacturing centers. It connects with all roads reaching the cotton fields, and the northern lines, having the lumber, were the only ones having a return shipment for cars carrying cotton to the west en route to the orient.

Recent developments have taken the coal shipments north from St. Louis to northern Minnesota, and the return load will be iron ore from the Minnesota ranges. The direct connection with the Burlington makes possible a lower and more certain rate on this class of business. They must take all business possible to the coast or else it would be necessary to raise the rate on the east bound lumber. A trunk line to Chicago, St. Louis, and other centers makes it possible to control the return shipments and keep down the rates.

The Burlington connection gives greater uniformity in car service and also makes possible the handling of unbroken trainloads.

Reasons for the Merger.

At the afternoon session the questions bore on the so-called merging of interests. Mr. Hill said that the purpose, after the purchase of the Burlington company and of the large blocks of Northern Pacific stock, in the formation of the Northern Securities company was to put the stock "where it could not again be raided, as it had been. This was preferably not a railroad company." Railroad charters almost always do not provide for buying other companies and the organization of a separate holding company would be free from the possibility of "raids" intended to destroy or hamper the company. Any other sort of plan for controlling great oriental traffic would result in loss and possibly wreck the whole enterprise.

President Hill reiterated that the whole intent and purpose was to protect the companies interested, and "there was absolutely no intent or thought of restricting trade. On the contrary, it was looked on as the most effective way of developing the great oriental trade." He insisted that the Great Northern railway was now carrying business lower than any of the southern lines, adding that the same actual rates in effect on the Atchison and Union Pacific if applied to the present business on the Great Northern would raise the earnings fully five and a half millions.

Competition Not Destroyed.

There was, so far as he knew, never any intention or purpose of destroying competition between the Northern Pacific and Great Northern railway companies by the organization of the Northern Securities company. He believed the competition was as free and full as at any time in twenty years.

"Neither the Great Northern company nor its officers, as such," said Mr. Hill, "had anything to do with the organization of the Northern Securities company. It was purely a matter for the shareholders, and not to exceed 1,100 out of 1,800, more or less, took part in the organization. There was no action by the Northern Pacific company, as such, looking to the sale of stock to the Northern Securities company. That was entirely a matter for the shareholders as individuals.

Each sale of stock covered only the sale of the particular stock offered; each stockholder acted entirely for himself. There was no solicitation or pressure to induce shareholders to sell to the Northern Securities company, and he had not expected that so large a number of shareholders would transfer their shares, and he believed about 1,000 such shareholders had so disposed of their stock.

The circular of the Northern Securities company to the Great Northern shareholders was again put in evidence, and Mr. Hill said that he received numerous requests for advice, that he personally issued a circular letter answering all these, telling them it was entirely an individual affair and for each to decide for himself.

This practically closed Mr. Hill's testimony as a witness for the defendant, and Solicitor General Richards began a cross examination, first taking up these letters. Mr. Hill admitted that all of the Great Northern stock had not been placed in the Northern Securities company because it had not been thought necessary to do so. The price of the remaining stock was so high they had little fear of any raid. Nearly half of the Great Northern stock came in, and then a lawsuit was started, and after that he notified everybody sending in stock of that fact, that all might act with full information. These latter purchases were many of them not completed after that time.

The hearing was then adjourned until 10 o'clock tomorrow.

DANGER SEEN IN MERGER.

Formal Plea Is Made to National Body to Interfere with "Community of Interests" Plan of Southern Lines—Present Arrangement Is Denounced as a Conspiracy to Worst the Public by Dividing Business and Fixing Rates for Traffic.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 20.—The interstate commerce commission today made public the complaint of the railroad commission of Kentucky against the Atlantic Coast Line railroad company, the Louisville and Nashville railroad, the Southern Railway, the Southern Railway in Kentucky, the Southern Railway in Indiana, the Cincinnati, New Orleans and Texas Pacific railway company, the Cincinnati Southern railroad company, and the Chicago, Indianapolis and Louisville railroad company, involving allegations of unlawful combination.

The complaint asks for an investigation of these roads by the commission, an examination of the contracts, agreements, etc., the production of books, papers, tariffs, contracts, the issuance of subpoenas for witnesses, an inquiry into the management of the business of these roads, an inquiry as to whether their contracts, etc., constitute an unlawful combination and a conspiracy to pool the freights of the different and competing roads and a device to enable the roads to divide the net proceeds of the earnings to equalize the earnings of each of them, and the general results of the arrangements made on the commerce of the section involved.

The complaint says these roads cover all important railroad points and all railroad lines in a territory aggregating 25,000 miles, with an operating income of over $30,000,000 annually, and charges that J. P. Morgan & Co. have secured practical control and management of the affairs of all these lines.

"The transportation facilities of this territory," the complaint charges, "practically will become one system, operated by a few individuals, and will control the commerce of Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, Florida, North Carolina, South Carolina, Virginia, and Maryland."

The capitalization of the defendant roads is stated to amount to at least $1,000,000,000.

"One man or firm with a few associates, controlling the Southern Railway," the complaint alleges, "has now secured control of the stock of the Louisville and Nashville railroad, and later of the stock of the Atlantic Coast Line company, and the Atlantic Coast Line railway company, and has secured an entrance into St. Louis and Chicago through lines by which it would be able to force and compel other lines out of St. Louis and Chicago into that territory to make rates such as it should dictate, and to dictate schedules, terms, and rates of every kind to all smaller roads.

"The complaint alleges that this purchase, consolidation, and ownership means the placing of the commerce of that entire section under the control and operation of a few men, dominated by the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co."

NEW BLOCK FOR BOSTON STORE.

ASKS A STRAIGHT LEASE.

If Fixed Rents for City Lots Is Allowed Plans Will Be Carried Out.

Application to the city council last night by Charles Netcher, owner of the Boston store, for a straight ninety-nine year lease on the property at 77-79 Madison street, 50x160 feet, owned by the city, is preliminary to the erection of a fine mercantile building on this site, on the adjoining property at 81-87 Madison street, 80x160 feet, owned by the school fund, and probably at 119 Dearborn street, 24x80 feet, purchased by Mr. Netcher in 1898 for $120,000.

Mr. Netcher already owns a straight ninety-nine year leasehold on the school fund property, having purchased the leasehold interest and the present building on the site in 1895 from Hannah & Hogg for $300,000. At that time the annual ground rent of $14,400 was raised to $24,000, and in the same year Mr. Netcher obtained the straight lease, expiring in 1895, at $25,200 a year.

Front Foot Value of the Property.

Inasmuch as the school fund leases are figured on a 6 per cent basis, this ground rent would indicate a value of $5,250 a front foot, but the city wants for its property at 77-79 an annual ground rent of $24,000, which indicates a value of $8,000 a front foot. This is under an appraisal made in 1892, when the annual ground rent was but $10,600. The present leasehold expires in 1938, and is subject to a revaluation every five years. Mr. Netcher objected to the increase, though he pays the higher figure under protest, with the stipulation that if the courts, which have the matter now up for adjudication, fix a lower rate, the difference is to be rebated.

Mr. Netcher's proposition to the city is for a lease at least co-extensive with that on the school fund property, which expires in 1985, and which provides for a building to be completed by May 29, 1907, at a cost of at least $400,000. On the city lot Mr. Netcher is willing to erect a building to cost not less than $200,000 if a fair ground rent can be agreed upon.

Cost of Proposed Buildings.

The cost of the buildings to be erected on the 130 feet Madison street front is, of course, the minimum; the actual cost will probably run up to $1,000,000. Tentative plans have been made some time ago by Maj. W. L. B. Jenney, who designed the Fair, and these plans include also the rebuilding of the structure at 119 Dearborn street so as to afford a third entrance to the Boston store. The Dearborn street lot adjoins the school fund property in the rear, on Calhoun place, the eighteen foot alley north of the Boston store.

The Champlain building at the northwest corner of State and Madison streets, 91½x106 feet, was secured by Mr. Netcher last year, so that he now controls frontages of 158 feet on State and 236 feet on Madison street, in fact, the entire south half of the block, except the Henning & Speed property, 76¼x80 feet, at 121-127 Dearborn street and the Manierre holding, 63x80 feet, at the northeast corner of Dearborn and Madison streets. For the latter site a permit for a sixteen story structure has already been obtained by G. and W. R. Manierre.

Part of Grant Tract Sold.

Part of the Grant locomotive works tract in Cicero, being twenty-eight acres at the northwest corner of Sixteenth street and Fifty-second avenue, with buildings, has been sold by Robert McAllister Lloyd of New York and Walter H. Johnson of Philadelphia, acting for the Siemens-Halske company of Berlin, to the National Malleable Castings company for $150,000. The entire tract of 651 acres, including the whole of section 21 in Cicero, was purchased in 1895, by the receivers of the Grant locomotive works getting $500,000 common and $200,000 preferred stock of the Siemens-Halske company.

PIANO

You can get a fine instrument, on easy terms of payment, at almost a nominal price at the Lyon & Healy New Building and Alteration Sale. In fact, you may now take your choice of any piano of this special stock at a price unheard of hitherto in the annals of piano selling in Chicago. But you must come early, as the stock is going fast. Wabash-av. and Adams-st. Come prepared to buy. Easy terms of payment may be arranged.

Just now you may be more interested in fixing up the inside of the house than painting the outside of it.

Do you know there's a Devoe good-paint-thing for nearly every purpose you can think of—enamels for fixing up furniture or bric-a-brac; stains for the same purpose; floor paints that last and look pleasant after being walked on, etc.

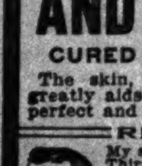

Speaking of floors: We make a hard wax polish for waxed floors that beats anything you ever tried; goes farther, lasts longer, shines more. We have a floor varnish—Marble Floor Finish—made for the kind of wear a floor varnish must stand.
